Hawaii Votes 2 Democrats To Congress

One Republican Is Elected; Quinn Wins In Governor Race

Republican William F. Quinn won a spectacularly close contest for the 50th state's governorship, and his running mate easily won the lieutenant governorship.

Two of Hawaii's three-member congressional delegation are of Asian ancestry — one a Democrat of Japanese descent and the other a Republican of Chinese parentage.

Unofficial but virtually complete returns from Hawaii's 240 precincts gave Quinn 82,514 to 80,083 for Democrat John A. Burns.

Democrat Daniel K. Inouye swamped Republican Charles K. Silva 108,343 to 49,304 in the race for the lone House seat.

Quinn's GOP running mate, Hawaii-born James K. Kealoha, easily defeated Japanese - American Mitsuyuki Kido 85,593 to 73,755 for the lieutenant governorship.

Fong, son of a poor Chinese farmer, and Inouye, Japanese-American World War II hero, will be the first legislator of Chinese and Japanese ancestry to serve in Congress.

Fong was the only Republican supported by Harry Bridge's International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. The rest of the union's endorsement went to Democrats. The union claims 24,000 sugar, pineapple, and dock workers in Hawaii.

By winning three of the five top offices in the 50th state's first election Tuesday, Republicans made a surprise showing.

Democrats had been favored on the strength of a strong primary election showing a month ago and their successive victories in every Hawaii territorial election since 1954.

Inouye, much decorated war veteran who lost his right arm in combat, had the easiest contest. His opponent, Silva, is a dentist currently serving as Hawaii's director of public institutions.

In defeating Tsukiyama, 62, Long beat the elder statesman of the islands' politicians of Japanese ancestry. Fashi, 38, settled in the islands after World War II and was a senator in the last territorial Legislature as was Inouye.

Quinn, 40, last appointed governor and first elected one, won in a contest that saw the lead change four times.

The election brought out a record vote estimated at 170,000 or 93 per cent of the 183,000 registered voters.

Hawaii's two senators will serve terms of either two, four, or six years, to be determined by the Senate. They probably will draw lots, as Alaska's first two senators did.

Senator Asks Ike To Invite Top Red Here

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was urged by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D - Minn.), today to open the way for informal talks here with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as a substitute for a summit meeting.

But Sen. Styles Bridges (R - N.Y.), said he would oppose any visit of Khrushchev to this country, even if Vice President Richard M. Nixon should recommend it. Nixon indicated after his talks with the Soviet premier in Moscow he was considering such a recommendation.

The two senators' conflicting viewpoints were given in separate interviews. Others also indicated a variety of opinions about the wisdom of extending an invitation for the Soviet head of state to come to this country.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, talked eight hours with Khrushchev in Moscow last December. He said he believes more progress might be made toward stabilizing world peace in informal talks between Eisenhower and Khrushchev than would be gained in a summit conference.

Public Airing Waited Here On Road Plans

Highway Officials Will Discuss Route Of Freeway Bypass

A public hearing on the proposed route of the four-lane freeway linking the city limits in California Hollow and the Chester bridge, bypassing the downtown business section, will be held Thursday afternoon by the State Highway Department.

The hearing will get under way at 1:30 in the Municipal Court room on the third floor of City Hall.

William McKenna, engineer for Division 11 of the State Highway Department, is expected to preside while officials from the central office in Columbus and the division office in New Philadelphia also will attend along with city officials, representatives of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., of Rochester, engineers, and affected residents.

Generally, public hearings open with a brief description of the work and then the reading of the legal description of the right-of-way after which the hearing is opened to questions or protests from affected residents.

Public hearings are required by law before the plans can be made final and the project entered on the journal of the State Highway Department director.

The legal description of the proposed route, published the last two weeks in the Review, shows the freeway will start at the north city limits, cross W. 9th St. near Chestnut St., cross W. 8th St. and the Pennsylvania Railroad's Horn Switch then curve left under the north approach of the Newell bridge and continue to a point on Monroe St., just north of the present intersection of W. 3rd and Monroe Sts.

The freeway will continue southeast across Jefferson St. south of the present Jefferson and W. 3rd St. intersection. It also will cross W. 2nd St., Jackson St., Market St., Washington St. south of the intersection with E. 3rd St. and

6 More Candidates File For General Election

Six more aspirants for township, village and school board posts at the Nov. 3 general election entered today with the County Election Board.

The new candidates include Arthur McDevitt, trustee of St. Clair Township; Roland G. Gorby, trustee of Middleton Township; Regis Scharf, clerk of Madison Township; Earl A. Frost, constable of Wellsville Township; John Dangelo for the Franklin Local Board of Education, and George H. Wilson for Hanoverton village council.

The filing deadline for the nonpartisan offices is next Wednesday at 4 p. m., Frank R. O'Hanlon, board clerk, emphasized.

Driver Injured As Truck Hits Embankment

Lull In Mishaps For Past Week Ends In Rash Of Accidents

Columbiana County's traffic picture—quiet for the past week—broke out in a rash of accidents Tuesday and today, injuring at least one man and damaging several vehicles, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

William Brown, 64, of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, was treated at City Hospital Tuesday afternoon after his pickup truck apparently skidded on gravel along Route 39 about 2 miles west of Wellsville and hit an embankment.

The mishap was timed at 5:30 p. m. by officers who still are investigating.

On Route 154 near Elkton at 7:20 a. m. today a truck driven by Tito Principessa, 74, of Ellwood City, skidded into an oncoming auto operated by Ralph McQuiston, 39, of Lisbon R. D. 3.

The patrol said Principessa saw the McQuiston auto approaching over a narrow bridge, and attempted to slow down, but the truck skidded sideways into the auto. The trucker was cited for driving left of center.

Richard Moore, 19, of Elkton escaped injury when he fell asleep at the wheel of his car on Route 164 just north of Lisbon about 1 a. m., and the auto veered into a guardrail. His car received minor damage, and he was charged with reckless operation.

Forry forfeited a $16 bond this morning in Municipal Court when he failed to appear for a hearing.

The patrol was investigating a mishap on Route 39 in the Salineville area this morning, but officers had no further information.

54 Suspects Are Held In Lebanon Slaying

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Fifty-four suspects were held today in the slaying of a top aide of ex-President Camille Chamoun as police pressed a house-to-house search for the killers in the Lebanese Mountains.

Haim Moghabghab, 48, a guerrilla fighter for Chamoun in last summer's civil war, was killed Tuesday while with a group of followers.

Points To Three Nations

Nixon Demands Reasons Why Reds Retain Troops

Ike Points To Nixon's Soviet Visit

Says It's Evidence Of Friendly Feeling Of Reds Toward U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the reception given Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the Soviet Union is clear evidence of a friendly feeling by the Russian people for Americans.

Eisenhower also told a news conference that Nixon has every right to discuss with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a possible visit by the Premier to this country but has no authority to offer an outright invitation.

By indirection, the President thus seemed to confirm reports that the vice president had broached the subject of an American visit to the Soviet leader.

Eisenhower said Nixon had acquitted himself splendidly and in a manner fitting his high office during his Soviet travels and his encounters with Khrushchev.

Asked whether the visit has served to ease cold war tensions, the President said that only time can tell.

Eisenhower also touched on these other topics in the news conference:

STEEL—He said that the U.S. Steel Corp.'s profits, as reported Tuesday night, have no bearing on whether the government should intervene in behalf of a wage increase for the 500,000 striking steelworkers.

The company's earnings in the first half of the year were at record heights. The union contends the earnings statement shows wages can be increased.

Eisenhower said the government cannot talk about steel wages or profits without appearing to favor

Car Insurance Up In Hancock

Rates Increased By 3-6% For Liability

Private car collision insurance premiums for $50 deductible policies were increased 3 to 6 per cent in the Hancock-Brooke County area under revised liability rates for passenger autos effective today throughout West Virginia.

The new rates mean a statewide average increase of 4.3 per cent in the base levels, although there will be some decreases in Wheeling and Huntington areas and in certain rural districts.

The liability insurance rate revisions and those for automobile material damage coverage were announced in New York by two rating organizations on behalf of members and subscriber companies.

Full coverage comprehensive premiums for popular priced new private cars will remain unchanged in Brooke-Hancock areas. The $100 deductible collision premiums will go up about 4 per cent.

The organizations said the revisions were based on a review of the latest available experience for West Virginia, coupled with a rating formula change to allocate a larger share of the premium dollar to claims payments.

The State Insurance Department at Charleston said that the filings reflect for the first time statistical data the rating bureaus have been assembling since 1954 for 11 specific territories in West Virginia.

The department estimated that the new liability insurance filing will affect about 20 per cent of West Virginians holding such policies - or will when those policies come up for renewal.

Department officials explained at the same time, however, that the so-called independent firms which often sell coverage at somewhat lower rates can be expected also to seek some adjustments in coming months.

ALUMINUM CONTRACTS EXTENDED. Aluminum Contracts Extended

USW Says Steel's Fear Of Inflation Is 'Phony'

NEW YORK (AP) — The Steelworkers Union has seized upon a report of record profits by U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's biggest steel producer, to charge that the figures make the industry's strike position "utterly ridiculous."

The companies' position that they are holding the line against inflation by refusing wage demands was characterized by the union as raising a "phony inflation issue at a time when they are rolling in wealth."

U.S. Steel replied that the profits were "not in any way excessive" when compared with those in other industries.

Meanwhile, a mediator reported after separate talks with both sides in the 15-day-old nationwide strike of a half million steelworkers that there was no change in the position of either side.

A strike threat affecting most of the aluminum industry scheduled for Friday midnight was postponed.

David J. McDonald United Steelworkers president, said the "astronomical profits being reported by steel firms" will convince the public that the steelworkers were forced to strike "by a cold-blooded plan of an industry that wanted and planned this shutdown for its own selfish reasons."

U.S. Steel's board chairman, Roger M. Blough, replied that U.S. steel would hold the price line, unless the government forced a strike settlement which might change the picture.

He made it clear he expected the industry to follow suit. U.S. Steel produces 28 per cent of the nation's steel, and Blough said competition would keep other companies from raising prices.

Blough said the record profits reported Tuesday were partly the result of increased buying earlier in the year by steel users who expected a strike and wanted to have enough steel on hand.

U.S. Steel reported half - year profits of $254,948,496, more than any steel company ever earned in a similar period.

This amounted to a return of 10 cents on every dollar of sales, and equaled $4.50 a share. It compared with a previous record of $231,421,308, or $4.07 a share, in the first half of 1957.

The steel industry has refused to grant union demands for a wage increase, claiming that any increase in labor cost would force a price increase and contribute to inflation.

The union claims the companies can afford a wage increase without raising prices, and points to steel profits in an attempt to prove it.

The union seeks a 15-cent hourly annual increase. At the time of the strike steelworkers averaged $3.10 an hour.

The Steelworkers Union and other unions made similar demands in the aluminum industry, and they were turned down. Aluminum wages range between $2.76 and $2.91 an hour.

The Steelworkers Union and the Big Three companies involved — The Aluminum Co. of America, the Reynolds Metals Co., and the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp.—agreed Tuesday to extend current contracts 30 days beyond the steel settlement date, or until next Nov. 1, whichever is earlier. The agreement would be retroactive to Aug. 1. It covers about 30,000 of the Big Three's 58,000 production workers.

The Aluminum Workers International Union reached a similar agreement with ALCOA. Union talks with Reynolds were scheduled later today.

Atlas Firing Boosts Hopes Of War Rocket

Recovery ships began a search near Ascension Island for a small data capsule that popped out of the Atlas nose cone.

The 18-inch spherical capsule contained instruments to record the missile's performance on its 15,000-mile-an-hour flight and to check the effect of the tremendous heat encountered by the nose cone as it plunged back through the earth's atmosphere from a height of 300 miles.

The capsule was ejected automatically from the cone as it neared the ocean. A parachute

Over Future Of Berlin

Revised Plans Fail In Bid To Break Big 4 Deadlock

GENEVA (AP)—Western diplomats reported today that the revised Soviet and Western plans for ending the Berlin crisis have failed to break the Big Four conference deadlock over the future of the city.

Prospects appeared darker than ever that the Geneva negotiations would ease the East-West conflict over Communist-surrounded West Berlin. But Western oficials pointed out that a last-minute Soviet switch on some key point — a frequent Soviet negotiating tactic —could alter the whole situation.

Most Western officials forecast that unless the Soviets pulled a switch, the conference would end late next week without an agreement either on Berlin or to hold a summit conference.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter invited Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to lunch to discuss the revised proposals exchanged Tuesday night.

The proposals made no significant change in the opposing positions. The West continued to hold out for an agreement securing its rights in Berlin until Germany is reunified. The Soviet union still offered a truce on Berlin for 18 months of all-German negotiations and then for an unspecified period of Big Four negotiations.

Returns From Britain

NEW YORK (AP) — Elder statesman Bernard Baruch, 88, returned Tuesday from a six-week visit to Britain.

He's Target Of Hecklers In Siberia

His Eagerly Awaited Tour Of Academy Of Sciences Is 'Bust'

SVERDLOVSK, Soviet Union (AP)—Richard M. Nixon took on a series of hecklers today and demanded to know why the Soviet Union sees fit to maintain troops in Poland, Hungary and East Germany.

The clashes took place in Novosibirsk, western Siberia, just before the vice president took off for Sverdlovsk. Several thousand silently waiting Russians greeted him in this city in the eastern Ural Mountains.

Nixon's eagerly awaited tour of the Siberian branch of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences at Novosibirsk turned out to be a bust. Soviet authorities allowed him to see only a single building which, they said, is to house their institute of hydrodynamics.

Eventually, some 500 buildings are to be located in the area where many of Russia's top scientists will work.

Nixon's total stay there lasted about a half hour.

Soviet authorities only reluctantly allowed him the visit. Nixon insisted on it.

The over-all feeling toward Nixon in Novosibirsk was warm. He received there Tuesday the friendliest greeting of his 11-day Soviet tour. Throngs, curious about Americans, a breed they seldom see, all but mobbed him at times.

But shortly before leaving Novosibirsk he was subjected to some questions from hecklers. One of Nixon's aides said some of the hecklers appeared to have been planted in the crowd.

Nixon showed no outward sign of being upset at the sharp questioning which came as he toured the big hydroelectric plant and big scientific center.

Now a city of more than 600,000, Sverdlovsk has been a leading industrial center since the Russians moved war industries here in World War II. It is 850 miles east of Moscow.

On several occasions questioners stood toe to toe with Nixon challenging him to say why the

Area Man, 73, Arrested For Drunk Driving

A 73-year-old motorist was fined and jailed for drunken driving today in Municipal Court after the arresting constable said he nearly forced a dozen cars off St. Clair Ave. Ext. and the Casting Club Rd. Tuesday night.

Robert O. Birch of R. D. 1 was fined $300 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and his operator's permit was suspended for six months by Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp.

Birch was arrested at 7:12 p. m. by Liverpool Township Constable Wilbert Taylor.

Two motorists cited last week by the State Highway Patrol forfeited $16 bonds each.

Nelson R. Davis of Hubbard and Edward Michel of Youngstown were cited for passing at intersections, Davis Saturday on Route 7 and Michel Thursday on Route 170.

A hearing scheduled today for Robert O. Sandy, 19, of 3rd Ave., New Cumberland, was postponed tentatively until Saturday morning at the request of his counsel, Atty. George Aronson.

Sandy was one of two drivers cited after a traffic collision July 13 on Dresden Ave. He was charged with driving left of center and operating an auto without a driver's license.

Driver Injured As Truck Hits Embankment

Lull In Mishaps For Past Week Ends In Rash Of Accidents

Columbiana County's traffic picture—quiet for the past week—broke out in a rash of accidents Tuesday and today, injuring at least one man and damaging several vehicles, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

William Brown, 64, of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, was treated at City Hospital Tuesday afternoon after his pickup truck apparently skidded on gravel along Route 39 about 2 miles west of Wellsville and hit an embankment.

The mishap was timed at 5:30 p. m. by officers who still are investigating.

On Route 154 near Elkton at 7:20 a. m. today a truck driven by Tito Principessa, 74, of Ellwood City, skidded into an oncoming auto operated by Ralph McQuiston, 39, of Lisbon R. D. 3.

The patrol said Principessa saw the McQuiston auto approaching over a narrow bridge, and attempted to slow down, but the truck skidded sideways into the auto. The trucker was cited for driving left of center.

Richard Moore, 19, of Elkton escaped injury when he fell asleep at the wheel of his car on Route 164 just north of Lisbon about 1 a. m., and the auto veered into a guardrail. His car received minor damage, and he was charged with reckless operation.

Forry forfeited a $16 bond this morning in Municipal Court when he failed to appear for a hearing.

The patrol was investigating a mishap on Route 39 in the Salineville area this morning, but officers had no further information.

Car Insurance Up In Hancock

Rates Increased By 3-6% For Liability

Private car collision insurance premiums for $50 deductible policies were increased 3 to 6 per cent in the Hancock-Brooke County area under revised liability rates for passenger autos effective today throughout West Virginia.

The new rates mean a statewide average increase of 4.3 per cent in the base levels, although there will be some decreases in Wheeling and Huntington areas and in certain rural districts.

The liability insurance rate revisions and those for automobile material damage coverage were announced in New York by two rating organizations on behalf of members and subscriber companies.

Full coverage comprehensive premiums for popular priced new private cars will remain unchanged in Brooke-Hancock areas. The $100 deductible collision premiums will go up about 4 per cent.

The organizations said the revisions were based on a review of the latest available experience for West Virginia, coupled with a rating formula change to allocate a larger share of the premium dollar to claims payments.

The State Insurance Department at Charleston said that the filings reflect for the first time statistical data the rating bureaus have been assembling since 1954 for 11 specific territories in West Virginia.

The department estimated that the new liability insurance filing will affect about 20 per cent of West Virginians holding such policies - or will when those policies come up for renewal.

Department officials explained at the same time, however, that the so-called independent firms which often sell coverage at somewhat lower rates can be expected also to seek some adjustments in coming months.

USW Says Steel's Fear Of Inflation Is 'Phony'

NEW YORK (AP) — The Steelworkers Union has seized upon a report of record profits by U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's biggest steel producer, to charge that the figures make the industry's strike position "utterly ridiculous."

The companies' position that they are holding the line against inflation by refusing wage demands was characterized by the union as raising a "phony inflation issue at a time when they are rolling in wealth."

U.S. Steel replied that the profits were "not in any way excessive" when compared with those in other industries.

Meanwhile, a mediator reported after separate talks with both sides in the 15-day-old nationwide strike of a half million steelworkers that there was no change in the position of either side.

A strike threat affecting most of the aluminum industry scheduled for Friday midnight was postponed.

David J. McDonald United Steelworkers president, said the "astronomical profits being reported by steel firms" will convince the public that the steelworkers were forced to strike "by a cold-blooded plan of an industry that wanted and planned this shutdown for its own selfish reasons."

U.S. Steel's board chairman, Roger M. Blough, replied that U.S. steel would hold the price line, unless the government forced a strike settlement which might change the picture.

He made it clear he expected the industry to follow suit. U.S. Steel produces 28 per cent of the nation's steel, and Blough said competition would keep other companies from raising prices.

Blough said the record profits reported Tuesday were partly the result of increased buying earlier in the year by steel users who expected a strike and wanted to have enough steel on hand.

U.S. Steel reported half - year profits of $254,948,496, more than any steel company ever earned in a similar period.

This amounted to a return of 10 cents on every dollar of sales, and equaled $4.50 a share. It compared with a previous record of $231,421,308, or $4.07 a share, in the first half of 1957.

The steel industry has refused to grant union demands for a wage increase, claiming that any increase in labor cost would force a price increase and contribute to inflation.

The union claims the companies can afford a wage increase without raising prices, and points to steel profits in an attempt to prove it.

The union seeks a 15-cent hourly annual increase. At the time of the strike steelworkers averaged $3.10 an hour.

The Steelworkers Union and other unions made similar demands in the aluminum industry, and they were turned down. Aluminum wages range between $2.76 and $2.91 an hour.

The Steelworkers Union and the Big Three companies involved — The Aluminum Co. of America, the Reynolds Metals Co., and the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp.—agreed Tuesday to extend current contracts 30 days beyond the steel settlement date, or until next Nov. 1, whichever is earlier. The agreement would be retroactive to Aug. 1. It covers about 30,000 of the Big Three's 58,000 production workers.

The Aluminum Workers International Union reached a similar agreement with ALCOA. Union talks with Reynolds were scheduled later today.

Atlas Firing Boosts Hopes Of War Rocket

Recovery ships began a search near Ascension Island for a small data capsule that popped out of the Atlas nose cone.

The 18-inch spherical capsule contained instruments to record the missile's performance on its 15,000-mile-an-hour flight and to check the effect of the tremendous heat encountered by the nose cone as it plunged back through the earth's atmosphere from a height of 300 miles.

The capsule was ejected automatically from the cone as it neared the ocean. A parachute

Over Future Of Berlin

Revised Plans Fail In Bid To Break Big 4 Deadlock

GENEVA (AP)—Western diplomats reported today that the revised Soviet and Western plans for ending the Berlin crisis have failed to break the Big Four conference deadlock over the future of the city.

Prospects appeared darker than ever that the Geneva negotiations would ease the East-West conflict over Communist-surrounded West Berlin. But Western oficials pointed out that a last-minute Soviet switch on some key point — a frequent Soviet negotiating tactic —could alter the whole situation.

Most Western officials forecast that unless the Soviets pulled a switch, the conference would end late next week without an agreement either on Berlin or to hold a summit conference.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter invited Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to lunch to discuss the revised proposals exchanged Tuesday night.

The proposals made no significant change in the opposing positions. The West continued to hold out for an agreement securing its rights in Berlin until Germany is reunified. The Soviet union still offered a truce on Berlin for 18 months of all-German negotiations and then for an unspecified period of Big Four negotiations.

Returns From Britain

NEW YORK (AP) — Elder statesman Bernard Baruch, 88, returned Tuesday from a six-week visit to Britain.

He's Target Of Hecklers In Siberia

His Eagerly Awaited Tour Of Academy Of Sciences Is 'Bust'

SVERDLOVSK, Soviet Union (AP)—Richard M. Nixon took on a series of hecklers today and demanded to know why the Soviet Union sees fit to maintain troops in Poland, Hungary and East Germany.

The clashes took place in Novosibirsk, western Siberia, just before the vice president took off for Sverdlovsk. Several thousand silently waiting Russians greeted him in this city in the eastern Ural Mountains.

Nixon's eagerly awaited tour of the Siberian branch of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences at Novosibirsk turned out to be a bust. Soviet authorities allowed him to see only a single building which, they said, is to house their institute of hydrodynamics.

Eventually, some 500 buildings are to be located in the area where many of Russia's top scientists will work.

Nixon's total stay there lasted about a half hour.

Soviet authorities only reluctantly allowed him the visit. Nixon insisted on it.

The over-all feeling toward Nixon in Novosibirsk was warm. He received there Tuesday the friendliest greeting of his 11-day Soviet tour. Throngs, curious about Americans, a breed they seldom see, all but mobbed him at times.

But shortly before leaving Novosibirsk he was subjected to some questions from hecklers. One of Nixon's aides said some of the hecklers appeared to have been planted in the crowd.

Nixon showed no outward sign of being upset at the sharp questioning which came as he toured the big hydroelectric plant and big scientific center.

Now a city of more than 600,000, Sverdlovsk has been a leading industrial center since the Russians moved war industries here in World War II. It is 850 miles east of Moscow.

On several occasions questioners stood toe to toe with Nixon challenging him to say why the

Area Man, 73, Arrested For Drunk Driving

A 73-year-old motorist was fined and jailed for drunken driving today in Municipal Court after the arresting constable said he nearly forced a dozen cars off St. Clair Ave. Ext. and the Casting Club Rd. Tuesday night.

Robert O. Birch of R. D. 1 was fined $300 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and his operator's permit was suspended for six months by Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp.

Birch was arrested at 7:12 p. m. by Liverpool Township Constable Wilbert Taylor.

Two motorists cited last week by the State Highway Patrol forfeited $16 bonds each.

Nelson R. Davis of Hubbard and Edward Michel of Youngstown were cited for passing at intersections, Davis Saturday on Route 7 and Michel Thursday on Route 170.

A hearing scheduled today for Robert O. Sandy, 19, of 3rd Ave., New Cumberland, was postponed tentatively until Saturday morning at the request of his counsel, Atty. George Aronson.

Sandy was one of two drivers cited after a traffic collision July 13 on Dresden Ave. He was charged with driving left of center and operating an auto without a driver's license.

Mill Worker Dies Suddenly

Frank Fieni, 214 Midland Ave., Midland, an employe of the Crucible Steel Co., died suddenly Tuesday night at 9:05 at his home. He was 63.

He was born June 5, 1896, in Italy. He was employed as a tool-grinder at the mill, and was a member of the Presentation Catholic Church and St. Anthony Society of Midland.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Louise Fieni and two sons, James Fieni and Isaac Fieni, all at home; another son, Gino Fieni, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Zaccagna, both of Italy, and three grandchildren.

A Solemn Requiem High Mass will be sung Friday at 10 a. m. at the church by the Rev. Francis E. Paul, pastor. Burial will be in Beaver Cemetery.

Hunt Spreads For Four Who Escaped Jail

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—Police and agents of the FBI spread a hunt today for four federal prisoners who fled city jail here with three other men.

The other three were captured late Tuesday night—two in Cincinnati and one in adjoining Covington, Ky.

Cincinnati police spotted Carl H. Webb, 21, of Newport, and Harry Lee King, 19, of Cincinnati, in a downtown parking lot and took them into custody without incident.

Nearly two hours later, Covington police on a tip fanned out around a house and arrested Joseph DiNardo, 24, Newark, N. J., as he left by the front door

Webb and King were awaiting trial on Kentucky charges of breaking and entering.

The seven escaped by sawing through bars of two windows and lowering themselves from a second story window.

A jailer discovered the break at 4 a.m. Tuesday. An early morning blockade of bridges backed up Cincinnati - Covington traffic while officers inspected passing vehicles.

one side or the other, and if it does it is in trouble.

GENEVA — The President asserted there still is no progress at the foreign ministers' conference which would justify the holding of a summit meeting, but he declined—in response to a question—to give an opinion as to whether the outlook is so hopeless that the conference should be abandoned.

He volunteered, however, that he will expect Secretary of State Christian A. Herter to attend a meeting of the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States at Santiago, Chile, opening Aug. 12.

The President said this did not necessarily mean he was putting a deadline on the dragging Geneva talks, but did mean that some arrangement would have to be made—perhaps a recess in the conference—if it has not ended its work by the time the Santiago meeting convenes.

FOREIGN AID—The cuts in foreign aid funds made by a House bill would seriously damage the American position in the cold war, Eisenhower said. He added that he is very, very hopeful the Senate will restore much of the money.

LABOR REGULATIONS — The President gave virtual endorsement to a new labor bill introduced in the House several days ago by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich). The bill is proposed as a substitute for one reported by the House Labor Committee and is described by union officials as much tougher than the committee version.

Eisenhower said the bill, which would crack down on secondary boycotts and what he called blackmail picketing, goes a long way toward meeting the recommendations for labor legislation that he made to Congress in January.

He called it a tremendous improvement over earlier and weaker versions, and commended the sponsors.

He did not, however, directly answer the question as to whether he believed a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats could get the bill passed by the House.

HAWAII—The President opened his news conference with a volunteered expression of gratification over the outcome of Tuesday's election in Hawaii.

He said his gratification was not primarily over the success of three Republicans—the governor, lieutenant governor and one senator—but at the fact that among the successful candidates, regardless of party, were Americans of Chinese, Japanese and Hawaiian extraction.

This was a fine example of democracy at work, Eisenhower said, and a good example to the whole world.

With a grin, he added that of course he did not wish to say that he was not happy about the election of the successful members of his own party.

MISSILES—The President said emphatically he does not believe the lag in long-range U.S. missile development has placed this country at a disadvantage in the negotiations at Geneva.

Nixon

United States will not accept Soviet plans for ending nuclear tests and why it will not trade more with the Soviet Union.

The vice president's patience wore a little thin when, standing atop an incomplete hydroelectric dam, a workman kept shouting questions and interrupting. The questioner was identified as Grigory Belausov Federovic, 30, an electrician.

"The Soviet Union has no military bases outside our borders, and the United States has many in foreign countries. Why is that, I'd like to know," Federovic asked.

In replying, Nixon disclosed he had discussed this with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in their nearly six-hour talk at the Soviet leader's home Sunday.

"As you know we have political and foreign policy differences with the Soviet Union," Nixon said. "When we both agree on a disarmament proposal with adequate inspection then we can take up the question of bases. Now I'd like to ask you a question."

The heckler interjected, "I'm not satisfied with that answer."

In a loud voice, Nixon continued: "In East Germany, Poland and Hungary, the U.S.S.R. has troops. Why are your troops in those countries?"

"We have no Soviet forces there," Federovic contended.

"Is Poland your country?" Nixon went on. "Is Hungary your country? Why do you keep troops there?"

As several hundred workmen, Soviet officials, Nixon aides and newsmen crowded around, the questioner poked his finger a few inches from Nixon's chest.

"There are American and Western troops in Germany, and the Soviet has to maintain forces for that reason," the man retorted.

Smilingly, Nixon shook his head and countered: "You see you always have a reason. I raise the question, do you concede there are two sides to every question? I am glad to see you are interested in foreign policy. Workers of all countries must look carefully at the policy of their governments as well as the policy of others."

His questioner loudly proclaimed: "We know Mr. Knrushchev's policy, and we are behind it."

Nixon's aides said a visit by the vice president to West Germany or Berlin could not be ruled out, although he has no plan at this time for doing so.

Before today's heckling developed, Nixon told newsmen the warmth and enthusiasm of his reception in Novosibirsk was "by far the most outstanding" for his Soviet tour.

The vice president talked his way into a look at the multimillion-dollar scientific research center which the Soviets are raising on the shores of the man-made Ob Sea near this industrial center.

Work was started early last year on the project, which is to house tens of thousands of scientists, students and their families by 1962.

Details of the center have been skimpy. Original plans called for 13 large research institutes devoted to mathematics and natural sciences with provision for expanding into other fields.

The arrival of the Nixon party in Novosibirsk touched of spontaneous outbursts of friendliness that astounded the Americans and kept Soviet security agents busy.

"I was afraid he (Nixon) was going to be hurt by a bear hug," said Georgi A. Zhukov, chairman of the Soviet Union Cultural Committee who is escorting the vice president. "But they were hugs of friendship."

Novosibirsk, a thriving city which has grown from 120,128 to 880,000 in population in 35 years, has often been called a closed city to foreigners.

But, "they all knew we were here," Nixon said.

Few in the frontier city had ever seen an American. Thousands lined the streets to cheer the Nixon party and in their enthusiasm almost mobbed a busload of American newsmen traveling with the vice president.

eased its descent and a balloon-like device inflated so it would float on the water. There was no plan to recover the cone.

The Air Force reported this was the second straight full-range success for the Atlas. It was the first time a "D" series model—the operational prototype—flew without trouble.

Reliable sources here reported that three or four consecutive "D" rocket successes could make the Atlas ready for troop use.

Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said earlier this week the Soviets probably already have an operational ICBM, but estimated they have fewer than 10 missiles which could hit this country.

Khrushchev

ference with Khrushchev is that we might feel we had to produce something from it," Humphrey said. "Generally, where Khrushchev is concerned, if you produce something it means you have made some concession.

"I think President Eisenhower's greatest opportunity to contribute to world peace during the remainder of his term lies in his personal relations with and personal visits with other heads of government."

Eisenhower has indicated he is not yet ready to sanction any visit by Khrushchev to this country. He has said he has no intention of negotiating with the Soviets in the absence of America's allies.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he remains unconvinced that any good would come from a Khrushchev visit. He previously refused to attend a meeting of senators with Anastas I. Mikoyan, deputy Soviet premier, when the latter toured the United States.

GENEVA — The President asserted there still is no progress at the foreign ministers' conference which would justify the holding of a summit meeting, but he declined—in response to a question—to give an opinion as to whether the outlook is so hopeless that the conference should be abandoned.

He volunteered, however, that he will expect Secretary of State Christian A. Herter to attend a meeting of the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States at Santiago, Chile, opening Aug. 12.

The President said this did not necessarily mean he was putting a deadline on the dragging Geneva talks, but did mean that some arrangement would have to be made—perhaps a recess in the conference—if it has not ended its work by the time the Santiago meeting convenes.

FOREIGN AID—The cuts in foreign aid funds made by a House bill would seriously damage the American position in the cold war, Eisenhower said. He added that he is very, very hopeful the Senate will restore much of the money.

LABOR REGULATIONS — The President gave virtual endorsement to a new labor bill introduced in the House several days ago by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich). The bill is proposed as a substitute for one reported by the House Labor Committee and is described by union officials as much tougher than the committee version.

Eisenhower said the bill, which would crack down on secondary boycotts and what he called blackmail picketing, goes a long way toward meeting the recommendations for labor legislation that he made to Congress in January.

He called it a tremendous improvement over earlier and weaker versions, and commended the sponsors.

He did not, however, directly answer the question as to whether he believed a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats could get the bill passed by the House.

HAWAII—The President opened his news conference with a volunteered expression of gratification over the outcome of Tuesday's election in Hawaii.

He said his gratification was not primarily over the success of three Republicans—the governor, lieutenant governor and one senator—but at the fact that among the successful candidates, regardless of party, were Americans of Chinese, Japanese and Hawaiian extraction.

This was a fine example of democracy at work, Eisenhower said, and a good example to the whole world.

With a grin, he added that of course he did not wish to say that he was not happy about the election of the successful members of his own party.

MISSILES—The President said emphatically he does not believe the lag in long-range U.S. missile development has placed this country at a disadvantage in the negotiations at Geneva.

Nixon

United States will not accept Soviet plans for ending nuclear tests and why it will not trade more with the Soviet Union.

The vice president's patience wore a little thin when, standing atop an incomplete hydroelectric dam, a workman kept shouting questions and interrupting. The questioner was identified as Grigory Belausov Federovic, 30, an electrician.

"The Soviet Union has no military bases outside our borders, and the United States has many in foreign countries. Why is that, I'd like to know," Federovic asked.

In replying, Nixon disclosed he had discussed this with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in their nearly six-hour talk at the Soviet leader's home Sunday.

"As you know we have political and foreign policy differences with the Soviet Union," Nixon said. "When we both agree on a disarmament proposal with adequate inspection then we can take up the question of bases. Now I'd like to ask you a question."

The heckler interjected, "I'm not satisfied with that answer."

In a loud voice, Nixon continued: "In East Germany, Poland and Hungary, the U.S.S.R. has troops. Why are your troops in those countries?"

"We have no Soviet forces there," Federovic contended.

"Is Poland your country?" Nixon went on. "Is Hungary your country? Why do you keep troops there?"

As several hundred workmen, Soviet officials, Nixon aides and newsmen crowded around, the questioner poked his finger a few inches from Nixon's chest.

"There are American and Western troops in Germany, and the Soviet has to maintain forces for that reason," the man retorted.

Smilingly, Nixon shook his head and countered: "You see you always have a reason. I raise the question, do you concede there are two sides to every question? I am glad to see you are interested in foreign policy. Workers of all countries must look carefully at the policy of their governments as well as the policy of others."

His questioner loudly proclaimed: "We know Mr. Khrushchev's policy, and we are behind it."

Nixon's aides said a visit by the vice president to West Germany or Berlin could not be ruled out, although he has no plan at this time for doing so.

Before today's heckling developed, Nixon told newsmen the warmth and enthusiasm of his reception in Novosibirsk was "by far the most outstanding" for his Soviet tour.

The vice president talked his way into a look at the multimillion-dollar scientific research center which the Soviets are raising on the shores of the man-made Ob Sea near this industrial center.

Work was started early last year on the project, which is to house tens of thousands of scientists, students and their families by 1962.

Details of the center have been skimpy. Original plans called for 13 large research institutes devoted to mathematics and natural sciences with provision for expanding into other fields.

The arrival of the Nixon party in Novosibirsk touched of spontaneous outbursts of friendliness that astounded the Americans and kept Soviet security agents busy.

"I was afraid he (Nixon) was going to be hurt by a bear hug," said Georgi A. Zhukov, chairman of the Soviet Union Cultural Committee who is escorting the vice president. "But they were hugs of friendship."

Novosibirsk, a thriving city which has grown from 120,128 to 880,000 in population in 35 years, has often been called a closed city to foreigners.

But, "they all knew we were here," Nixon said.

Few in the frontier city had ever seen an American. Thousands lined the streets to cheer the Nixon party and in their enthusiasm almost mobbed a busload of American newsmen traveling with the vice president.

Atlas

eased its descent and a balloon-like device inflated so it would float on the water. There was no plan to recover the cone.

The Air Force reported this was the second straight full-range success for the Atlas. It was the first time a "D" series model—the operational prototype—flew without trouble.

Reliable sources here reported that three or four consecutive "D" rocket successes could make the Atlas ready for troop use.

Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said earlier this week the Soviets probably already have an operational ICBM, but estimated they have fewer than 10 missiles which could hit this country.

ference with Khrushchev is that we might feel we had to produce something from it," Humphrey said. "Generally, where Khrushchev is concerned, if you produce something it means you have made some concession.

"I think President Eisenhower's greatest opportunity to contribute to world peace during the remainder of his term lies in his personal relations with and personal visits with other heads of government."

Eisenhower has indicated he is not yet ready to sanction any visit by Khrushchev to this country. He has said he has no intention of negotiating with the Soviets in the absence of America's allies.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he remains unconvinced that any good would come from a Khrushchev visit. He previously refused to attend a meeting of senators with Anastas I. Mikoyan, deputy Soviet premier, when the latter toured the United States.

Never So Little For So Much

The new rumor from Geneva is hopeful again. The Western Powers think they have detected favorable signs in something about Andrei Gromyko's behavior. Observers think the British may be willing to maintain a united front, that French "grandeur" may have found a way to advance itself without new complications, that the United States may have found a formula for getting out of the rigidity of the Dulles formula of no concessions.

But if it now were to turn out that the foreign ministers had not been marking time at Geneva after all, the net result still would justify an appraisal that never had so much effort been expended for so little.

The original pattern of the Geneva problem has not been changed an iota. Because of geography, a wartime error in strategy and postwar delay in tying up loose ends, the Soviet Union and its dependent, East Germany, hold Berlin as a hostage.

The Western Powers, though they have the right to occupy the Western part of the city and are prepared to assert it with vigor if challenged by the Soviet Union, are at a disadvantage in position. They could not hold the city if the Russians really wanted to make their military position untenable, without a resort to general war—and it is unlikely that they would consider the game was worth that big a candle.

This has been the bargaining point of the Soviet Union in calling for a showdown. It still is. The question has been whether something might be gained by a meeting of the heads of states, meaning principally a meeting between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev. In all probability, the meetings between Vice President Nixon and the Russian premier will have as much bearing on this as the long-drawn-out conference of the foreign ministers at Geneva.

The problem from the beginning—which was late last November, when the Kremlin said it was calling for a showdown—has been to offset Russia's obvious advantage of position with proof of the unity of the Western Powers in the face of a threat of war.

More effort has been spent on achieving Western unity than on overcoming the Russian ultimatum that the time has come to do something about Berlin. World War II has been over for more than 14 years, and if the Kremlin hadn't issued an ultimatum the Western Powers should have issued one of their own.

This Thing Is Getting Off The Track

It will be a ghastly shame and a disservice to decency if the prominence of James R. Hoffa and Robert F. Kennedy in hearings before the Senate Rackets Committee has converted a public issue into a private feud.

The fact that the young counsel to the committee has chosen the president of the Teamsters Union as a Carthage symbol—something that must be destroyed—has given Hoffa a good reason to talk about Kennedy in the same vindictive terms.

But Kennedy and Hoffa are not the two sides of the issue. With due respect for the importance of each in his field, they are not even appropriate symbols of the issue. They are getting off the track.

Kennedy has too much privilege and too much legal training in his background to be a proper symbol for people who believe labor unions must be made responsible for the misbehavior of their officials.

Hoffa has too much bully-boy background and too much flamboyance in his union career to be a fitting symbol for people who are trying to make unionism fit harmoniously into a permanent pattern of U.S. life.

Men like these are ideally suited for followers who must think of every issue as a conflict of personalities. But followers like these are not likely to generate the strong convictions needed to stabilize thought and action about the legal responsibility of unionism.

They are the same shallow thinkers who thought World War II was a crusade against Hitler and Mussolini and who think now that the cold war is against Khrushchev. They are the superficial patriots who thought democracy could be saved by witch hunts, or by putting someone in jail because someone else made an unsupported allegation.

At this moment, the best thing that could happen to the national problem of what to do about making unions bear more responsibility for their good conduct and the public welfare would be for Robert Kennedy and James Hoffa to get lost in their exchange of recriminations and threats and counter-threats of libel suits.

They are not the issue. The issue is whether labor unions can be brought under the same kind of laws that regulate business enterprise. There is only one Hoffa, only one Kennedy. The rest of us are numbered by the tens of millions, and all of us have a stake in the outcome.

Castro Holds A Free Election

It is not entirely clear how upward of half a million Cuban farmers reached Havana at the same time to clash their machetes in favor of putting Fidel Castro back into the premiership.

But it is entirely clear that Premier Castro, who has been put on the defensive about being unprepared to hold a Cuban election, now has hit on a plan that could keep his detractors on the defensive, instead.

A mass gathering of Castro friends in the capital whenever the premier is in trouble with his program for Cuban agrarian reform could keep his political opponents off balance for a long time to come.

The trouble with Cuban elections—and one reason Castro has been reluctant to risk his fate at the ballot box—is the ease with which the outcome can be rigged.

It is entirely likely that the relative unsophisticated Cubans who are backing Castro would be counted out of an election before they knew what was going on. The bulk of his support necessarily must come from those Cubans who know least about the machinations of election-rigging.

But there is no room for doubt when the streets of Havana are filled with shouting, knife-swinging "unshirted ones." They are a definitive answer to the sophisticates of the capital city. It is not necessary to count their votes to know that they exist. Their palpable presence in the streets of the capital is the equivalent of 10 times as many votes.

Premier Castro has been getting his bumps as a popular leader. This time, for a change, he came out on top by proving what some Cubans and many of his critics outside Cuba would like to forget — that he still has the popular support that made it possible for him to come into power in the first place.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

WHEN LIFE WAS SWEET

My grandpa lived a happy spell:
He knew no atoms very well;
His worries they were rather few—
He asked no scientist "What's new?"
He thought an "orbit" was a tool
And "tensions" came with Kelly pool;
He knew no tranquilizer pill
And thought "the summit" just a hill.

II

An atlas in his home was rare. . .
Where Saigon was he didn't care;
He never knew the moment when
Someone would bring up Pnom Penh.
Canaveral he thought, of course,
Was probably some Derby horse;
When flying saucers came to view
He said, "It's something mommer threw."

III

Nobody said, "Let's sit and chin
About both East and West Berlin";
On Kenya he was quite a dope
And thought it was a shaving soap;
He couldn't put his finger on
Beirut, Kirgiz or even Bonn;
On "countdowns" he was not too firm—
He thought this a bookkeeping term.

IV

Things nuclear he never knew—
He never saw a spaceship crew;
He looked into the skies to see
The stars and not some enemy;
"Polaris" was a lunchroom guy;
"The Sputniks" ran a store nearby;
Yes, grandpa's ignorance was grim. . .
I'd like to be back there with him.

REMEMBER AWAY BACK when people didn't go to funerals for the photographs?

Joyce Mathews and Billy Rose have called it a day. It can't be the marriage busted up because she wanted to see Broadway life and he insisted upon staying home and watching old movies on TV.

"The book contains sexual scenes in great detail with complete candor and realism. Four letter words are used frequently. But it is all relevant to the plot and not inconsistent with character, situation or theme," says court, ruling "Lady Chatterely's theme" okay. Anything goes if the dirt fits in with the action, ya mean?

An ex-sergeant says he was assigned to baby sitting, cooking, washing lingerie, airing the dog, helping with the laundry and cleaning up after the general's wife's bridge parties. Maybe it was just a natural Army mistake resulting from classification as an engineer, electrician or chemist. The Army always assigns a man as far from where needed as possible. If you are listed as a skilled tank driver you are sure to be detailed as an army cook.

Live On Film!

Some of the older, more grizzled heads of newspaperdom throbbed last weekend when television made a sensation of a 20-minute video tape presentation of the banter between Premier Khrushchev and Vice President Nixon.

This happened to have been only one part of a running exchange between the two men that was reported at great length in afternoon newspapers on Friday and in morning papers on Saturday. Everything of consequence said by the two men already had been related in print, with numerous quotations.

Yet, when television, which has learned how to sell news as well as tangible products, came up with a small excerpt on film it created a minor sensation.

It was something like a co-worker's shock, when radio was still a novelty, to find that his wife wanted to tell him every night when he came home what Lowell Thomas had just told her. He explained that good old Lowell had been reading her the same press report she had read the preceding day or would be reading in the evening paper that day. She never really believed it, he had to admit—not even when he read it to her. He was not good old Lowell.

Newspapers are not the talking-seeing machine in the living room. All they can do is report what happened. They can't back anyone into a corner with the novelty of a new technique for doing the reporting.

If Khrushchev Has His Choice Of Summits

'Ban' Muzzles One Who Talks Freedom

By Victor Riesel

NATAL, SOUTH AFRICA

In this little corner of Africa rests man's fate and the life of many an American boy. For on this piece of earth treads the "outlawed" Chief Luthuli, spokesman for nine million Bantus south of the Zambesi River. I drove here through miles of sugar cane fields to find him. He is a friend of the West's on a continent where many seem eager to do a cash business with the Soviets. But he is in a special kind of exile.

Victor Riesel

He is under "ban." He has been now for a month. He will be for five years. He had not talked to a newsman since the government put the "ban" on the Chief. I was the first. The Chief chanced that. He is watched by the Special Branch, the secret Police of the Union of South Africa.

The "ban" means he is in a prison without bars. He can live at home but he must not go out of a 12-mile circle. His mail is watched. Telephone facilities are monitored.

THE "BAN," MEANS he cannot talk to more than one person at a time. Two people would mean a meeting under the law and he is prohibited from addressing meetings or going to one or making any political gesture — even if it means help to the West. He walks alone or talks only to one person at a time. That is the law of this nation — exile to a living silence. The "ban" is reserved for those who talk politics the government doesn't like. The Chief did not talk politics. He talked about freedom. I hope that is not against the law.

The Chief of the Umvoti Mission Reserve Zulus grasped my hand. We went to the house of a friend. Suddenly a car sped into the yard. It was his friend driving in behind us, standing at a distance to make certain all was well.

We were alone in a big room until it was time for tea. The Chief stepped out until the cups were in place. Then we were alone again. The law was not broken.

We talked about Africa. The Chief had been General President of the African National Congress until recently. Then there had been a split.

A GROUP called the Africanists had splintered — attacking him because he was a moderate and because he was for working with white forces and because he was opposed to the "nationalist" concept of a vast Pan-African giant state.

"I will work with all forces," the Chief said. "How long do you think we will offer ourselves as slaves. I will work for a sharing of power. But if the time comes when we have power and a left wing totalitarianism takes over, I will not work with it. I will fight it or step down."

I spoke of the danger of violence in a land where the Bantu (the word for all Africans) outnumbered the whites nine million to three million. The answer came swiftly. The voice changed from a sonorous bass — he had been talking gently to me, treating me as though I were a Dresden doll — to hard tones.

"I am here under 'ban,'" he retorted. "Leaders who replaced me have each been put under 'ban.' There are those who agitate our people. Soon there will be no moderates to counsel our millions. Many of those in the villages will see that their leaders have been silenced. They might listen to unwise voices. They could stir in anger. Who knows what can happen. There are so many of them."

We drank our tea. I asked if he would have another. He laughed and said certainly, "I am a Zulu, you know."

A ZULU ALWAYS takes another, he explained. Then first in Zulu and then in English, he quoted an old proverb of his tribe: "Never pierce a man once, always strike him twice."

In this little corner of Africa, 10,000 miles from Broadway, it is difficult to believe that Main St. America knows not of Chief Luthuli. So much of Main street's fate is tied to him. All Africa is watching his nine million Bantus, most of whom are Zulu. If they rise without his restraining hand while our friend is under 'ban,' all Africa will be aflame below the Sahara.

Out of such chaos, only the Kremlin could profit. Russia's gold bullion is more dangerous than its lead bullets. But the men who could stop this, our friend and his friends, are under "ban."

Summer Is For Kittens

By Truman Twill

What follows is light summer reading.

It comes under the same theory as light summer eating, said theory being that the mind and the body require less to sustain them when the temperature is high.

No one should read "War and Peace" during hot weather or eat roast beef and browned potatoes lathered in rich, brown pan gravy. That's the theory.

It is better by far to munch cold meat washed down with iced tea and to read about the vagaries of kittens. Some readers do not care for cold cuts and kittens, but that is unimportant.

I care for both, also for "War and Peace" and roast beef. I think it is nonsense to say things must be one way or the other — a thinking fallacy known as "exclusivism," which causes foolish people to believe everything must be one way or the other. The truth often is that things can be both ways; they can be true-false, bitter - sweet, sad-happy, idealistic-realistic, light-heavy etc.

This has been a vintage year for kittens — two litters down and one cooking, with time for two more before Labor Day. The cat census has been hovering around a dozen as a consequence of so much fecundity.

The problem is doors.

There are four doors on our house. The first thing kittens pick up from their elders is how to high-tail it into the house through an open door.

The high tail is the secret. A horizontal tail is a screen-door-bent tail. And because a cat's move is to go into concealment as soon as a house has been entered, the problem is how to keep it from entering.

This is where the doors become important.

The ploy in the game of Kitty-Flitty that has been developed to keep the cats at bay is to make them guess which door is about to open.

First, a distraction is created at a door that is not about to open; this draws the cats to that door. Then while they are tense, the ploy-maker skitters on tiptoe to another door and slips outside.

It is more difficult to get in. The ploy in this instance, if there are two play-makers ranged against the cats, is for one to put on a show about intending to enter by a given door while the other veers off toward another door. This makes it possible for one person to enter without cats. Thereupon, this person makes a noise as if about to leave by that door, attracting the cats to that door, letting the first person enter the house catless.

If only one person is playing against 12 cats, he has hopeless alternatives — to make a run for it or to sweep the deck of all cats present with a sweeping side kick, which never is 100 per cent successful. The best way is to enter in pairs and to leave the same way, because two humans are smarter than a dozen-odd cats.

Or were . . .

There are enough cats to stand guard at every door. They have split up. No matter who goes in or out, the cats get their opportunity. The bigger ones already are opening doors, themselves. Winter is coming — time for roast beef, browned potatoes, "War And Peace" and snug living conditions. Summer is for cold cuts, iced tea and cats with no place they can call their own.

Sympathy For Oppressed A Long Tradition

Maybe there ought to be a "captive nations year" instead of a "captive nations week." Then the protest will be continuous instead of once a year.

David Lawrence

Evidently those faint-hearted in our midst who think it was a bad idea for the Congress of the United States to proclaim American ideals to the peoples of the world and utter words of sympathy to the oppressed don't know that similar protests have been perennial in American history. Or else they are so afraid of offending Khrushchev that they are willing to appease him still more by criticizing what Congress did.

A glance at the record will show that the Democratic and Republican parties have for more than 70 years inserted from time to time planks in their national platforms expressing the sympathy of the American people for oppressed peoples aboard.

IT HAS BECOME so natural for this to be done by both parties that the Congress earlier this month spent only a few minutes debating the joint resolution which subsequently aroused the ire of the Communist imperialists in Moscow.

In 1892, both the Republican and Democratic party platforms condemned the Russian government for the mistreatment of its people. The Democratic platform plank, entitled "Sympathy for the Oppressed," read as follows:

"This country has always been the refuge of the oppressed from every land — exiles for conscience's sake — and, in the spirit of the founders of our government, we condemn the oppression practiced by the Russian government upon its Lutheran and Jewish subjects, and we call upon our national government, in the interest of justice and humanity, by all just and proper means, to use its prompt and best efforts to bring about a cessation of these cruel persecutions in the dominions of the Czar, and to secure to the oppressed equal rights.

"We tender our profound and earnest sympathy to those lovers of freedom who are struggling for home rule and the great cause of local self-government in Ireland."

The Republican platform in the same year, under the title "Championing the Oppressed," had this plank:

"The Republican party has always been the champion of the oppressed and recognizes the dignity of manhood, irrespective of faith, color or nationality. It sympathizes with the cause of home rule in Ireland, and protests against the persecution of the Jews in Russia."

IN 1896, the Republican platform had a plank saying: "The Armenian massacres (by the Turks) have aroused the deep sympathy and just indignation of the American people, and we believe that the United States should exercise all the influence it can properly exert to bring these artocities to an end."

Then, in 1900, the Democratic platform had a plank expressing sympathy with the efforts of the Boers of South Africa to gain "liberty and independence" from British rule.

In 1920, the Democratic national platform contained a plank "expressing its active sympathy with the people of China, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Yugoslavia, Poland, Persia and others who have recently established representative government." Another plank expressed sympathy with the efforts of the Irish people to get their freedom, and still another plank called on the American government to "render every possible and proper aid to the unfortunate people of Armenia."

The year 1944 saw the first plank from the Republicans calling for a "free and democratic commonwealth" in Palestine. Then, in 1948, the Democrats had a plank, too, "looking forward to the admission of the state of Israel to the United Nations." The Republicans in their platform that year also had a plank proclaiming friendship with the people of Palestine.

The 1956 Republican platform said:

"We shall continue to seek the reunification of Germany in freedom and the liberation of the satellite states — Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and other, once-free countries now behind the Iron Curtain. The Republican party stands firmly with the peoples of these countries in their just quest for freedom. We are confident that our peaceful policies, resolutely pursued, will finally restore freedom and national independence to oppressed peoples and nations."

THE 1956 Democratic plank said in part: "We declare our deepest concern for the plight of the freedom-loving peoples of central and eastern Europe and of Asia, now under the yoke of Soviet dictatorship. The United States, under countries. We look forward to the day when the liberties of all captive nations will be restored to them and they can again take their rightful place in the community of free nations."

It's an old story with America but somehow Nikita Khrushchev hadn't heard of it.

Two Major Questions

James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Two obvious questions have hovered over Vice President Richard M. Nixon's journey ever since he decided to go to the Soviet Union. How will he do? What will this mean for him politically?

The answers to both will probably be less than sensational unless something unusual happens for good or bad. It hasn't happened yet—so far as is known—and there is no reason to believe it will.

He has shaken hands with Soviet citizens, conferred with Premier Nikita Khrushchev, kept himself in the headlines by the very nature of his trip, and expressed American goodwill.

That's the most he was supposed to do, since his mission was billed as a goodwill trip. If he had made any gains with Khrushchev—and newsmen with him indicate he hasn't—that would have been extra.

He could upset the applecart—internationally and personally—when, after leaving the U.S.S.R he stops off a couple of days in Poland. The people there have tried to tear themselves loose a bit from the Soviet Communist hug.

Since there are many people of Polish descent in this country, it is possible that Nixon, carried away with a desire to please Poles here and there, may say something so anti-Soviet that any good achieved on his Soviet trip would be undone.

That's unlikely for a couple of reasons. He is representing President Eisenhower and the American government and therefore is conscious of his responsibility for causing no damage. Besides, he's not the emotional type.

Nixon, a prime candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960, is a shrewd politician who has had his eye on the main chance from away back. Otherwise, he wouldn't be where he is at 46.

But he is under a handicap on this trip. As vice president, he is limited in what he can do. For instance, he isn't in a position to make deals by himself. This in itself limits the amount of prestige he can get from his trip.

From the beginning, his job has been to handle himself well, avoid incidents or statements which might injure him or the United States, try if possible to make some headway with Khrushchev, and make propaganda for this country as best he can.

That doesn't call for sensational successes.

So, unless the unusual occurs, the memory of this Soviet visit will probably grow dimmer in voters' minds as time passes. The Republican presidential nominating convention and the 1960 elections are a year or more away.

It can hardly be argued that his disastrous tour of Latin America will be much of a factor in his getting, or not getting, the nomination. Yet he returned from that journey to an America highly sympathetic for what he had endured.

The anti-American ordeal inflicted on him was not because he was Nixon but because he was American.

No one is suggesting now, a year later, that his Latin American experience will have any weight in 1960.

Never So Little For So Much

The new rumor from Geneva is hopeful again. The Western Powers think they have detected favorable signs in something about Andrei Gromyko's behavior. Observers think the British may be willing to maintain a united front, that French "grandeur" may have found a way to advance itself without new complications, that the United States may have found a formula for getting out of the rigidity of the Dulles formula of no concessions.

But if it now were to turn out that the foreign ministers had not been marking time at Geneva after all, the net result still would justify an appraisal that never had so much effort been expended for so little.

The original pattern of the Geneva problem has not been changed an iota. Because of geography, a wartime error in strategy and postwar delay in tying up loose ends, the Soviet Union and its dependent, East Germany, hold Berlin as a hostage.

The Western Powers, though they have the right to occupy the Western part of the city and are prepared to assert it with vigor if challenged by the Soviet Union, are at a disadvantage in position. They could not hold the city if the Russians really wanted to make their military position untenable, without a resort to general war—and it is unlikely that they would consider the game was worth that big a candle.

This has been the bargaining point of the Soviet Union in calling for a showdown. It still is. The question has been whether something might be gained by a meeting of the heads of states, meaning principally a meeting between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev. In all probability, the meetings between Vice President Nixon and the Russian premier will have as much bearing on this as the long-drawn-out conference of the foreign ministers at Geneva.

The problem from the beginning—which was late last November, when the Kremlin said it was calling for a showdown—has been to offset Russia's obvious advantage of position with proof of the unity of the Western Powers in the face of a threat of war.

More effort has been spent on achieving Western unity than on overcoming the Russian ultimatum that the time has come to do something about Berlin. World War II has been over for more than 14 years, and if the Kremlin hadn't issued an ultimatum the Western Powers should have issued one of their own.

This Thing Is Getting Off The Track

It will be a ghastly shame and a disservice to decency if the prominence of James R. Hoffa and Robert F. Kennedy in hearings before the Senate Rackets Committee has converted a public issue into a private feud.

The fact that the young counsel to the committee has chosen the president of the Teamsters Union as a Carthage symbol—something that must be destroyed—has given Hoffa a good reason to talk about Kennedy in the same vindictive terms.

But Kennedy and Hoffa are not the two sides of the issue. With due respect for the importance of each in his field, they are not even appropriate symbols of the issue. They are getting off the track.

Kennedy has too much privilege and too much legal training in his background to be a proper symbol for people who believe labor unions must be made responsible for the misbehavior of their officials.

Hoffa has too much bully-boy background and too much flamboyance in his union career to be a fitting symbol for people who are trying to make unionism fit harmoniously into a permanent pattern of U.S. life.

Men like these are ideally suited for followers who must think of every issue as a conflict of personalities. But followers like these are not likely to generate the strong convictions needed to stabilize thought and action about the legal responsibility of unionism.

They are the same shallow thinkers who thought World War II was a crusade against Hitler and Mussolini and who think now that the cold war is against Khrushchev. They are the superficial patriots who thought democracy could be saved by witch hunts, or by putting someone in jail because someone else made an unsupported allegation.

At this moment, the best thing that could happen to the national problem of what to do about making unions bear more responsibility for their good conduct and the public welfare would be for Robert Kennedy and James Hoffa to get lost in their exchange of recriminations and threats and counter-threats of libel suits.

They are not the issue. The issue is whether labor unions can be brought under the same kind of laws that regulate business enterprise. There is only one Hoffa, only one Kennedy. The rest of us are numbered by the tens of millions, and all of us have a stake in the outcome.

Castro Holds A Free Election

It is not entirely clear how upward of half a million Cuban farmers reached Havana at the same time to clash their machetes in favor of putting Fidel Castro back into the premiership.

But it is entirely clear that Premier Castro, who has been put on the defensive about being unprepared to hold a Cuban election, now has hit on a plan that could keep his detractors on the defensive, instead.

A mass gathering of Castro friends in the capital whenever the premier is in trouble with his program for Cuban agrarian reform could keep his political opponents off balance for a long time to come.

The trouble with Cuban elections—and one reason Castro has been reluctant to risk his fate at the ballot box—is the ease with which the outcome can be rigged.

It is entirely likely that the relative unsophisticated Cubans who are backing Castro would be counted out of an election before they knew what was going on. The bulk of his support necessarily must come from those Cubans who know least about the machinations of election-rigging.

But there is no room for doubt when the streets of Havana are filled with shouting, knife-swinging "unshirted ones." They are a definitive answer to the sophisticates of the capital city. It is not necessary to count their votes to know that they exist. Their palpable presence in the streets of the capital is the equivalent of 10 times as many votes.

Premier Castro has been getting his bumps as a popular leader. This time, for a change, he came out on top by proving what some Cubans and many of his critics outside Cuba would like to forget — that he still has the popular support that made it possible for him to come into power in the first place.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

WHEN LIFE WAS SWEET

My grandpa lived a happy spell:
He knew no atoms very well;
His worries they were rather few—
He asked no scientist "What's new?"
He thought an "orbit" was a tool
And "tensions" came with Kelly pool;
He knew no tranquilizer pill
And thought "the summit" just a hill.

II

An atlas in his home was rare. . .
Where Saigon was he didn't care;
He never knew the moment when
Someone would bring up Pnom Penh.
Canaveral he thought, of course,
Was probably some Derby horse;
When flying saucers came to view
He said, "It's something mommer threw."

III

Nobody said, "Let's sit and chin
About both East and West Berlin";
On Kenya he was quite a dope
And thought it was a shaving soap;
He couldn't put his finger on
Beirut, Kirgiz or even Bonn;
On "countdowns" he was not too firm—
He thought this a bookkeeping term.

IV

Things nuclear he never knew—
He never saw a spaceship crew;
He looked into the skies to see
The stars and not some enemy;
"Polaris" was a lunchroom guy;
"The Sputniks" ran a store nearby;
Yes, grandpa's ignorance was grim. . .
I'd like to be back there with him.

REMEMBER AWAY BACK when people didn't go to funerals for the photographs?

Joyce Mathews and Billy Rose have called it a day. It can't be the marriage busted up because she wanted to see Broadway life and he insisted upon staying home and watching old movies on TV.

"The book contains sexual scenes in great detail with complete candor and realism. Four letter words are used frequently. But it is all relevant to the plot and not inconsistent with character, situation or theme," says court, ruling "Lady Chatterely's theme" okay. Anything goes if the dirt fits in with the action, ya mean?

An ex-sergeant says he was assigned to baby sitting, cooking, washing lingerie, airing the dog, helping with the laundry and cleaning up after the general's wife's bridge parties. Maybe it was just a natural Army mistake resulting from classification as an engineer, electrician or chemist. The Army always assigns a man as far from where needed as possible. If you are listed as a skilled tank driver you are sure to be detailed as an army cook.

Live On Film!

Some of the older, more grizzled heads of newspaperdom throbbed last weekend when television made a sensation of a 20-minute video tape presentation of the banter between Premier Khrushchev and Vice President Nixon.

This happened to have been only one part of a running exchange between the two men that was reported at great length in afternoon newspapers on Friday and in morning papers on Saturday. Everything of consequence said by the two men already had been related in print, with numerous quotations.

Yet, when television, which has learned how to sell news as well as tangible products, came up with a small excerpt on film it created a minor sensation.

It was something like a co-worker's shock, when radio was still a novelty, to find that his wife wanted to tell him every night when he came home what Lowell Thomas had just told her. He explained that good old Lowell had been reading her the same press report she had read the preceding day or would be reading in the evening paper that day. She never really believed it, he had to admit—not even when he read it to her. He was not good old Lowell.

Newspapers are not the talking-seeing machine in the living room. All they can do is report what happened. They can't back anyone into a corner with the novelty of a new technique for doing the reporting.

If Khrushchev Has His Choice Of Summits

'Ban' Muzzles One Who Talks Freedom

By Victor Riesel

NATAL, SOUTH AFRICA

In this little corner of Africa rests man's fate and the life of many an American boy. For on this piece of earth treads the "outlawed" Chief Luthuli, spokesman for nine million Bantus south of the Zambesi River. I drove here through miles of sugar cane fields to find him. He is a friend of the West's on a continent where many seem eager to do a cash business with the Soviets. But he is in a special kind of exile.

Victor Riesel

He is under "ban." He has been now for a month. He will be for five years. He had not talked to a newsman since the government put the "ban" on the Chief. I was the first. The Chief chanced that. He is watched by the Special Branch, the secret Police of the Union of South Africa.

The "ban" means he is in a prison without bars. He can live at home but he must not go out of a 12-mile circle. His mail is watched. Telephone facilities are monitored.

THE "BAN," MEANS he cannot talk to more than one person at a time. Two people would mean a meeting under the law and he is prohibited from addressing meetings or going to one or making any political gesture — even if it means help to the West. He walks alone or talks only to one person at a time. That is the law of this nation — exile to a living silence. The "ban" is reserved for those who talk politics the government doesn't like. The Chief did not talk politics. He talked about freedom. I hope that is not against the law.

The Chief of the Umvoti Mission Reserve Zulus grasped my hand. We went to the house of a friend. Suddenly a car sped into the yard. It was his friend driving in behind us, standing at a distance to make certain all was well.

We were alone in a big room until it was time for tea. The Chief stepped out until the cups were in place. Then we were alone again. The law was not broken.

We talked about Africa. The Chief had been General President of the African National Congress until recently. Then there had been a split.

A GROUP called the Africanists had splintered — attacking him because he was a moderate and because he was for working with white forces and because he was opposed to the "nationalist" concept of a vast Pan-African giant state.

"I will work with all forces," the Chief said. "How long do you think we will offer ourselves as slaves. I will work for a sharing of power. But if the time comes when we have power and a left wing totalitarianism takes over, I will not work with it. I will fight it or step down."

I spoke of the danger of violence in a land where the Bantu (the word for all Africans) outnumbered the whites nine million to three million. The answer came swiftly. The voice changed from a sonorous bass — he had been talking gently to me, treating me as though I were a Dresden doll — to hard tones.

"I am here under 'ban.'" he retorted. "Leaders who replaced me have each been put under 'ban.' There are those who agitate our people. Soon there will be no moderates to counsel our millions. Many of those in the villages will see that their leaders have been silenced. They might listen to unwise voices. They could stir in anger. Who knows what can happen. There are so many of them."

We drank our tea. I asked if he would have another. He laughed and said certainly, "I am a Zulu, you know."

A ZULU ALWAYS takes another, he explained. Then first in Zulu and then in English, he quoted an old proverb of his tribe: "Never pierce a man once, always strike him twice."

In this little corner of Africa, 10,000 miles from Broadway, it is difficult to believe that Main St. America knows not of Chief Luthuli. So much of Main street's fate is tied to him. All Africa is watching his nine million Bantus, most of whom are Zulu. If they rise without his restraining hand while our friend is under 'ban,' all Africa will be aflame below the Sahara.

Out of such chaos, only the Kremlin could profit. Russia's gold bullion is more dangerous than its lead bullets. But the men who could stop this, our friend and his friends, are under "ban."

Summer Is For Kittens

By Truman Twill

What follows is light summer reading.

It comes under the same theory as light summer eating, said theory being that the mind and the body require less to sustain them when the temperature is high.

No one should read "War and Peace" during hot weather or eat roast beef and browned potatoes lathered in rich, brown pan gravy. That's the theory.

It is better by far to munch cold meat washed down with iced tea and to read about the vagaries of kittens. Some readers do not care for cold cuts and kittens, but that is unimportant.

I care for both, also for "War and Peace" and roast beef. I think it is nonsense to say things must be one way or the other — a thinking fallacy known as "exclusivism," which causes foolish people to believe everything must be one way or the other. The truth often is that things can be both ways; they can be true-false, bitter - sweet, sad-happy, idealistic-realistic, light-heavy etc.

This has been a vintage year for kittens — two litters down and one cooking, with time for two more before Labor Day. The cat census has been hovering around a dozen as a consequence of so much fecundity.

The problem is doors.

There are four doors on our house. The first thing kittens pick up from their elders is how to high-tail it into the house through an open door.

The high tail is the secret. A horizontal tail is a screen-door-bent tail. And because a cat's move is to go into concealment as soon as a house has been entered, the problem is how to keep it from entering.

This is where the doors become important.

The ploy in the game of Kitty-Flitty that has been developed to keep the cats at bay is to make them guess which door is about to open.

First, a distraction is created at a door that is not about to open; this draws the cats to that door. Then while they are tense, the ploy-maker skitters on tiptoe to another door and slips outside.

It is more difficult to get in. The ploy in this instance, if there are two play-makers ranged against the cats, is for one to put on a show about intending to enter by a given door while the other veers off toward another door. This makes it possible for one person to enter without cats. Thereupon, this person makes a noise as if about to leave by that door, attracting the cats to that door, letting the first person enter the house catless.

If only one person is playing against 12 cats, he has hopeless alternatives — to make a run for it or to sweep the deck of all cats present with a sweeping side kick, which never is 100 per cent successful. The best way is to enter in pairs and to leave the same way, because two humans are smarter than a dozen-odd cats.

Or were . . .

There are enough cats to stand guard at every door. They have split up. No matter who goes in or out, the cats get their opportunity. The bigger ones already are opening doors, themselves. Winter is coming — time for roast beef, browned potatoes, "War And Peace" and snug living conditions. Summer is for cold cuts, iced tea and cats with no place they can call their own.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The annual reunion of the McGillivray family was held at Rock Springs Park.

Delores Allison, Amilda Tomlinson and Edith Fone were named in charge of a camping party in August for the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Ann Catholic Church.

TEN YEARS AGO — More than 50 persons inspected reforestation work in Middleton and St. Clair townships.

A statewide traffic safety check here showed that most autos were in good operating condition with the exception of the rear lights.

Work began on the renovation of two Henry Ave. water standpipes.

Sympathy For Oppressed A Long Tradition

Maybe there ought to be a "captive nations year" instead of a "captive nations week." Then the protest will be continuous instead of once a year.

David Lawrence

Evidently those faint-hearted in our midst who think it was a bad idea for the Congress of the United States to proclaim American ideals to the peoples of the world and utter words of sympathy to the oppressed don't know that similar protests have been perennial in American history. Or else they are so afraid of offending Khrushchev that they are willing to appease him still more by criticizing what Congress did.

A glance at the record will show that the Democratic and Republican parties have for more than 70 years inserted from time to time planks in their national platforms expressing the sympathy of the American people for oppressed peoples aboard.

IT HAS BECOME so natural for this to be done by both parties that the Congress earlier this month spent only a few minutes debating the joint resolution which subsequently aroused the ire of the Communist imperialists in Moscow.

In 1892, both the Republican and Democratic party platforms condemned the Russian government for the mistreatment of its people. The Democratic platform plank, entitled "Sympathy for the Oppressed," read as follows:

"This country has always been the refuge of the oppressed from every land — exiles for conscience's sake — and, in the spirit of the founders of our government, we condemn the oppression practiced by the Russian government upon its Lutheran and Jewish subjects, and we call upon our national government, in the interest of justice and humanity, by all just and proper means, to use its prompt and best efforts to bring about a cessation of these cruel persecutions in the dominions of the Czar, and to secure to the oppressed equal rights.

"We tender our profound and earnest sympathy to those lovers of freedom who are struggling for home rule and the great cause of local self-government in Ireland."

The Republican platform in the same year, under the title "Championing the Oppressed," had this plank:

"The Republican party has always been the champion of the oppressed and recognizes the dignity of manhood, irrespective of faith, color or nationality. It sympathizes with the cause of home rule in Ireland, and protests against the persecution of the Jews in Russia."

IN 1896, the Republican platform had a plank saying: "The Armenian massacres (by the Turks) have aroused the deep sympathy and just indignation of the American people, and we believe that the United States should exercise all the influence it can properly exert to bring these artocities to an end."

Then, in 1900, the Democratic platform had a plank expressing sympathy with the efforts of the Boers of South Africa to gain "liberty and independence" from British rule.

In 1920, the Democratic national platform contained a plank "expressing its active sympathy with the people of China, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Yugoslavia, Poland, Persia and others who have recently established representative government." Another plank expressed sympathy with the efforts of the Irish people to get their freedom, and still another plank called on the American government to "render every possible and proper aid to the unfortunate people of Armenia."

The year 1944 saw the first plank from the Republicans calling for a "free and democratic commonwealth" in Palestine. Then, in 1948, the Democrats had a plank, too, "looking forward to the admission of the state of Israel to the United Nations." The Republicans in their platform that year also had a plank proclaiming friendship with the people of Palestine.

The 1956 Republican platform said:

"We shall continue to seek the reunification of Germany in freedom and the liberation of the satellite states — Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and other, once-free countries now behind the Iron Curtain. The Republican party stands firmly with the peoples of these countries in their just quest for freedom. We are confident that our peaceful policies, resolutely pursued, will finally restore freedom and national independence to oppressed peoples and nations."

THE 1956 Democratic plank said in part: "We declare our deepest concern for the plight of the freedom-loving peoples of central and eastern Europe and of Asia, now under the yoke of Soviet dictatorship. The United States, under countries. We look forward to the day when the liberties of all captive nations will be restored to them and they can again take their rightful place in the community of free nations."

It's an old story with America but somehow Nikita Khrushchev hadn't heard of it.

Two Major Questions

James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Two obvious questions have hovered over Vice President Richard M. Nixon's journey ever since he decided to go to the Soviet Union. How will he do? What will this mean for him politically?

The answers to both will probably be less than sensational unless something unusual happens for good or bad. It hasn't happened yet—so far as is known—and there is no reason to believe it will.

He has shaken hands with Soviet citizens, conferred with Premier Nikita Khrushchev, kept himself in the headlines by the very nature of his trip, and expressed American goodwill.

That's the most he was supposed to do, since his mission was billed as a goodwill trip. If he had made any gains with Khrushchev —and newsmen with him indicate he hasn't—that would have been extra.

He could upset the applecart—internationally and personally—when, after leaving the U.S.S.R he stops off a couple of days in Poland. The people there have tried to tear themselves loose a bit from the Soviet Communist hug.

Since there are many people of Polish descent in this country, it is possible that Nixon, carried away with a desire to please Poles here and there, may say something so anti-Soviet that any good achieved on his Soviet trip would be undone.

That's unlikely for a couple of reasons. He is representing President Eisenhower and the American government and therefore is conscious of his responsibility for causing no damage. Besides, he's not the emotional type.

Nixon, a prime candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960, is a shrewd politician who has had his eye on the main chance from away back. Otherwise, he wouldn't be where he is at 46.

But he is under a handicap on this trip. As vice president, he is limited in what he can do. For instance, he isn't in a position to make deals by himself. This in itself limits the amount of prestige he can get from his trip.

From the beginning, his job has been to handle himself well, avoid incidents or statements which might injure him or the United States, try if possible to make some headway with Khrushchev, and make propaganda for this country as best he can.

That doesn't call for sensational successes.

So, unless the unusual occurs, the memory of this Soviet visit will probably grow dimmer in voters' minds as time passes. The Republican presidential nominating convention and the 1960 elections are a year or more away.

It can hardly be argued that his disastrous tour of Latin America will be much of a factor in his getting, or not getting, the nomination. Yet he returned from that journey to an America highly sympathetic for what he had endured.

The anti-American ordeal inflicted on him was not because he was Nixon but because he was American.

No one is suggesting now, a year later, that his Latin American experience will have any weight in 1960.

By the same token—the distance between now and 1960—there's no reason to think his Soviet trip will be a factor on his side in 1960 unless it results in something more significant than has happened up till now.

In this politically conscious city of Washington every move by a politician is weighed for its political impact. It can be overdone.

'Showdown' Due Today In Judge Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The attempt of J. Harvey Crow of Urbana to show bias and prejudice against a Fayette County common pleas judge comes to a showdown today in the Ohio Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt gave Crow until today to show why affidavits against Judge John Case should stand. Unless Crow is more convincing today than he was Tuesday, the affidavits will be dismissed, the chief justice indicated at a hearing Tuesday.

Crow is seeking to prevent Judge Case from hearing Crow's motion to be made a party to two Fayette County suits. Crow, a disbarred attorney, claims a one-half interest by assignment in a $100,000 slander action by Beverly C. Walls of Urbana against John R. Trace of Washington Court House. He also seeks to become a party in a $37,000 suit for alleged malicious prosecution by William Tumbleson against Walter Noble, both of Bloomingburg.

Noting that Crow is not now a party to either suit, Weygandt said the law is clear that only a party to a suit—or counsel—can file an affidavit of bias and prejudice. Weygandt's citation of the law took him by surprise, Crow said at Tuesday's hearing. The court gave him another day to prepare an answer.

Editor Of Fraternity Publication To Retire

EAST PALESTINE — Cecil J. Wilkinson of Washington, former city resident, will retire Aug. 1 after serving 40 years as editor of the Phi Gamma Delta college fraternity publication.

Wilkinson, 65, is the son of Mrs. Annie Wilkinson of E. Martin St., who is 91. An Ohio Wesleyan University graduate, he was editor of the Daily Leader in 1919-22, and served as national president of the Ohio Wesleyan Alumni Association.

He will serve as consultant to the fraternity magazine until 1960. He and his wife plan to remain at Washington. They have a daughter, Mrs. William Swanson of Carmi, Ill., and a son, Gary Wilkinson, who is editor of a road building association magazine.

Express Firm To Close Agency At Cumberland

CHARLESTON — Railway Express Agency, Inc., received Public Service Commission authority today to discontinue its agency at New Cumberland.

The company had explained that the Pennsylvania Railroad received permission last March 30 to change its New Cumberland station from agency to non-agency status. The railroad agent also served Railway Express there.

The express company said that traffic formerly handled at New Cumberland will be serviced through facilities at Weirton, seven miles away.

Pennsy Railroad Is Fined $10,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission said yesterday it had been notified the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. was fined $10,000 in the Federal District Court at Philadelphia on July 24 after pleading "no contest" to charges of making concessions to a freight patron.

A criminal information filed at Philadelphia as a result of an ICC investigation charged the company with ten counts of such concessions to the Weirton Steel Corp. of Weirton, W. Va.

Separate charges against Weirton steel for knowingly accepting the concessions in violation of the interstate commerce laws remain to be tried, probably in September.

The information against the railroad alleged that in the fall of of 1956 it accepted shipments of imported iron ore from Philadelphia consigned to Weirton, knowing that the steel corporation could not accept immediate delivery. The information alleged the railroad then held the shipments in transit for periods ranging from 10 to 46 days to accommodate Weirton, and thereby granted special concessions prohibited by law.

Palestine Girl Named Children's Camp Aide

EAST PALESTINE — Miss Marsha Joan Lemley of R. D. 1, a student at Muskingum College, will serve as a counselor for crippled children's sessions at Camp Pittenger near McCutchenville during August.

C. H. Klippel, director of the camp sponsored by the Ohio Society for Crippled Children, said 28 counselors will report Thursday for an orientation period. Miss Lemley is preparing for a career in speech therapy.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I keep a cedar closet or chest fragrant and mothproof?

A. If you will make a practice of sanding lightly the inside of your cedar closet or chest once a year, this will reopen the pores of the wood, releasing its natural oil which repels moths.

Q. How can I loosen a nut which has become tightly rusted on a bolt?

A. Flush the nut and bolt with some kerosene, and, after giving this a few minutes to work in, remove the nut with a close - fitting wrench.

Q. How can I overcome the annoying ticking of the bedroom clock?

A. Cover it with a glass bowl of some kind. It can then be seen without being heard.

Rains In Waynesburg On Traditional Day

At 1:15 a.m. rain watchers reported a shower. So this July 29 went down as the 74th in the last 83 years that rain fell, according to boosters of the tradition.

'Showdown' Due Today In Judge Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The attempt of J. Harvey Crow of Urbana to show bias and prejudice against a Fayette County common pleas judge comes to a showdown today in the Ohio Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt gave Crow until today to show why affidavits against Judge John Case should stand. Unless Crow is more convincing today than he was Tuesday, the affidavits will be dismissed, the chief justice indicated at a hearing Tuesday.

Crow is seeking to prevent Judge Case from hearing Crow's motion to be made a party to two Fayette County suits. Crow, a disbarred attorney, claims a one-half interest by assignment in a $100,000 slander action by Beverly C. Walls of Urbana against John R. Trace of Washington Court House. He also seeks to become a party in a $37,000 suit for alleged malicious prosecution by William Tumbleson against Walter Noble, both of Bloomingburg.

Noting that Crow is not now a party to either suit, Weygandt said the law is clear that only a party to a suit—or counsel—can file an affidavit of bias and prejudice. Weygandt's citation of the law took him by surprise, Crow said at Tuesday's hearing. The court gave him another day to prepare an answer.

Editor Of Fraternity Publication To Retire

EAST PALESTINE — Cecil J. Wilkinson of Washington, former city resident, will retire Aug. 1 after serving 40 years as editor of the Phi Gamma Delta college fraternity publication.

Wilkinson, 65, is the son of Mrs. Annie Wilkinson of E. Martin St., who is 91. An Ohio Wesleyan University graduate, he was editor of the Daily Leader in 1919-22, and served as national president of the Ohio Wesleyan Alumni Association.

He will serve as consultant to the fraternity magazine until 1960. He and his wife plan to remain at Washington. They have a daughter, Mrs. William Swanson of Carmi, Ill., and a son, Gary Wilkinson, who is editor of a road building association magazine.

Express Firm To Close Agency At Cumberland

CHARLESTON — Railway Express Agency, Inc., received Public Service Commission authority today to discontinue its agency at New Cumberland.

The company had explained that the Pennsylvania Railroad received permission last March 30 to change its New Cumberland station from agency to non-agency status. The railroad agent also served Railway Express there.

The express company said that traffic formerly handled at New Cumberland will be serviced through facilities at Weirton, seven miles away.

Pennsy Railroad Is Fined $10,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission said yesterday it had been notified the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. was fined $10,000 in the Federal District Court at Philadelphia on July 24 after pleading "no contest" to charges of making concessions to a freight patron.

A criminal information filed at Philadelphia as a result of an ICC investigation charged the company with ten counts of such concessions to the Weirton Steel Corp. of Weirton, W. Va.

Separate charges against Weirton steel for knowingly accepting the concessions in violation of the interstate commerce laws remain to be tried, probably in September.

The information against the railroad alleged that in the fall of of 1956 it accepted shipments of imported iron ore from Philadelphia consigned to Weirton, knowing that the steel corporation could not accept immediate delivery. The information alleged the railroad then held the shipments in transit for periods ranging from 10 to 46 days to accommodate Weirton, and thereby granted special concessions prohibited by law.

DiSalle Names Two To Civil Rights Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Henrietta Looman of Canton and Albert J. Dillehay of Akron have been named to the Ohio Civil Rights Commission by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

DiSalle said Tuesday the fifth member would be named before today's meeting.

Dillehay, a Republican, assistant superintendent of schools in Akron, was named to the three-year term. Mrs. Looman, also a Republican, has a four-year term. She is a member of Canton's Fair Employment Practice Commission and the Canton Urban League.

Two Democrats were previously named to the commission. They were Richard E. Guggenheim of Cincinnati, chairman, for a one-year term and Roosevelt S. Dickey of Cleveland to serve for two years.

Commission members will receive $5,000 a year plus expenses. They will name a full-time $12,000-a-year director.

After initial appointments expire, all terms will be five years.

DiSalle also announced that Chairman Edward J. Kenealy of the Public Utilities Commission will replace Commissioner Ralph A. Winter, a Republican, of Lodi, effective immediately. Winter's term expired last February but he continued to serve.

Kenealy, a Democrat, had 18 months of a six-year term remaining. The shift enables Kenealy to receive $16,000 a year and to serve longer. He had been at $10,000 and unable to get a raise because officials cannot get pay raises during their term of office.

The governor said he expected to name an appointee to Kenealy's term today.

Group Backs Kennedy For Presidential Bid

GUILFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gov. Abraham Ribicof and the state's Democratic Central Committee have formally backed Massachusetts Sen. John Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Dynamiting Reported At Stark Tavern

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Six sticks of dynamite were exploded in front of a bar in suburban Waco Thursday night—only hours after Gov. Michael V. DiSalle announced a special grand jury would be impaneled here to investigate gambling and other vice problems in Stark County.

Target of the blast was the Army & Navy Union Garrison 555, also hit by a bomb on Monday.

No one was hurt in the latest bombing, but windows in automobiles 40 feet away were smashed.

There were five customers in the bar, formerly the Waco Sports Club, when the explosion came shortly after 11 p.m.

Alliance Mayor David Mainwaring earlier had charged DiSalle with playing politics and attempting to "take the glory" away from local authorities in the vice and gambling cleanup campaign.

Sheriff Harry W. Grossglaus said no motive has been established for the bombings in his office's investigations.

Owner of the building is listed as Fanny Marzocco, of Canton. The Army & Navy Union's William McKinley Garrison 555 has occupied its quarters there only since last month.

Editor Convicted For Unlawful Sale

CLEVELAND (AP)—For unlawful sale of stock in a bakery he operated last summer, the editor of a German language newspaper here faces a maximum sentence of 30 years in prison and a fine of $30,000.

Stefan Deubel, 43, the editor who came here from Germany in 1951, was convicted Tuesday by a jury which heard 22 days of argument, testimony and instruction then took only an hour and 45 minutes to reach a verdict of guilty.

Deubel, who edited the newspaper Waechter und Anzeiger, was convicted on three counts of selling stock unlawfully and three counts of selling stock without a license. The state charged that Deubel sold stock which was not registered to 32 persons for a total of $10,000. The company into which these persons bought, Cleveland Food Products, Inc., was operated from May to August, 1958, by Deubel and then failed, the prosecution said.

Slimy Traffic Jam

TOKYO (AP) — Six policemen were summoned to a slimy traffic jam today — 300 eels wriggling all over an intersection. The eels landed in the street when a trolley and a fishmonger's truck collided. It took half an hour for police to collect them.

Area Growers Alerted Too Late Potato Blight

LISBON—The Columbiana County extension service office is calling the attention of potato growers to a warning that late blight has been found in Ohio.

Dr. J. D. Wilson of the Ohio experiment station reported the condition to Robert Partyka, extension plant pathologist at Ohio State University.

It is present in the Marietta area and also in the south central area of Pennsylvania. Potato growers are advised by Partyka to watch their plants carefully and to spray throughly with the proper fungicides. Cool nights and moisture are ideal for the disease to start.

Bordeaux mixture, fixed coppers, Dithane and certain other chemicals are recommended for spray, according to Partyka, in his information to County Agent Floyd Lower.

Beer Permit Lifted At Waterford Park

The permit for sale of beer at Waterford Park Race Track has been suspended by the West Virginia Beer Commission for the remainder of the meeting through Aug. 8.

The permit is held by the Berlo Vending Co., which serves the track, and was lifted reportedly for sale of liquor in the clubhouse. The suspension became effective Monday.

Speeder Forfeits $20

LISBON — George Ramsey, 21, of N. Jefferson St. forfeited $20 bond Tuesday in Mayor John Todd's court when he failed to appear for a scheduled hearing on a charge of speeding. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Dynamiting Reported At Stark Tavern

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Six sticks of dynamite were exploded in front of a bar in suburban Waco Thursday night—only hours after Gov. Michael V. DiSalle announced a special grand jury would be impaneled here to investigate gambling and other vice problems in Stark County.

Target of the blast was the Army & Navy Union Garrison 555, also hit by a bomb on Monday.

No one was hurt in the latest bombing, but windows in automobiles 40 feet away were smashed.

There were five customers in the bar, formerly the Waco Sports Club, when the explosion came shortly after 11 p.m.

Alliance Mayor David Mainwaring earlier had charged DiSalle with playing politics and attempting to "take the glory" away from local authorities in the vice and gambling cleanup campaign.

Sheriff Harry W. Grossglaus said no motive has been established for the bombings in his office's investigations.

Owner of the building is listed as Fanny Marzocco, of Canton. The Army & Navy Union's William McKinley Garrison 555 has occupied its quarters there only since last month.

Editor Convicted For Unlawful Sale

CLEVELAND (AP)—For unlawful sale of stock in a bakery he operated last summer, the editor of a German language newspaper here faces a maximum sentence of 30 years in prison and a fine of $30,000.

Stefan Deubel, 43, the editor who came here from Germany in 1951, was convicted Tuesday by a jury which heard 22 days of argument, testimony and instruction then took only an hour and 45 minutes to reach a verdict of guilty.

Deubel, who edited the newspaper Waechter und Anzeiger, was convicted on three counts of selling stock unlawfully and three counts of selling stock without a license. The state charged that Deubel sold stock which was not registered to 32 persons for a total of $10,000. The company into which these persons bought, Cleveland Food Products, Inc., was operated from May to August, 1958, by Deubel and then failed, the prosecution said.

Slimy Traffic Jam

TOKYO (AP) — Six policemen were summoned to a slimy traffic jam today — 300 eels wriggling all over an intersection. The eels landed in the street when a trolley and a fishmonger's truck collided. It took half an hour for police to collect them.

Area Growers Alerted Too Late Potato Blight

LISBON—The Columbiana County extension service office is calling the attention of potato growers to a warning that late blight has been found in Ohio.

Dr. J. D. Wilson of the Ohio experiment station reported the condition to Robert Partyka, extension plant pathologist at Ohio State University.

It is present in the Marietta area and also in the south central area of Pennsylvania. Potato growers are advised by Partyka to watch their plants carefully and to spray throughly with the proper fungicides. Cool nights and moisture are ideal for the disease to start.

Bordeaux mixture, fixed coppers, Dithane and certain other chemicals are recommended for spray, according to Partyka, in his information to County Agent Floyd Lower.

Beer Permit Lifted At Waterford Park

The permit for sale of beer at Waterford Park Race Track has been suspended by the West Virginia Beer Commission for the remainder of the meeting through Aug. 8.

The permit is held by the Berlo Vending Co., which serves the track, and was lifted reportedly for sale of liquor in the clubhouse. The suspension became effective Monday.

170 Retired Steelworkers Demand More Pension Pay

Some 170 of them came out of retirement in Clairton, Pa., Tuesday to dramatize their demands for better pensions.

Their demands posted on signs, the pensioners marched to the entrance of U.S. Steel Corp.'s strike-bound Clairton works and circled the picket area twice.

"We've got to have a living wage for retired men as well as working men," said Leonard Pickering, vice president of the United Steelworkers Pensioners Assn., Dist. 15.

Pickering said the average pension is $60 a month. He said the men want $4 a month for each year of service.

Meanwhile in Ohio, Gov. Michael DiSalle urged President Eisenhower in a telegram to seek an early end to the steel strike. A prolonged strike, said DiSalle, would severely harm more than 100,000 Ohio steelworkers.

In Washington, the Commerce Department notified 110 steel companies still operating that the government may call on them to divert part of their output to military contractors.

As for the 500,000 striking steelworkers, some are beginning to feel a pinch in their pocketbooks.

Most have drawn their last full paychecks, placing them at the mercy of their savings accounts. The same goes for 78,000 workers furloughed in industries allied to steel.

Improved School Sanitation Among County Systems Cited

LISBON — School sanitation was difficult a few years ago when there were many small one- or two-room schools, plus a few larger frame buildings, according to J. L. McBride, county superintendent of schools.

School cleanliness was always a problem. Vermin infestation required vigilance and help of professional exterminators.

Today, school buildings in Columbiana County are practically all large, modern fireproof structures and with completion of Beaver Local's building program next term, there will be no old wooden buildings in the county system, McBride said.

New, fireproof buildings are easy to keep clean with use of modern equipment. Vermin are getting rare indeed.

School officials, however, consider the help of the sanitarian from the County Health Department as a necessity, McBride said. The sanitarian checks not only the cleanliness of the buildings and kitchens, but the water supply and the sewage disposal system.

Most of the school districts have full-time school nurses who keep close watch on the health of the children. The school nurse helps with the immunization program, takes care of daily emergencies, keeps health records and contacts parents. The work of the school nurses is co-ordinated by the County Health Department.

Academically, in the teaching of health, officials endeavor to keep the health textbooks and materials modern. Health curriculum is checked periodically to see that it meets the needs of the boys and girls.

The schhol lunch program is a most valuable adjunct to individual health, according to McBride. Excellent balanced, hot meals are served each noon to 70 to 85 per cent of the students in the county school system. It is the best meal of the day for many.

The physical education program in the various new gymnasiums and outdoor playgrounds, and the inter-scholastic athletic programs all contribute to building strong bodies, mentally and physically. Similar school health programs are in effect in the exempted villages of the county, Supt. McBride said.

Potato Growers Slate Out-Of-State Tours

LISBON — A number of potato growers of Columbiana and Mahoning Counties have scheduled a tour to northern Pennsylvania and Western New York state next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Floyd Lower, Columbiana County extension agent, said some of the group will attend the New York potato field day at Waterville on Aug. 6.

The tour has been arranged by the Columbiana-Mahoning Potato Growers Association and the Agricultural Extension Service.

Boy, 3, Drowns

CLEVELAND (AP)—On an outing Tuesday with his uncle, a local priest, at Huntington Park Beach, John Smith, 3, drowned in Lake Erie. The Rev. Wilfred Smith took John and four other children of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Smith, of Cleveland, to the beach. He said he had just checked on the children minutes before the little boy's body was found.

Mrs. Margaret Thayer was elected president at the meeting of the auxiliary of the Glenmoor volunteer fire department Monday night in the Glenmoor Fire Hall.

She appointed the following standing committees: Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton, ways and means; Mrs. Beverly Griffin, birthday and flowers, and Mrs. Dorothy Grimes and Mrs. Thelma Shuffert, dining-room.

Mrs. Helen Beagle, secretary, conducted business and Mrs. Dorothy Rogers, gave the financial report.

Mrs. Anna Stepanovich reported the sum of $38.25 was realized from the sale of lunches at firemen's meetings.

Mrs. Joseph Reed was reimbursed for expenses at the previous social hour.

A thank-you card was read from Mrs. Brace Crawford, recovering from a recent illness.

Plans for a carnival in the near future will be outlined at the meeting Aug. 17 at the hall. Mrs. Beagle and Mrs. Grimes will be hostesses.

Delegates to the recent state convention at Toledo reported at the meeting of the auxiliary of the Marine Corps League Monday night in the detachment home.

Mrs. June Twyford, Mrs. Mary Diddle and Mrs. Odessa Burns gave highlights.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Twyford, president, and Mrs. Burns, chaplain, gave the opening prayer.

A letter of thanks was read from Mayor Fred Lawrence and Safety-Service Director Joseph Ross for the new flag presented for the City Hall.

Mrs. Florence McCoy and Mrs. Emma Wilson reported on the recent public spaghetti dinner.

Mrs. Adelaide Kirkland of Toledo sent a letter of appreciation for hospitality shown during her visit.

Tentative plans were discussed for the state staff meeting in October with the place to be announced.

Mrs. Diddle, hospital chairman, Mrs. Florence Buzzard, Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Burns were in charge of the ward party Tuesday at the Deshon Veterans Hospital in Butler.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dorothy Blazer, assisted by Mrs. McCoy.

The next meeting will be Aug. 24 and Mrs. Burns will be hostess.

Mrs. Kathleen Green, president, conducted brief business.

Plans were made to attend the all-day picnic of the aerie Sunday at Valley Park.

Mrs. Ella Smith was reported a patient at Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh.

The next meeting will be Aug. 10 at the hall.

Prizes were awarded to T. J. Peterson, 92, the oldest person; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Starkey of Canonsburg, oldest married couple; Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Starkey of Barberton, largest family; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Statler of Whipple, Ohio, traveling the longest distance, and Mrs. Clyde Householder of Chester, oldest granddaughter.

Four babies under one year were given recognition.

Officers elected for 1960 were Barry Tolson, president; Mrs. Bertha Brown, secretary, and Mrs. Edith Fryman, treasurer.

Next year's reunion will be held July 31 and the place will be announced.

A pre-nuptial shower honoring Miss Marjorie Evans was given Saturday night by Miss Doris Carroll at her home on St. Clair Ave.

Games and contests were the diversions with prizes going to Mrs. J. C. Kelly, Mrs. Robley Evans and Miss Evans. Moving pictures were taken.

Gifts were displayed in a pastel clothes basket arranged on a green cloth-covered table on which flowers were placed in silver bowls.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Francis Carroll, Mrs. Harold Peterson, Miss Loretta Duffy, Mrs. Nancy Downard and Mrs. Estelle McNicol.

The buffet table was covered with a Madiera cloth and the setting included a seven-branch white wroughtiron candelabra holding lighted white tapers and figurines with pink and white flowers.

Miss Evans is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robley Evans, 713 North St., and will become the bride of Gary K. Gibbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gibbs, 205 5th St., Chester, at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The open church rites will be held at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church with the Rev. Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Child Needs Diversions When Ill

We can assume that any child, especially under 10 or 12 will sometimes be sick enough to be kept in bed for some days. If he is very ill, he may not want to get up. But his illness may be such that he would like to be up and running about. Often, too, there are several days of slow convalescence when the physician orders that the child remain in bed. Whether the doctor's orders are carried out depends usually on how effectively the parent managed and guided this child when he was well.

By Garry Meyers

If the parent doesn't follow the doctor's orders, and the child gets up when he shouldn't, his life may be imperiled or he may be a lifetime cripple or invalid. This is especially true of illnesses like scarlet fever and rheumatic fever.

IT'S NOT ENOUGH for the parent to keep the sick child in bed. She needs to keep him there with a minimum of resistance and a maximum of co-operation. If the slightly ill or convalescing child stays in bed with great resistance, his recovery may be slower. Besides, he and the whole family will be unhappy.

Two problems are involved: how surely the child had learned while well to accept No as final and inevitable and how well this child had learned to amuse himself.

See what resourcefulness the child has who for many years had enjoyed making things for fun with his hands — drawing, painting, molding and the like; who likes to solve puzzles and riddles and read jokes; who enjoys hearing good stores or reading them; who has often enjoyed good programs on the air. He has many things to talk about and think about.

HIS HOURS in bed can be made shorter and more tolerable if he can make things he can have displayed on his wall. He might even find enjoyment if he writes letters to his friends and receives letters from them.

Also, the slightly sick or convalescing child who has learned during his early years to co-operate in the family finds his restrictions to bed easier to accept.

My bulletin "Self-Reliance" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Child Needs Diversions When Ill

We can assume that any child, especially under 10 or 12 will sometimes be sick enough to be kept in bed for some days. If he is very ill, he may not want to get up. But his illness may be such that he would like to be up and running about. Often, too, there are several days of slow convalescence when the physician orders that the child remain in bed. Whether the doctor's orders are carried out depends usually on how effectively the parent managed and guided this child when he was well.

By Garry Meyers

If the parent doesn't follow the doctor's orders, and the child gets up when he shouldn't, his life may be imperiled or he may be a lifetime cripple or invalid. This is especially true of illnesses like scarlet fever and rheumatic fever.

IT'S NOT ENOUGH for the parent to keep the sick child in bed. She needs to keep him there with a minimum of resistance and a maximum of co-operation. If the slightly ill or convalescing child stays in bed with great resistance, his recovery may be slower. Besides, he and the whole family will be unhappy.

Two problems are involved: how surely the child had learned while well to accept No as final and inevitable and how well this child had learned to amuse himself.

See what resourcefulness the child has who for many years had enjoyed making things for fun with his hands — drawing, painting, molding and the like; who likes to solve puzzles and riddles and read jokes; who enjoys hearing good stores or reading them; who has often enjoyed good programs on the air. He has many things to talk about and think about.

HIS HOURS in bed can be made shorter and more tolerable if he can make things he can have displayed on his wall. He might even find enjoyment if he writes letters to his friends and receives letters from them.

Also, the slightly sick or convalescing child who has learned during his early years to co-operate in the family finds his restrictions to bed easier to accept.

My bulletin "Self-Reliance" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

During Ohio Assembly

Cautious View Prevailed In Benefits For Workers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Democratic - dominated Legislature, just ended, showed the liberal side of its hand to unemployed and injured workers.

But that liberality had a limit. When the chips were down—and when labor officials were pushing their hardest for top-dollar benefits increases — the lawmakers slammed on the brakes.

Strongest sentiment for higher benefits was in the Senate. The upper chamber always draws a larger share of its membership from the big cities than does the house. The House, with a larger rural representation, took a more cautious view.

Organized labor's biggest victory, perhaps was the legalization of Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) — and that came early in the session.

The level of state-paid unemployment compensation was raised considerably. Present top benefit for an unemployed worker is $33 a week for 26 weeks. The new maximum, efective Oct. 15, will be $42 a week for 26 weeks.

Present law permits allowances for two dependent children at $3 a week each. The new law sets up three dependency allowances for a jobless worker, the first one at $5 and the other two at $3, and permits a dependent spouse to be counted as the first dependent.

All told, then, the top benefit will become $53 a week against the present $39.

The battle over workmen's compensation was one of the last big ones of the session and the final and successful draft of the bill was the seventh.

The top benefit level for an injured worker will be $49 a week, probably effective in November. Now it is $40.25 a week.

The death benefit to survivors of a worker killed on the job will go from $12,000 to $15,000, plus three dependency allotments of $1,000 each, a maximum of $18,000.

The benefit boost for the old claimants caused another row when DiSalle threatened to veto the entire measure unless the lawmakers provided the estimated seven million dollars to pay for them. The Legislature at the last minute, jammed through a special franchise tax on employers of three cents for every $100 of payroll.

The early SUB battle was over the Ohio Supreme Court's ruling that SUB benefits were remuneration in the meaning of the Ohio law and had to be deducted from state-paid benefits.

The Legislature passed one bill which legalized SUB on a permanent basis. Then, with Republican support, it later passed another bill providing immediate release of millions of dollars of SUB funds backed up during the months the SUB issue was being fought out in the courts.

In another action important to those still jobless as a result of the 1958 recession, the Legislature continued, until Dec. 26, the special, temporary 13 - week extension of unemployment benefits for those who have exhausted their regular 26 weeks of benefits and still are jobless.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Democratic - dominated Legislature, just ended, showed the liberal side of its hand to unemployed and injured workers.

But that liberality had a limit. When the chips were down—and when labor officials were pushing their hardest for top-dollar benefits increases — the lawmakers slammed on the brakes.

Strongest sentiment for higher benefits was in the Senate. The upper chamber always draws a larger share of its membership from the big cities than does the house. The House, with a larger rural representation, took a more cautious view.

Organized labor's biggest victory, perhaps was the legalization of Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) — and that came early in the session.

The level of state-paid unemployment compensation was raised considerably. Present top benefit for an unemployed worker is $33 a week for 26 weeks. The new maximum, efective Oct. 15, will be $42 a week for 26 weeks.

Present law permits allowances for two dependent children at $3 a week each. The new law sets up three dependency allowances for a jobless worker, the first one at $5 and the other two at $3, and permits a dependent spouse to be counted as the first dependent.

All told, then, the top benefit will become $53 a week against the present $39.

The battle over workmen's compensation was one of the last big ones of the session and the final and successful draft of the bill was the seventh.

The top benefit level for an injured worker will be $49 a week, probably effective in November. Now it is $40.25 a week.

The death benefit to survivors of a worker killed on the job will go from $12,000 to $15,000, plus three dependency allotments of $1,000 each, a maximum of $18,000.

The benefit boost for the old claimants caused another row when DiSalle threatened to veto the entire measure unless the lawmakers provided the estimated seven million dollars to pay for them. The Legislature at the last minute, jammed through a special franchise tax on employers of three cents for every $100 of payroll.

The early SUB battle was over the Ohio Supreme Court's ruling that SUB benefits were remuneration in the meaning of the Ohio law and had to be deducted from state-paid benefits.

The Legislature passed one bill which legalized SUB on a permanent basis. Then, with Republican support, it later passed another bill providing immediate release of millions of dollars of SUB funds backed up during the months the SUB issue was being fought out in the courts.

In another action important to those still jobless as a result of the 1958 recession, the Legislature continued, until Dec. 26, the special, temporary 13 - week extension of unemployment benefits for those who have exhausted their regular 26 weeks of benefits and still are jobless.

2 New Superintendents Selected As Sessions Open

Two new superintendents were named and two re-elected at the opening session of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Free Methodist Church Tuesday at the Anderson Blvd. campgrounds.

The new superintendents are the Rev. H. W. Van Valin, pastor of the church in Apollo, elected to the Fairmont-Huntington District, succeeding the Rev. J. S. Mitchell, and the Rev. R. L. Armstrong, pastor of the Mt. Washington church in Pittsburgh, to the Butler District succeeding the Rev. R. S. McGrew.

Because of an accumulation of years, Rev. Mitchell and Rev. McGrew were ineligible for new terms.

Rev. Van Valin was superintendent of the Uniontown District for eight years before his pastorate in Apollo, and at one time was superintendent of the Butler District for a four-year period.

Rev. Armstrong, pastor of the Mt. Washington church for the past nine years, served at one time as pastor in Fairmont, and Leechburgh.

Lay members to serve on the stationing committee, which appoints the ministers to their 1959-60 assignments, were also elected.

They include W. L. Wood of Tarentum, to represent the Pittsburgh-Butler District; L. H. Laire of New Brighton, Rochester District; E. H. Savage of Hopewood, Uniontown District, and H. D. Kingcaid of Fairmont, Fairmont-Huntington District.

The Rev. Charles Littel of Saskatchewan, Canada, was received into membership of the conference and will be given an appointment Friday night.

The Rev. Fred Schreffler, pastor at Follansbee, officially transferred his membership from the Oil City Conference to the Pittsburgh Conference and was received into membership.

The Rev. Lawrence Cartmill of Huntington and Roger Jesson of Pennsylvania were elected to deacon orders.

Worship service last night was directed by the Board of Aggressive Evangelism and the Rev. E. W. Cowsert of Uniontown, speaker, related the promotional work of the denomination in the area.

Dr. W. J. Stonehouse, former missionary secretary of the Canadian Holiness Movement, which recently merged with the Free Methodist Church, will speak tonight at 7:30, and Thursday night. He will tell of his recent trip to Egypt.

Champion Traffic Ticket Writer Tags Mayor's Car

CHICAGO (AP)—Detective Jack Muller, the police department's champion traffic ticket writer, tagged Mayor Richard J. Daley's shiny, new black limousine Tuesday, right in front of City Hall.

The mayor was not present when Muller wrote out a ticket for the car, which he said was in a no-parking zone.

Muller, whose normal assignment is a far North Side police district, was in the Loop to appear in a court case in City Hall. After leaving the court room, he walked around the City-County Building and tagged the mayor's car and 23 other autos for being illegally parked.

One of the mayor's drivers watched from a City Hall window. Then he rushed out and drove the mayor's car into the city garage across the street.

Daley learned about the ticket when he returned to his office. He said it was a surprise, but that the parking fine would be paid.

To Lay Cornerstone

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cornerstone - laying ceremonies for the Methodist Theological School south of Delaware will be held at 3 p.m. EDT, Saturday. Completion of building is due next summer, officials said. Bishop Hazen G. Werner, resident bishop of the Ohio Area of the Methodist Church and president of the school's board of trustees, will preside.

Board, Faubus Squared Away For New Fight

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock School Board and Gov. Orval E. Faubus apparently are headed for another disagreement over plans for desegregation of public high schools here.

The governor, responding to the board's request to disclose any plan he might have for legally retaining segregation, Tuesday suggested that two schools be integrated and two left for segregationists.

Board President Everett Tucker Jr. promptly retorted that the Faubus proposal would mean more integration than the board's plan to admit a few Negroes, if necessary, to each of three white schools.

Fifty-five Negroes expressed a desire to attend once-white schools when the board registered 2,000 pupils last week. Schools are scheduled to reopen Sept. 8, just four days short of a year after Faubus closed them against integration.

Faubus said the board should poll white parents to determine how many did not object to integration and then divide their children and the city's Negro students between Hall and Horace Mann high schools. This would leave Central and Technical high schools segregated.

Camp Meeting Workers Due

Workers will begin to arrive Thursday morning for the opening of the 122nd annual services at the Hollow Rock campgrounds near Yellow Creek.

Many worshippers, representing about 12 states, have arrived and are residing in cottages dormitories on the grounds.

Dr. T. M. Anderson of Wilmore, Ky., a veteran teacher at Asbury College and Seminary, will be the main evangelist.

Other speakers will include Dr. H. W. Couchenour of University Park, Iowa, and the Rev. Charles Williams of Lancaster.

Music director will be Prof. Marvin G. Dean of Asbury College, who is making his fourth appearance at Hollow Rock. The Rev. Ray Snyder of New Alexandria will be organist and Mrs. Lynn Smith of Canton will be at the piano.

The children's program will be under the direction of Miss Jane Huff and Mrs. Virginia Peck. Another worker will be Miss Janie Bradford of Washington, Pa., who has for many years, directed the children's program.

The last names of Romeo and Juliet were Montague and Capulet, respectively.

Woman Fined In Car Check

A Chester woman was fined $25 and costs for lack of a driver's license Tuesday after police conducted a traffic check on Indiana Ave., Chester. Two other motorists were cited, while Mayor Burton Ward held hearings for two drivers arrested earlier this month.

Mrs. Etta Mae Robinson of 4th St. was fined for lack of a valid driver's license.

Paul Mosser of Pennsylvania Ave., also cited for lack of a driver's license, and Charles Yeager of Phoenix Ave., charged with speeding, are scheduled to receive hearings Saturday before Mayor Ward.

They and Mrs. Robinson were cited on Indiana Ave. last night in a traffic and radar speed check by police.

Mayor Ward fined Carroll Mills of Jefferson St., Newell, $10 and costs for lack of an inspection sticker. He was cited July 14 on Carolina Ave.

Earl Kiger of New Cumberland was fined $10 and costs for speeding. He was arrested Thursday on Virginia Ave.

100 At Reunion Of School Group

HAMMONDSVILLE — The Second annual Pine Grove School reunion and homecoming of pupils, teachers and friends was held Sunday and more than 100 guests attended.

A program in Pine Grove Church followed a picnic dinner in the school. Mrs. Alice Householder, vice president, was in charge.

Gifts were presented Mrs. Eva Lowry Pierce, the oldest woman student present; J. Ross Mathes, the oldest man student; Mrs. Lena Jefferies, the oldest teacher, and Mrs. Adam Gruszecki, the former student with the largest family present. William Beacon, 92, one of the oldest living class members, attended both the 1958 and 1959 reunions. A picnic supper followed.

Plans were made for the 1960 homecoming to be held July 3rd.

Owner Testifies In Milk Hearing

Temple McAllister of Warren, president of the McAllister Dairy Farms, Inc., was on the witness stand in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon this morning to testify in his firm's suit against East Liverpool and the city Board of Health.

Judge Joel H. Sharp began hearing testimony Monday in the suit filed by the dairy to determine if the city and health authorities can legally refuse the firm a permit to sell milk here if milk standards are met.

The action is based on the board's denial of a milk permit to the dairy in 1958 for claimed failure to meet board standards for the sale of Grade A milk. Judge Sharp in December issued a temporary restraining order, allowing the dairy to deliver here if the board's inspection rates were paid.

The suit followed the arrest of a McAllister driver in November for failure to comply with the board's ruling to correct conditions at the Warren plant, and to pay set inspection fees.

Fund Transfer Asked For Juvenile Home

LISBON — A request for $983 from the county children's home fund for use in remodeling bills at a structure at East Palestine has been filed with Common Pleas Court by the county commissioners.

The money is slated for payment of some costs of the repairs of the East Palestine home donated by Roger Kyes of Detroit for a juvenile home as a memorial to his late parents.

In June, commissioners asked for $25,000 from the county fund for the East Palestine home and operations, but Judge Joel H. Sharp refused the lump transfer, ruling payments would be made as bills accumulate. Some $1,644 was transferred in June.

Before the East Palestine home can house youngsters, repairs must be completed, and the structure must be inspected for approval by state authorities.

Pennsylvanian Held In Molestation Case

LISBON — William Fawcett, 50, of Springdale, Pa., formerly of Lisbon, was bound over to the September Grand Jury Tuesday evening by Mayor John Todd in a molestation case.

He is accused of taking undue liberties with a young boy Monday afternoon in a Little League diamond dugout, west of the county garage. Mayor Todd set bond at $3,000.

Police said Fawcett was sleeping there for several days and parents reported he coaxed children in the dugout and made improper advances.

Ohio's 1959 Corn Crop May Be All-Time High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 1959 corn crop may be the biggest in its history, says the Ohio Crop Reporting Service.

The federal agency Tuesday estimated the 1959 crop would be nine per cent larger than the 1958 yield. Agriculture experts said recent rains probably have alleviated June's near - drought conditions.

The 1959 yield was estimated at 247,111,000 bushels, an average of 61 bushels per acre. This equals the 1954 record.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average near or a little above normal. Normal high 84 north to 87 south, normal low 62-64. Warm Thursday, turning cooler north portion Friday and Saturday and a little cooler south Saturday and Sunday. Warming again on Monday. Rainfall will total one-half to one inch and locally more in scattered thundershowers tonight and Thursday and in south and central portions Friday. Chance of scattered thundershowers again around Monday.

Camp Meeting Workers Due

Workers will begin to arrive Thursday morning for the opening of the 122nd annual services at the Hollow Rock campgrounds near Yellow Creek.

Many worshippers, representing about 12 states, have arrived and are residing in cottages dormitories on the grounds.

Dr. T. M. Anderson of Wilmore, Ky., a veteran teacher at Asbury College and Seminary, will be the main evangelist.

Other speakers will include Dr. H. W. Couchenour of University Park, Iowa, and the Rev. Charles Williams of Lancaster.

Music director will be Prof. Marvin G. Dean of Asbury College, who is making his fourth appearance at Hollow Rock. The Rev. Ray Snyder of New Alexandria will be organist and Mrs. Lynn Smith of Canton will be at the piano.

The children's program will be under the direction of Miss Jane Huff and Mrs. Virginia Peck. Another worker will be Miss Janie Bradford of Washington, Pa., who has for many years, directed the children's program.

The last names of Romeo and Juliet were Montague and Capulet, respectively.

Woman Fined In Car Check

A Chester woman was fined $25 and costs for lack of a driver's license Tuesday after police conducted a traffic check on Indiana Ave., Chester. Two other motorists were cited, while Mayor Burton Ward held hearings for two drivers arrested earlier this month.

Mrs. Etta Mae Robinson of 4th St. was fined for lack of a valid driver's license.

Paul Mosser of Pennsylvania Ave., also cited for lack of a driver's license, and Charles Yeager of Phoenix Ave., charged with speeding, are scheduled to receive hearings Saturday before Mayor Ward.

They and Mrs. Robinson were cited on Indiana Ave. last night in a traffic and radar speed check by police.

Mayor Ward fined Carroll Mills of Jefferson St., Newell, $10 and costs for lack of an inspection sticker. He was cited July 14 on Carolina Ave.

Earl Kiger of New Cumberland was fined $10 and costs for speeding. He was arrested Thursday on Virginia Ave.

Owner Testifies In Milk Hearing

Temple McAllister of Warren, president of the McAllister Dairy Farms, Inc., was on the witness stand in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon this morning to testify in his firm's suit against East Liverpool and the city Board of Health.

Judge Joel H. Sharp began hearing testimony Monday in the suit filed by the dairy to determine if the city and health authorities can legally refuse the firm a permit to sell milk here if milk standards are met.

The action is based on the board's denial of a milk permit to the dairy in 1958 for claimed failure to meet board standards for the sale of Grade A milk. Judge Sharp in December issued a temporary restraining order, allowing the dairy to deliver here if the board's inspection rates were paid.

The suit followed the arrest of a McAllister driver in November for failure to comply with the board's ruling to correct conditions at the Warren plant, and to pay set inspection fees.

Fund Transfer Asked For Juvenile Home

LISBON — A request for $983 from the county children's home fund for use in remodeling bills at a structure at East Palestine has been filed with Common Pleas Court by the county commissioners.

The money is slated for payment of some costs of the repairs of the East Palestine home donated by Roger Kyes of Detroit for a juvenile home as a memorial to his late parents.

In June, commissioners asked for $25,000 from the county fund for the East Palestine home and operations, but Judge Joel H. Sharp refused the lump transfer, ruling payments would be made as bills accumulate. Some $1,644 was transferred in June.

Before the East Palestine home can house youngsters, repairs must be completed, and the structure must be inspected for approval by state authorities.

Pennsylvanian Held In Molestation Case

LISBON — William Fawcett, 50, of Springdale, Pa., formerly of Lisbon, was bound over to the September Grand Jury Tuesday evening by Mayor John Todd in a molestation case.

He is accused of taking undue liberties with a young boy Monday afternoon in a Little League diamond dugout, west of the county garage. Mayor Todd set bond at $3,000.

Police said Fawcett was sleeping there for several days and parents reported he coaxed children in the dugout and made improper advances.

Ohio's 1959 Corn Crop May Be All-Time High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 1959 corn crop may be the biggest in its history, says the Ohio Crop Reporting Service.

The federal agency Tuesday estimated the 1959 crop would be nine per cent larger than the 1958 yield. Agriculture experts said recent rains probably have alleviated June's near - drought conditions.

The 1959 yield was estimated at 247,111,000 bushels, an average of 61 bushels per acre. This equals the 1954 record.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average near or a little above normal. Normal high 84 north to 87 south, normal low 62-64. Warm Thursday, turning cooler north portion Friday and Saturday and a little cooler south Saturday and Sunday. Warming again on Monday. Rainfall will total one-half to one inch and locally more in scattered thundershowers tonight and Thursday and in south and central portions Friday. Chance of scattered thundershowers again around Monday.

100 At Reunion Of School Group

HAMMONDSVILLE — The Second annual Pine Grove School reunion and homecoming of pupils, teachers and friends was held Sunday and more than 100 guests attended.

A program in Pine Grove Church followed a picnic dinner in the school. Mrs. Alice Householder, vice president, was in charge.

Gifts were presented Mrs. Eva Lowry Pierce, the oldest woman student present; J. Ross Mathes, the oldest man student; Mrs. Lena Jefferies, the oldest teacher, and Mrs. Adam Gruszecki, the former student with the largest family present. William Beacon, 92, one of the oldest living class members, attended both the 1958 and 1959 reunions. A picnic supper followed.

Plans were made for the 1960 homecoming to be held July 3rd.

Calcutta Firemen Complete Arrangements For Carnival

A parade of about 50 units will be held next Friday evening, Norman Neal, president, said. Details of the parade are being worked out.

He said about 30 or 40 fire equipment units have been lined up for the parade along with the Beaver Local High School Band and the drill team of East Liverpool VFW Post 66. There will be prizes in several categories of the parade, he said.

There will be five amusement rides, including a ferris wheel, at the carnival on the firemen's lot across the street from the fire station. Carl Utter of Adena will furnish rides.

Concession stands will be operated by the firemen, plus those of Liverpool Township East and West, Glenmoor, Lawrenceville and West Point.

The Calcutta firemen's auxiliary will be in charge of the food tent. Activities of the firemen will be suspended except for work on the carnival and the parade, Neal said. The regular dance will be held this Saturday night but not the following Saturday, he said.

Series Of Clinics Set In Hancock Next Month

He Likes Inexpensive Election Campaigns

Reporting to the secretary of state on his primary race in which he won the Republican nomination for Kentucky attorney general, Cannon listed $2 for a photograph and 50 cents for stamps.

Beaver Men Held For Grand Jury

Two Beaver Falls men were bound over to the September Grand Jury of Beaver County Court after a hearing Tuesday on three charges involving an alleged attempt to rape a 23-year-old East Palestine R. D. 1 woman.

Counsel for Robert Reed, 26, and Mervin Davidson, 23, entered pleas of not guilty before Justice of the Peace Mrs. Frances Zuck of Beaver Falls R. D. 2.

Both are in Beaver County Jail and probably will be released on bond, Mrs. Zuck said. They are charged on three counts each, including assault with intent to ravish, robbery and aggravated assault and battery.

The incident is alleged to have occurred in Marion Township after the men brought the woman to Beaver County, the squire said, and they took $4 from her. They were arrested by the Rochester barracks of the State Police.

Grange Shown Slides Of Girl Scout Camp

Color slides of the international Senior Girl Scout Roundup in Colorado last month were screened by Mrs. Eugene Seeley and Miss Marsha Seeley of Chester at a meeting of the Fairview Grange Tuesday night at the Pughtown Grange Hall.

James Plimpton, 14, of near Pughtown reported on a conservation camp last week at Tomlinson Run State Park to which he was sponsored by the Grange.

Mrs. Dale Hukill sang, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Parkins. Mrs. Mary Ewing gave a reading. The traveling prize was won by Mrs. Thelma Herron.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Rhody Herron and committee. The next meeting will be Aug. 11 when officers will be elected.

Fruit Group To Meet

LISBON — The annual meeting of the Salem Fruit Growers Cooperative Association will be held Monday at Greenford High School, according to Floyd Lower, county extension agent. The association operates cold storage facilities and a packing plant.

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Reducers Must Guard Against Self Pity

Ida Jean Kain

This dietitian has been writing a column on weight control for a good many summers. It is my growing conviction that once you get into the spirit of things, reducing is a stimulating challenge. Take the attitude that a diet helps you accomplish what you want, and the resistance to calorie curbing wanes.

One reducer found this psychology to be unexpectedly effective: When tempted by some fattening favorite she said to herself, "I can eat that if I want to and it will taste delicious for about five minutes — but it will put off the day when I can zip into my right size dress." She reported that with the reasoning she could happily turn down any tempter.

DIETERS, ANY time you start to feel sorry for yourself because you have to give up the assorted carbohydrates you enjoy, analyze what you are really giving up—the burdensome pounds. Recognize self-pity for what it is—a way of finding justification for not doing anything about a problem. This is a self-deception that can keep you overweight forever!

When you lick the weight problem in your mind, the actual reducing is easy. Catch a glimpse of the possibilities of what you can do for yourself and slimming becomes a sort of adventure. Then you see for yourself that your attitude toward reducing is far more important than the number of pounds that stand between you and ideal weight.

Keep your goal in mind and you can stay enthusiastically on the course. If final victory is a long way off, it is good strategy to keep your mind on a near goal. Let your near goal be one size slimmer by Labor Day. Move toward your goal in steps; each victory will renew your enthusiasm.

SUMMER MENU

Breakfast

Choice of glass of skim milk with breakfast or mid-morning.

Luncheon

Dinner

Barbecued frankfurter (1) — 1 tbsp. catsup, 1 tbsp. minced onion, vinegar, mustard, seasoning; toasted long bun, small; vegetable salad bowl — wedge of lettuce, quartered tomato, sliced cucumber, French dressing, 1 tbsp.; cantaloupe half; coffee or tea (clear).

Total calories for day—1,065.

Fire Departments Plan Hose Relay

Four fire departments and two Civilian Defense units will take part in a "hose relay" Sunday at 2 p. m. at Glenmoor.

The Glenmoor, Liverpool Township West, Calcutta and Wellsville fire departments, along with the CD units from Lisbon and Glenmoor, will give the demonstration.

The relay will be an experiment to see if water can be pulled for a mile from Lake Samary to the Glenmoor School.

A disaster area will be layed out along the Y & O Rd., cut over to Stanton Ave. and along Center St. to the school, Kenneth Mills, Glenmoor fire chief said.

35 Rotarians Tour Plant At Chester

Kashuba described the history of the firm — founded in 1940 with six employes — and the production and sales activities. The company now has as many as 135 workers in peak business periods, and has an annual payroll of some $520,000.

The T-K firm has developed new types of colored asphalt shingles in the past two years in line with modern construction trends and has applied for patents on the ly. fundamental process, Kashuba stated.

The firm also offers a shingle which seals under the sun's heat, providing a more durable and protective roofing, he said. Kashuba pointed out river transportation has been a key factor in locating the plant here, allowing an economical link between its asphalt sources.

Really Rolls To Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fire trucks really rolled to a barn fire at nearby Plain City Tuesday. Rushing to the blaze, neighboring West Jefferson's 1,200-gallon tank truck skidded on a slippery road and rolled over twice, injuring three firemen, not seriously.

4 New Members Enter Scout Group

Four new members were received at the meeting of the East Liverpool Area Girl Scout Council Monday night in the Little House at Dixonville.

Mrs. Fred Lawrence, membership chairman, introduced Mrs. Marvin Kinsey, Mrs. H. F. Banfield Jr., Mrs. Thomas Doland and Mrs. John Kozora of Wellsville.

Mrs. William Ogilvie, vice president, conducted business with reports given by Mrs. Charles R. Waggoner, secretary, and Miss Helen Auld, treasurer.

Barbara Yager, Marsha Seeley, Susan Wilson and Mary Smith spoke on experiences at the Senior Scout Roundup held recently at Colorado Springs, Colo. They showed pictures and displayed their "swaps." Written reports were read from Rosa Hughey and Gerry Buchanan, who were unable to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Joseph Prager reported a final registration of 117 girls for the Intermediate Day Camp which closes today at the Little House.

A training session for neighborhood chairmen will be held in August under the direction of Miss Ellen Monroe, executive secretary.

There will be no August meeting and the next will be Sept. 28 at the Little House.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: It's that time of year again and I need help. For years my husband has taken the family on a camping trip the last two weeks in August. We put up with it but I can't honestly say anyone enjoys these outings but him.

Last year I announced I was through carting dishes, bedding and cooking utensils and washing clothes by hand in an old tub. I explained a person has to be cracked to leave a comfortable home and work like a truck horse and call it a "vacation."

I told him I want to rent a cabin with running water, inside facilities, refrigerator and complete kitchen. He said, "Okay, next year we'll do it that way."

Now he has started to talk tents again. The kids are fed up, too, and say they'd rather stay home if we can't get a cabin. What do you suggest?—MRS. HAD IT AND HATE IT.

Dear Had It and Hate It: Tell Nature Boy you and the kids have been good sports for years and now it's his turn. Make it plain if he wants a family vacation he'll have to put up with running water, indoor plumbing and all the modern conveniences. If he refuses, tell him you'll be waiting at home with the mosquito lotion when he's finished tenting on the old camp ground.

Rights Forfeited

Dear Ann: I'm one of those boobs who got married too young. I eloped at 17 against the advice of my parents. Three years later I found myself with two sons and a divorce.

My ex-husband remarried and took the boys because he said they'd be better off with him. I couldn't offer them anything so I agreed. Three weeks later he brought them back. His new wife didn't want them.

I was desperate. My parents offered to adopt them and it seemed the best way out. Now the boys are 3 and 5 years old and they are getting out of hand. They talk sassy to everyone and no one corrects them. When I try, my father says I should mind my own business because they are his children, not mine.

What can I do? I am heartsick over this.—FOOLISH MOTHER.

Dear Foolish: What a price to pay — and you may have to keep paying for years to come! When you permitted your parents to adopt the boys you forfeited your rights as a mother.

Your only chance is to get across to your dad that lack of guidance and discipline is bad for the boys. He undoubtedly has no respect for your views, so ask your clergyman to talk to him for the sake of the children.

Shattered Romance

Dear Ann: My problem is about to worry me crazy. For four years I went with a fellow I will call Paul.

Six months ago we became engaged. We broke up over nothing two months ago. I asked why he wanted his ring back. He said he didn't know.

Last week he became engaged to a girl he hardly knows. I'm so sick over this I can't eat or sleep. If I could hear from his own lips that he loves her and not me I would feel better. As things stand I can't accept it. Please help me. —MILLY.

Dear Milly: Why must you hear it from his own lips? Isn't it enough that he took the ring from you and became engaged to someone else? Stop punishing yourself. Accept the realities of the situation and write him off.

Legion Post 374 Receives Award For Seventh Time

American Legion Post 374 in East End has been cited by the national American Legion for outstanding service to young people—the seventh such award.

Allen Goodman, commander, said the commendation was received through the activities of the child welfare committee, headed by James Wallover. The citation was presented to the post by James Creager, second vice commander.

The annual family picnic will be held Aug. 9 at Valley Park off Route 7. A meal will be served at 4 p. m. by the auxiliary, and a ball game will be played between Army and Navy veterans.

Commendation Given Sergeant As Instructor

M.Sgt. Clifford A. Silverthorn Jr., son of Clyde Silverthorn of LaCroft, has been given a letter of commendation by his commanding officer at Ft. Benning, Ga., for his leadership as chief of firing battery with the 15th Artillery, 2nd Infantry Division.

Capt. John A. Todd cited Sgt. Silverthorn for his training of artillery classes which received superior ratings and for his efforts in achieving a similar rating for his section. Silverthorn is a native of Chester.

Navy Secretary At Sea On Fastest Atomic Sub

Secretary William B. Franke and a party of five left here Tuesday night aboard the submarine Skipjack, a 252-foot, blimp-shaped speedster. The submarine was built here, and she works out of the U.S. submarine base here.

Franke planned to observe anti-submarine warfare operations today in the Atlantic Ocean, then return this afternoon.

2 New Projects Proposed By BPW

Two new club projects to be presented for further consideration were discussed at the meeting of the international relations committee of the Business & Professional Women's Club Monday night at the home of the chairman, Miss Margaret Baun, of W. 7th St.

These are designed to promote a better understanding of the problems and characteristics of other countries and will be outlined at the first dinner meeting in August.

Miss Helen Bibbee, program coordinator, was in charge of planning the program for the coming year.

Tentative plans were arranged for the Guest Night observance Jan. 13.

Members of the committee attending were Mrs. Doris McKinnon, vice chairman, Mrs. Carolyn Mountford, Mrs. Mildred Blumenthal, Miss Janice Brookman, Miss Mary Alice Lemal, Mrs. Florence McNicol, Mrs. Adda Hindman and Mrs. Patricia Kapp.

Woman Killed By Car

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A woman was killed here Tuesday night when struck by a car. Police said the victim, about 30, carried no identification. Police said two guards at an iron firm had warned the woman earlier to stop walking in 'the middle of the street.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: It's that time of year again and I need help. For years my husband has taken the family on a camping trip the last two weeks in August. We put up with it but I can't honestly say anyone enjoys these outings but him.

Last year I announced I was through carting dishes, bedding and cooking utensils and washing clothes by hand in an old tub. I explained a person has to be cracked to leave a comfortable home and work like a truck horse and call it a "vacation."

I told him I want to rent a cabin with running water, inside facilities, refrigerator and complete kitchen. He said, "Okay, next year we'll do it that way."

Now he has started to talk tents again. The kids are fed up, too, and say they'd rather stay home if we can't get a cabin. What do you suggest?—MRS. HAD IT AND HATE IT.

Dear Had It and Hate It: Tell Nature Boy you and the kids have been good sports for years and now it's his turn. Make it plain if he wants a family vacation he'll have to put up with running water, indoor plumbing and all the modern conveniences. If he refuses, tell him you'll be waiting at home with the mosquito lotion when he's finished tenting on the old camp ground.

Rights Forfeited

Dear Ann: I'm one of those boobs who got married too young. I eloped at 17 against the advice of my parents. Three years later I found myself with two sons and a divorce.

My ex-husband remarried and took the boys because he said they'd be better off with him. I couldn't offer them anything so I agreed. Three weeks later he brought them back. His new wife didn't want them.

I was desperate. My parents offered to adopt them and it seemed the best way out. Now the boys are 3 and 5 years old and they are getting out of hand. They talk sassy to everyone and no one corrects them. When I try, my father says I should mind my own business because they are his children, not mine.

What can I do? I am heartsick over this.—FOOLISH MOTHER.

Dear Foolish: What a price to pay — and you may have to keep paying for years to come! When you permitted your parents to adopt the boys you forfeited your rights as a mother.

Your only chance is to get across to your dad that lack of guidance and discipline is bad for the boys. He undoubtedly has no respect for your views, so ask your clergyman to talk to him for the sake of the children.

Shattered Romance

Dear Ann: My problem is about to worry me crazy. For four years I went with a fellow I will call Paul.

Six months ago we became engaged. We broke up over nothing two months ago. I asked why he wanted his ring back. He said he didn't know.

Last week he became engaged to a girl he hardly knows. I'm so sick over this I can't eat or sleep. If I could hear from his own lips that he loves her and not me I would feel better. As things stand I can't accept it. Please help me. —MILLY.

Dear Milly: Why must you hear it from his own lips? Isn't it enough that he took the ring from you and became engaged to someone else? Stop punishing yourself. Accept the realities of the situation and write him off.

TO HOLE IN MY HEART: You also have one in your head. Stop buying her gifts and paying her rent and see how long she sticks around.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Facts And Statistics About The Job

No June Baby Has Been President

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Eighteen months from now the White House will have a new occupant.

No one can say now for sure who will be the next President, although a lot of people feel they already know.

The odds are, however, he won't have been born in June. No June baby has ever become president. The biggest months for presidential births have been October and November, each with five.

Here are a few facts and statistics about the job that has been called the most powerful elective office in the world:

George Washington, who died childless, is known as the father of his country. But the champion White House daddy was the 10th President, John Tyler. He had 14 children by two wives.

Presidents tend to have more sons than do average dads. The 33 presidents have fathered 71 sons but only 47 daughters.

James Buchanan, the 15th President, was the only bachelor. But five Presidents married a second time after the deaths of their first wives.

Most popular first name among presidents has been "James." Five were so named.

Not one in a thousand Americans knows the real first name of U.S. Grant, the 18th President, was Hiram. He was baptized Hiram Ulysses but adopted the name Ulysses Simpson Grant after he was so erroneously entered at West Point in 1839.

The first name of Calvin Coolidge was John. The first name of Grover Cleveland was Stephen. The first name of Woodrow Wilson was Thomas.

Shortest - lived President was James A. Garfield, assassinated at 49. Longest-lived was John Adams, who lived to be 90.

He and Thomas Jefferson died on the same day, July 4, 1826.

Virginia has given birth to more U.S. Presidents than any other state, eight. Ohio is next with six.

Only three Presidents have been born West of the Mississippi River —Herbert Hoover, Harry S. Truman, and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Theodore Roosevelt was the youngest man ever to become President — at 42 years, 10 months, 16 days.

Fifteen U.S. Presidents — including both Roosevelts — have been Freemasons.

Millard Fillmore, the 13th President, was apprenticed as a youth to a fuller and dyer. Some time later he paid $30 to buy his "freedom" so he could study to become a teacher.

President Zachary Taylor was briefly the father-in-law of Jefferson Davis, leader of the confederacy. Taylor's daughter Sarah died three months after her marriage to Davis in 1835.

When George Washington died he was one of the wealthier men in America, owning 110,000 acres of land. What a golf course that would have made!

Woman Casts Ballot, Goes Back To Hospital

Then she went back to the hospital bed.

Soviet Russia declared war on Japan two days after the United States dropped an atom bomb on Hiroshima in 1945.

Registration Will Continue For Polio Shots In Midland

Registration for the Midland area polio clinic Aug. 13, for which 2,724 signed up Monday, will continue daily except Saturday and Sunday until Aug. 7 at the Borough Building, the clinic committee decided Tuesday evening.

Registration will be held from 9 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. at the office of Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary. Registration was extended when it was learned that some persons were unable to sign Monday.

Children and adults who have allowed more than a year to pass after the second shot should begin the series of four shots over again, the committee said. Mrs. Margaret Glumac, Midland public school nurse, said many students who received shots in 1955-57 have allowed more than a year to elapse since the second shot.

Enough vaccine for 3,100 shots has been ordered from Eli Lilly & Co. Pharmaceuticals of Indianapolis, Steve Germusa, chairman, said and this with other needed supplies will be purchased from Midland druggists. Local 1212 of the United Steelworkers will underwrite the initial cost of the clinic.

Shots will be administered by Midland doctors on Aug. 13 from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p. m. in the old gymnasium at Lincoln High School for 75 cents each. Those getting shots will report first to their area chairman to pay the fee. Signs will designate each of the nine area chairmen, Germusa said.

Mrs. Glumac will be in charge of obtaining nurses and setting up the clinic in the gym. Necessary tables were offered by Steve Luketich, the committee's representative of Local 1212.

Charles P. Henderson will be in charge of enlisting volunteer workers. The group decided to contact Mrs. William Spisak, director of the Midland Hi-Spot Youth Center for Junior and senior girls to help make cotton balls. Mrs. O. N. Carter was named treasurer.

Area registration and chairmen Monday included Midland Steelworkers Hall area, 853, Mrs. Jack Haggerty; Lincoln High School area, 451, Mrs. O. N. Carter; Midland Heights, 420, Mrs. Chester Cook and Mrs. Pete Vukas; Ohio View-Industry, 353, Mrs. Joseph Benek.

Ohioville, 238, Joe Kadillac; Fairview, 218, Earl Sherman; Smiths Ferry, 77, William McCombs; Georgetown area, 74, Mrs. Harriet Mackall; Shippingport, 36, Carl Gardner, and four others. Henderson and Peter Vuyakovich were in charge of registration.

The committee plans to contact Midland area doctors and invite them to its next meeting Thursday, Aug. 6, at 8 p. m. in the Borough Building.

Editor Dies At 56

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — David Silverman, 56, assistant executive editor of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune since 1956, died Tuesday of a heart attack. Silverman started his newspaper career as an office boy in 1921 on the Minneapolis Star, then the Minnesota Daily Star. He served as managing editor of the Minneapolis Star from 1934 to 1956. He was born in Minneapolis.

House To End Action Today On Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House completes action today on a $3,186,500,000 foreign aid bill already tentatively approved with deep cuts under President Eisenhower's budget figures.

The formal vote sends the bill to the Senate, which may restore some of the nearly 1½ billion dollars the House trimmed from Eisenhower's recommendations.

The President originally asked $3,930,000,000 for the current year's program. Last week he asked another 500 millions as an advance on next year's authorization, but the House Appropriations Committee rejected the request.

Traditionally, the Senate has dealt more generously with foreign aid than the House. But there have been indications that the Senate may pull the purse strings tighter this year than in the past.

The House approved the total recommended by its appropriations committee, although it adopted several amendments not affecting the figures.

Survey On Sex By Teacher Under Board Scrutiny

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Was softspoken Cecil Cook running a legitimate survey in his high school physiology class? Or is he a guy with a mental quirk about sex?

That, in essence, is the question the Los Angeles Board of Education is trying to answer.

Cook, 37, today starts the third day of a hearing to determine whether he is guilty of unprofessional conduct and moral turpitude. If adjudged guilty, he could lose his credentials.

Cook's survey consisted of nine formal questions read aloud, questions from the floor and the students' written replies. Subject: students' habits on kissing, petting and more advanced sexual experience.

At the hearing Tuesday, Calvin Gray, the board's personnel officer, quoted Cook's former employer as saying he didn't believe Cook belonged in a classroom.

First Labor Pact With Automation Benefits Is Signed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Probably the first major labor contract to share the benefits of automation with workers has been agreed upon by leaders of 17,000 West Coast longshoremen and waterfront employers.

The agreement was reached late Tuesday by negotiators for Harry Bridges' independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) and the Pacific Maritime Assn.

The new contract, subject to ratification by both sides, would run three years.

In return for the union's promise to furnish competent personnel to man labor-saving devices, the employers agree to contribute a 1½-million-dollar fund during the first year of the pact as payment for the men's share of increased productivity.

Other gains reported include:

Wage raises of 11 cents an hour for longshoremen and 12½ cents for clerks, bringing the latter up to longshore parity within three years.

An added one-cent per hour employer contribution to the welfare fund if its balance drops below $100,000.

Intermediate Troops Train

Badges Awarded To Wind Up Girl Scout Camp

In upper view a circle of girls stand around Holly Lampman as she shows how to douse a fire properly to prevent it spreading after cooking outdoors. The camps were held on successive Tuesday during the month.

In lower view, a group demonstrates how to sanitize dishes in successive steps in buckets. Over the buckets, left to right, are Miss Lampman, Mary Ann Lemire, Mrs. Pat Skalesky and Carol McKinnon. At far left is Mrs. Eileen McKinnon.

Badges were given to those completing the required work and certificates to those unable to finish due to absences. This will make it possible for them to earn the badge later in regular troop meetings.

Searchers Losing Hope For Missing Youth, 16

With no leads to guide them, searchers were losing all hope of finding Mason Owens, 16, of Savannah, alive.

The canyon took the lives of Owens' two companions—the Rev. Eugene A. Gavigan, 30, and Walter J. Mahany Jr., 16, both of Savannah. The trio went into the canyon last Friday.

FOP Ends Meeting

CLEVELAND (AP) — At the closing session of its annual convention, the Ohio Fraternal Order of Police once again went on record opposing abolition of the death penalty.

Man Who Had Long, Strange Record Of Crime Dies At 73

WASHINGTON (AP)—Frederick Emerson Peters admired people of intelligence, position and reputation. So he spent a lifetime meeting them, conversing with them, and handing them worthless checks.

That lifetime came to an end Saturday in a hotel in New Haven, Conn. Peters, 73, died of a cerebral hemorrhage, leaving behind a long record that the FBI considers one of the strangest in the annals of American crime.

A stickler for detail and a glib talker, Peters liked to pose as a high government official or a celebrity or a highbrow and then pass off a check just big enough to live decently. His checks often netted him less than $10, rarely more than $50.

In his adventures, he used such names as Franklin Roosevelt II, Gifford Pinchot II, Theodore Roosevelt Jr., and Philip Wylie.

Not all his activities caused damage. Posing as administrative secretary to the undersecretary of agriculture, he once called on an instrument firm in Rochester, N.Y. and, in the course of conversation, suggested a change in the design of a rain gauge.

The company lost $60 to Peters on a worthless check. But, after he left, it changed the design as he suggested and improved the gauge.

In his long career, Peters passed checks in almost every part of the country. He served sentences in several federal penitentiaries and state prisons.

He was born in West Salem, Ohio.

Shenango Pottery Wins Verdict Of $248,000

NEW CASTLE — The Shenango Pottery Co. is entitled to $248,000 damages due to a "fast contract deal charged to two former company officials, under a decision handed down in Pittsburgh by Federal Judge Joseph P. Wilson.

The estates of James M. Smith Jr., former president and director, and George B. Zahniser, former official, were defendants in the two-year-old case for which two trials were held.

The two were charged by Shenango stockholders with diverting a government contract to another firm, the New Castle Engineering Co. This firm made a profit of $316,603 in one year on the contract, an amount later cut to $171,603.

Plunging Neckline Latest Word In French Fashions

PARIS (AP) — Small busts, small waists and a recklessly plunging neckline were the words at Tuesday night's showing by Jules Crahay who set the French fashion world agog last season with his first collection for Nina Ricco.

The cut set the tone in Crahay's new collection. Bell skirts with weighted hems fell a couple of inches below the knee. A new elbow length balloon sleeve was a highlight.

Crahay's colors ran to black, gray, brown and red. The collection featured thick woolens and flannels for daytime.

For evening wear there were long fluid sheaths draped to one side, and cocktail dresses with daring decolletage slit to a point.

A Gothic line by Jacques Griffe went in for the chasuble sleeve—an extra large armhold jutting out a few inches with a separate tube sleeve worn underneath.

Griffe suggested a longer waistline with back-dipping wide leather belts and bloused-over bodices.

Hides Underwater

CASSADAGA, N.Y. (AP)—Conrad Kaus, 29, an escapee from Minnesota State Prison, tried to hide underwater in Cassadaga Lake Tuesday after police spotted him. Captured, he had to be revived by artificial respiration. He said he had been serving a 10-year sentence for assault in Minnesota.

NEW CASTLE — The Shenango Pottery Co. is entitled to $248,000 damages due to a "fast contract deal charged to two former company officials, under a decision handed down in Pittsburgh by Federal Judge Joseph P. Wilson.

The estates of James M. Smith Jr., former president and director, and George B. Zahniser, former official, were defendants in the two-year-old case for which two trials were held.

The two were charged by Shenango stockholders with diverting a government contract to another firm, the New Castle Engineering Co. This firm made a profit of $316,603 in one year on the contract, an amount later cut to $171,603.

Plunging Neckline Latest Word In French Fashions

PARIS (AP) — Small busts, small waists and a recklessly plunging neckline were the words at Tuesday night's showing by Jules Crahay who set the French fashion world agog last season with his first collection for Nina Ricco.

The cut set the tone in Crahay's new collection. Bell skirts with weighted hems fell a couple of inches below the knee. A new elbow length balloon sleeve was a highlight.

Crahay's colors ran to black, gray, brown and red. The collection featured thick woolens and flannels for daytime.

For evening wear there were long fluid sheaths draped to one side, and cocktail dresses with daring decolletage slit to a point.

A Gothic line by Jacques Griffe went in for the chasuble sleeve—an extra large armhold jutting out a few inches with a separate tube sleeve worn underneath.

Griffe suggested a longer waistline with back-dipping wide leather belts and bloused-over bodices.

Hides Underwater

CASSADAGA, N.Y. (AP)—Conrad Kaus, 29, an escapee from Minnesota State Prison, tried to hide underwater in Cassadaga Lake Tuesday after police spotted him. Captured, he had to be revived by artificial respiration. He said he had been serving a 10-year sentence for assault in Minnesota.

Cleveland Gains Split In Twi-Night Meeting With Red Sox

Indians Take First Contest Behind Bell

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cal McLish (13-3) goes after his ninth straight victory tonight, facing the Boston Red Sox' Tom Brewer (7-7) as the Cleveland Indians seek to regain the American League lead they lost Tuesday night.

Boston bounced the Indians into second place by beating them 8-4 in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader. The Tribe captured the opener 5-2 on Gary Bell's six-hitter. The Chicago White Sox beat New York to take a half-game advantage in the pennant chase.

Home runs by Frank Malzone and Peter Runnels accounted for five Red Sox runs and wiped out a 3-0 first inning Cleveland lead in the nightcap.

Starting withleadoff man Billy Martin's inside - the - park home run, the Indians teed off on Boston's Bill Monbouquette and almost chased him. But he hung on and silenced the Tribe pretty well the rest of the way. He got relief help from Mike Fornieles, who notched the final three outs.

But starter Don Ferrarese could not hold the lead. Malzone slammed a three-run homer in the fourth inning to tie it.

Jim Perry, pitching in relief only two days after his sparkling two-hit shutout, served up a home run to Pete Runnels in the fifth with a man aboard. That put Boston in front, 5-4, and Perry lost his third in nine decisions.

The Indians had tallied a run in the fourth on Francona's double and a single by George Strickland. Francona, returning to the lineup following his leg injury, had four hits in six at bats in the two games to raise his average to a sizzling .404.

The Red Sox added three wrap-up runs in the seventh inning off Mike Garcia, third of five Tribe pitchers. Pinch - hitters Marty Keough and Gary Geiger drove in the markers. Garcia was hit on his pitching hand by Geiger's liner and went to a hospital for an X-ray examination.

In the first game, Bell was in hot water most of the way because of nine walks. He managed to pitch out of the jams, however, and left 13 Bosox stranded on the basepaths as he posted his 10th victory against nine setbacks.

The Indians cinched the decision in the fourth inning when they tallied five runs and chased starter Frank Sullivan (6-7).

Up to then, the Red Sox had a 2-0 lead on Geiger's home run in the second inning and a run-scoring single by the ex-Indian outfielder in the fourth frame.

In the twinbill, Geiger, tabbed a weak hitter when he played for Cleveland last season, had three hits and four RBI. Bell finally conquered Geiger in the ninth inning of the opener with the bases loaded and two out. He got him on a short fly to left field.

The Indians' attendance soared to 905,606 when 29,525 paying customers turned out.

6 Cities Interested In League

New Pro Football Loop Plans To Start Next Year

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fans have been promised a new era in sports: More major leagues for both football and baseball, bringing the pros to almost every section of the country.

Football was added to the promise Tuesday when Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League reported that a rival loop planned to start operations next year in six cities.

"The more teams and the more competition the better," Bell said.

Just the day before, a group in New York had announced that a new major baseball league planned to be in business by 1961.

Bell gave out word about the new football league while testifying before the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee. He spoke in favor of legislation that would exempt some aspects of professional football, baseball, basketball and hockey from the antitrust laws.

The committee hears Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, on the same matter today.

Only skimpy details about the new league were revealed by Bell, who said he planned to meet today with three financial backers. The meeting would be either in Philadelphia or Atlantic City, Bell said.

The commissioner, talking to newsmen after the hearings, said Houston, Denver and Minneapolis surely would have teams in the league. He added that Dallas, New York and Los Angeles were almost certain starters.

After the first season, Bell said, the league plans to expand to eight teams. Possible candidates for the added franchises would be Boston, Buffalo, Louisville, Miami, Seattle and San Francisco, he said.

Giles Clouts 2 Homers In Fourth Straight Win

Wellsville leads the City Softball League with four straight victories.

Giles put Wellsville ahead 1-0 in the fourth inning with a home run, then broke a 1-1 tie in the 11th inning with his second roundtripper of the contest.

MacPhail Says 'Silly' To Third Major League

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — Larry MacPhail, the former baseball magnate who once advocated four major leagues, says the current plan to form a third one is "silly."

MacPhail, 69, who turned to raising race horses and cattle on his Maryland farm after retiring as New York Yankee president in 1947, gave a typically frank appraisal of the new league's prospects Tuesday night. He spoke up when asked about speculation that he would be president of the Continental League being formed by a group headed by New York lawyer William Shea.

Discounting such speculation, he expressed doubt that any such independently born league could attain real major league status.

"It's silly to try to do that, in my opinion."

Eighteen months ago MacPhail broke a 10-year silence on public statements about baseball to criticize the National League's approval of moving the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers to the West Coast.

He said at that time he had favored working toward four major leagues as early as 1947 by letting the Pacific Coast League start on its way toward a third major league. His idea also called for the eventual merger of the American Assn. and International League into a fourth major circuit.

McMillan Back, Sparks Redlegs To 6-4 Victory

CINCINNATI (AP) — Roy McMillan was back Tuesday night at his shortstop berth, hustling and hitting and giving the Cincinnati Reds punch at the plate and in the field.

In the eighth inning, with two men on base, McMillan banged a hard single over short that broke a 4-4 tie. Johnny Temple's sacrifice fly added an insurance marker.

McMillan had chafed on the sidelines since breaking a bone in his throwing hand June 14.

It was against the same Cardinals that he injured the hand, on a putout play in which Joe Cunningham slid into second.

The Reds didn't solve the pitching of rookie Ernie Broglio until the seventh inning Tuesday night but then climbed quickly over the Cards.

With the score tied in the eighth, Frank Thomas and Willie Jones walked around a sacrifice to Ed Bailey.

Then came McMillan's tie-breaking safety. Pinch hitter Jim Pendleton walked to fill the bases and Temple's RBI fly followed.

Brooks Lawrence, now permanently assigned to the Reds' bullpen, got the Cards out in order in the ninth to protest the win for reliefer Jim Brosnan.

Jerry Lynch's double had led off the Red's seventh inning uprising. Ed Bailey singled him home. After McMillan walked, singled by John Powers, Temple and Vada Pinson brought in three more runs.

Temple, celebrating the return of his keystone partner, had three RBI for the night.

Don Blasingame walked, Joe Cunningham singled and Bill White hit a sacrifice fly for the Cards' first inning run. The same three men made it 2-0 in the third with this combination: double-single-forceout.

Rookies Show Some Promise With Steelers

CALIFORNIA, Pa. — It is still too early to get a "real line" on the rookie crop working at the Pittsburgh Steelers' training camp in California State Teachers College.

The newcomers have worked, without competition from the veterans, for the past four days. This pre - camp workout was climaxed with a full-scale scrimmage.

Off that lone scrimmage, which really isn't enough to tell a full story, a couple of fellows stood out.

The best, all-around player on the field was Claude Billingsley, a linebacker from Northeastern College in Oklahoma. He has the cat-like quickness needed to play the middle guard position and he hits with the authority of a fellow 30 pounds heavier than his 200 pounds. And, heavy duty work in the off-season took off about 12 pounds which he hopes to regain before the season opens.

Elsewhere on the defense, John Perkins a 250-pound tackle from Mississippi Southern, Ronnie Hall from Missouri Valley, a fine defensive back; Bob Stark, a tough corner man from Pitt and Ernie Merk, another defensive back from the West Coast, all forced the coaches call a word of encouragement.

Offensively, a couple of big backs —C. R. Roberts and Jim Smith — caught the eye of head Coach Buddy Parker. Prior to the opening of camp, Parker said he needed a big fullback and both these boys have size and each showed he has the speed and is not afraid when the "mixing gets rough."

Roberts played at USC and then did a short tour in the Canadian League. Smith played at Compton College and also spent a brief time in Canada.

Another boy who played well was Charley Tolar, a back who is no bigger (five six and one-half) than your next door neighbor's kid, but who is tough enough to stand up against Ingo Johannsen's (sic) right hand.

Tolar comes from one of those Louisiana parishes with an unpronounceable cajun name. He played for a small teachers college down there and he was one of the leading ground gainers in the college ranks for the past two years.

This week, the veterans arrived in camp and the real work begins. The Steelers will open the preseason schedule against the Cleveland Browns in Forbes Field on Aug. 11. Kickoff is at 8:30 p. m. (EDT). The game will be played for the Syria Temple Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital Fund.

Burbick Fires 158 In Jaycee Tourney

Craig Burbick, East Liverpool's entry in the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament held Tuesday at Mansfield, finished eight strokes in back of the leader, Bob Tosko of Youngstown. Tosko won the event with a 150 while Burbick carded an 82-76-158 over Mansfield's Westbrook Country Club. Burbick failed to qualify for the National Jaycee meet at Portsmouth, Va. The top four go to the National meet.

No Birthday Celebration, Stengel Says

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Casey Stengel, the gnarled, little old man who manages the New York Yankees, is going to be 69 Thursday but there'll be no birthday parties.

"Retirement, I don't know anything about," said Stengel. "They started that talk 12 years ago and I'm still around, ain't I?"

What about a party?

"If I were in Kansas City like the last two years, it could be," said Casey. "But, then, the way we've been going this year they don't want to give me a birthday and I don't care for one."

Casey's primary target is to pull together his Yankee forces for the stretch drive in the championship race. Even with his team crippled from injuries and sickness, Casey and his Yankees are not quite ready to abdicate.

"Look at that guy there," said Stengel, pointing to pitcher Bob Turley. "He's had pains in the chest and that's the first time he's done any throwing in a long time. He might be coming around. Our catcher (Yogi Berra) is starting to hit. Now if I could pull my infield together, we might get going a little bit."

Tice Hurls Grace U.P. To 5-0 Win In Y-Loop

Jim Tice pitched Grace U. P. to a 5-0 win over Oakland Free Methodist on a brilliant one-hitter in the YMCA-Church Softball League.

Chicago Takes ½ Game Lead

White Sox Nip Yanks, 4-3, On Smith's Homer In 8th

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox, still cuttin' it close and making the most of Al Smith's home runs, have the American League lead all to themselves again—with the help of a Boston shake-up that left Cleveland all shook up.

The last place Red Sox, warned by owner Tom Yawkey to get a move on or move out, whipped Cleveland 8-4 in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Tuesday night after losing the opener 5-2. The loss dropped the Indians to second, a half-game behind the White Sox, who beat New York 4-3 and dumped the world champions into the second division.

It was the White Sox' 24th one-run victory of the season and their seventh while winning nine of their last 13 games. They got it on Smith's two-run homer in the eighth. It was Smitty's 10th of the year and half of them have nailed one-run victories.

The Kansas City A's won their ninth in a row, longest streak in the majors this season, and replaced the Yankees in fourth place with a 6-1 breeze over Washington. The A's, last just two weeks ago, now are within a half-game of third place Baltimore, beaten 8-3 at Detroit.

In the National League, Gene Freese's eighth-inning home run gave Philadelphia a 3-2 victory at San Francisco, cutting the Giants' lead to a half-game over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who reclaimed second place with a 9-4 romp over Pittsburgh. Milwaukee slipped to third with a 5-4 defeat by the Chicago Cubs that ended the Braves' winning string at five. St. Louis blew a 4-0 lead and lost 6-4 to Cincinnati.

The Red Sox, after losing six straight, now have taken two of three in a five-game series at Cleveland. They put the nightcap away on Frank Malzone's three-run homer in the fourth inning and Pete Runnels' two-run homer in the fith. Bill Monbouquette (3-3) was the winner, giving up Billy Martin's solo homer in a three-run first inning and needing Mike Fornieles' mop-up in the ninth. Jim Perry was the loser in relief.

Malzone, at third, was the only man at his usual post in the Red Sox infield for the second game. Rookie Jim Mahoney replaced Don Buddin at short, and rookie Pumpsie Green was at second. Runnels shifted to first, replacing Vic Wertz. Green, Boston's first Negro player, singled for his first major league hit ahead of Runnels' homer.

The Indians took the first game in a five-run fourth that beat Frank Sullivan (6-7). A two-run single by George Strickland gave them the lead and Jim Baxes' two run homer capped it. Gary Bell (10-9) was the winner, although walking nine.

Smith's home run gave the White Sox and Billy Pierce a 4-1 lead, but the Yankees scored twice in the ninth on two singles, an error and Don Larsen's pinch-hit sacrifice fly. Pierce (12-11) singled and scored for a 2-1 lead in the fifth on a single by Nellie Fox, who had three hits. Ralph Terry (3-8) lost it.

Southpaw Don Mossi (9-4) beat the Orioles with a three-hitter, giving up his lone walk ahead of Willie Tasby's first-inning home run. Tasby also drove in the other run, with a sixth-inning sacrifice fly. The Tigers, tying it in the first on Neil Chrisley's homer, beat Hoyt Wilhelm (10-7) with four in the third on four walks and two singles.

The A's bagged their 12th victory in 13 games with four runs in the first against Camilo Pascual (11-8), who walked the bases full with two out, then gave up a single by Kent Hadley and a double by Harry Chiti. Johnny Kucks (5-6), won his second in a row by allowing only five hits—four by Jim Lemon, who hit his 23rd home run in the second inning.

Gomes Is Selected 'Fighter Of Month'

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I., is named "Fighter of the Month" in the Ring magazine monthly ratings announced today.

Gomes came off the floor four times to win a decision over Paul Jorgensen of Port Arthur, Tex., in what was billed as a junior lightweight championship bout, and as a result was advanced from eighth to fourth in the featherweight rankings.

The heavyweight division saw minor shakeups. Henry Cooper of England was dropped from third to fifth because of inactivity, and Sonny Liston of Philadelphia and Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif., each advanced a notch to third and fourth, respectively. Machen's kayo of Reuben Vargas brought about his new rating.

Jim Perry, pitching in relief only two days after his sparkling two-hit shutout, served up a home run to Pete Runnels in the fifth with a man aboard. That put Boston in front, 5-4, and Perry lost his third in nine decisions.

The Indians had tallied a run in the fourth on Francona's double and a single by George Strickland. Francona, returning to the lineup following his leg injury, had four hits in six at bats in the two games to raise his average to a sizzling .404.

The Red Sox added three wrap-up runs in the seventh inning off Mike Garcia, third of five Tribe pitchers. Pinch - hitters Marty Keough and Gary Geiger drove in the markers. Garcia was hit on his pitching hand by Geiger's liner and went to a hospital for an X-ray examination.

In the first game, Bell was in hot water most of the way because of nine walks. He managed to pitch out of the jams, however, and left 13 Bosox stranded on the basepaths as he posted his 10th victory against nine setbacks.

The Indians cinched the decision in the fourth inning when they tallied five runs and chased starter Frank Sullivan (6-7).

Up to then, the Red Sox had a 2-0 lead on Geiger's home run in the second inning and a run-scoring single by the ex-Indian outfielder in the fourth frame.

In the twinbill, Geiger, tabbed a weak hitter when he played for Cleveland last season, had three hits and four RBI. Bell finally conquered Geiger in the ninth inning of the opener with the bases loaded and two out. He got him on a short fly to left field.

The Indians' attendance soared to 905,606 when 29,525 paying customers turned out.

New Pro Football Loop Plans To Start Next Year

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fans have been promised a new era in sports: More major leagues for both football and baseball, bringing the pros to almost every section of the country.

Football was added to the promise Tuesday when Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League reported that a rival loop planned to start operations next year in six cities.

"The more teams and the more competition the better," Bell said.

Just the day before, a group in New York had announced that a new major baseball league planned to be in business by 1961.

Bell gave out word about the new football league while testifying before the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee. He spoke in favor of legislation that would exempt some aspects of professional football, baseball, basketball and hockey from the antitrust laws.

The committee hears Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, on the same matter today.

Only skimpy details about the new league were revealed by Bell, who said he planned to meet today with three financial backers. The meeting would be either in Philadelphia or Atlantic City, Bell said.

The commissioner, talking to newsmen after the hearings, said Houston, Denver and Minneapolis surely would have teams in the league. He added that Dallas, New York and Los Angeles were almost certain starters.

After the first season, Bell said, the league plans to expand to eight teams. Possible candidates for the added franchises would be Boston, Buffalo, Louisville, Miami, Seattle and San Francisco, he said.

MacPhail Says 'Silly' To Third Major League

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — Larry MacPhail, the former baseball magnate who once advocated four major leagues, says the current plan to form a third one is "silly."

MacPhail, 69, who turned to raising race horses and cattle on his Maryland farm after retiring as New York Yankee president in 1947, gave a typically frank appraisal of the new league's prospects Tuesday night. He spoke up when asked about speculation that he would be president of the Continental League being formed by a group headed by New York lawyer William Shea.

Discounting such speculation, he expressed doubt that any such independently born league could attain real major league status.

"It's silly to try to do that, in my opinion."

Eighteen months ago MacPhail broke a 10-year silence on public statements about baseball to criticize the National League's approval of moving the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers to the West Coast.

He said at that time he had favored working toward four major leagues as early as 1947 by letting the Pacific Coast League start on its way toward a third major league. His idea also called for the eventual merger of the American Assn. and International League into a fourth major circuit.

McMillan Back, Sparks Redlegs To 6-4 Victory

CINCINNATI (AP) — Roy McMillan was back Tuesday night at his shortstop berth, hustling and hitting and giving the Cincinnati Reds punch at the plate and in the field.

In the eighth inning, with two men on base, McMillan banged a hard single over short that broke a 4-4 tie. Johnny Temple's sacrifice fly added an insurance marker.

McMillan had chafed on the sidelines since breaking a bone in his throwing hand June 14.

It was against the same Cardinals that he injured the hand, on a putout play in which Joe Cunningham slid into second.

The Reds didn't solve the pitching of rookie Ernie Broglio until the seventh inning Tuesday night but then climbed quickly over the Cards.

With the score tied in the eighth, Frank Thomas and Willie Jones walked around a sacrifice to Ed Bailey.

Then came McMillan's tie-breaking safety. Pinch hitter Jim Pendleton walked to fill the bases and Temple's RBI fly followed.

Brooks Lawrence, now permanently assigned to the Reds' bullpen, got the Cards out in order in the ninth to protest the win for reliefer Jim Brosnan.

Jerry Lynch's double had led off the Red's seventh inning uprising. Ed Bailey singled him home. After McMillan walked, singled by John Powers, Temple and Vada Pinson brought in three more runs.

Temple, celebrating the return of his keystone partner, had three RBI for the night.

Giles Clouts 2 Homers In Fourth Straight Win

Rookies Show Some Promise With Steelers

CALIFORNIA, Pa. — It is still too early to get a "real line" on the rookie crop working at the Pittsburgh Steelers' training camp in California State Teachers College.

The newcomers have worked, without competition from the veterans, for the past four days. This pre - camp workout was climaxed with a full-scale scrimmage.

The best, all-around player on the field was Claude Billingsley, a linebacker from Northeastern College in Oklahoma. He has the cat-like quickness needed to play the middle guard position and he hits with the authority of a fellow 30 pounds heavier than his 200 pounds. And, heavy duty work in the off-season took off about 12 pounds which he hopes to regain before the season opens.

Elsewhere on the defense, John Perkins a 250-pound tackle from Mississippi Southern, Ronnie Hall from Missouri Valley, a fine defensive back; Bob Stark, a tough corner man from Pitt and Ernie Merk, another defensive back from the West Coast, all forced the coaches call a word of encouragement.

Offensively, a couple of big backs —C. R. Roberts and Jim Smith — caught the eye of head Coach Buddy Parker. Prior to the opening of camp, Parker said he needed a big fullback and both these boys have size and each showed he has the speed and is not afraid when the "mixing gets rough."

Roberts played at USC and then did a short tour in the Canadian League. Smith played at Compton College and also spent a brief time in Canada.

Another boy who played well was Charley Tolar, a back who is no bigger (five six and one-half) than your next door neighbor's kid, but who is tough enough to stand up against Ingo Johannsen's (sic) right hand.

Tolar comes from one of those Louisiana parishes with an unpronounceable cajun name. He played for a small teachers college down there and he was one of the leading ground gainers in the college ranks for the past two years.

This week, the veterans arrived in camp and the real work begins. The Steelers will open the preseason schedule against the Cleveland Browns in Forbes Field on Aug. 11. Kickoff is at 8:30 p. m. (EDT). The game will be played for the Syria Temple Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital Fund.

Burbick Fires 158 In Jaycee Tourney

Craig Burbick, East Liverpool's entry in the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament held Tuesday at Mansfield, finished eight strokes in back of the leader, Bob Tosko of Youngstown. Tosko won the event with a 150 while Burbick carded an 82-76-158 over Mansfield's Westbrook Country Club. Burbick failed to qualify for the National Jaycee meet at Portsmouth, Va. The top four go to the National meet.

No Birthday Celebration, Stengel Says

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Casey Stengel, the gnarled, little old man who manages the New York Yankees, is going to be 69 Thursday but there'll be no birthday parties.

"Retirement, I don't know anything about," said Stengel. "They started that talk 12 years ago and I'm still around, ain't I?"

What about a party?

"If I were in Kansas City like the last two years, it could be," said Casey. "But, then, the way we've been going this year they don't want to give me a birthday and I don't care for one."

Casey's primary target is to pull together his Yankee forces for the stretch drive in the championship race. Even with his team crippled from injuries and sickness, Casey and his Yankees are not quite ready to abdicate.

"Look at that guy there," said Stengel, pointing to pitcher Bob Turley. "He's had pains in the chest and that's the first time he's done any throwing in a long time. He might be coming around. Our catcher (Yogi Berra) is starting to hit. Now if I could pull my infield together, we might get going a little bit."

Chicago Takes ½ Game Lead

White Sox Nip Yanks, 4-3, On Smith's Homer In 8th

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox, still cuttin' it close and making the most of Al Smith's home runs, have the American League lead all to themselves again—with the help of a Boston shake-up that left Cleveland all shook up.

The last place Red Sox, warned by owner Tom Yawkey to get a move on or move out, whipped Cleveland 8-4 in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Tuesday night after losing the opener 5-2. The loss dropped the Indians to second, a half-game behind the White Sox, who beat New York 4-3 and dumped the world champions into the second division.

It was the White Sox' 24th one-run victory of the season and their seventh while winning nine of their last 13 games. They got it on Smith's two-run homer in the eighth. It was Smitty's 10th of the year and half of them have nailed one-run victories.

The Kansas City A's won their ninth in a row, longest streak in the majors this season, and replaced the Yankees in fourth place with a 6-1 breeze over Washington. The A's, last just two weeks ago, now are within a half-game of third place Baltimore, beaten 8-3 at Detroit.

In the National League, Gene Freese's eighth-inning home run gave Philadelphia a 3-2 victory at San Francisco, cutting the Giants' lead to a half-game over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who reclaimed second place with a 9-4 romp over Pittsburgh. Milwaukee slipped to third with a 5-4 defeat by the Chicago Cubs that ended the Braves' winning string at five. St. Louis blew a 4-0 lead and lost 6-4 to Cincinnati.

The Red Sox, after losing six straight, now have taken two of three in a five-game series at Cleveland. They put the nightcap away on Frank Malzone's three-run homer in the fourth inning and Pete Runnels' two-run homer in the fith. Bill Monbouquette (3-3) was the winner, giving up Billy Martin's solo homer in a three-run first inning and needing Mike Fornieles' mop-up in the ninth. Jim Perry was the loser in relief.

Malzone, at third, was the only man at his usual post in the Red Sox infield for the second game. Rookie Jim Mahoney replaced Don Buddin at short, and rookie Pumpsie Green was at second. Runnels shifted to first, replacing Vic Wertz. Green, Boston's first Negro player, singled for his first major league hit ahead of Runnels' homer.

The Indians took the first game in a five-run fourth that beat Frank Sullivan (6-7). A two-run single by George Strickland gave them the lead and Jim Baxes' two run homer capped it. Gary Bell (10-9) was the winner, although walking nine.

Smith's home run gave the White Sox and Billy Pierce a 4-1 lead, but the Yankees scored twice in the ninth on two singles, an error and Don Larsen's pinch-hit sacrifice fly. Pierce (12-11) singled and scored for a 2-1 lead in the fifth on a single by Nellie Fox, who had three hits. Ralph Terry (3-8) lost it.

Southpaw Don Mossi (9-4) beat the Orioles with a three-hitter, giving up his lone walk ahead of Willie Tasby's first-inning home run. Tasby also drove in the other run, with a sixth-inning sacrifice fly. The Tigers, tying it in the first on Neil Chrisley's homer, beat Hoyt Wilhelm (10-7) with four in the third on four walks and two singles.

The A's bagged their 12th victory in 13 games with four runs in the first against Camilo Pascual (11-8), who walked the bases full with two out, then gave up a single by Kent Hadley and a double by Harry Chiti. Johnny Kucks (5-6), won his second in a row by allowing only five hits—four by Jim Lemon, who hit his 23rd home run in the second inning.

Gomes Is Selected 'Fighter Of Month'

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I., is named "Fighter of the Month" in the Ring magazine monthly ratings announced today.

Gomes came off the floor four times to win a decision over Paul Jorgensen of Port Arthur, Tex., in what was billed as a junior lightweight championship bout, and as a result was advanced from eighth to fourth in the featherweight rankings.

The heavyweight division saw minor shakeups. Henry Cooper of England was dropped from third to fifth because of inactivity, and Sonny Liston of Philadelphia and Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif., each advanced a notch to third and fourth, respectively. Machen's kayo of Reuben Vargas brought about his new rating.

Philadelphia Becoming "Giant Killers" Of National Loop

Phillies Trim Frisco's Lead To Half Game

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Philadelphia's failing Phillies suddenly are the flailing Phils, hip deep in the cellar but chilling the contenders in the National League pennant race.

They've won seven of their last eight games and 11 of their last 14, rolling up a 5-2 edge over San Francisco and Los Angeles in that two-week spurt.

Tuesday night they trimmed the Giants' hold on first place to a half-game with a 3-2 victory at San Francisco on an eighth-inning home run by Gene Freese and the four-hit pitching of Jim Owens.

The Dodgers reclaimed second place, whipping Pittsburgh 9-4 while the Milwaukee Braves, who had won five straight, slipped to third with a 5-4 loss to the Chicago Cubs. The Braves trail by 1½.

St. Louis blew a 4-0 lead and lost 6-4 to Cincinnati in the other NL game.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox took a half-game lead by beating New York 4-3, dumping the Yankees to fifth. Boston's last place Red Sox, warned to get a move on by owner Tom Yawkey, skidded Cleveland to second place by winning the second game of a twi-night doubleheader 8-4 after losing the opener 5-2. Kansas City made it nine in a row—longest streak in the majors this season—and took fourth place by beating Washington 6-1. Detroit rapped Baltimore 8-3.

Freese's 14th home run broke a 2-2 tie for the Phillies, and beat reliever Stu Miller (4-6), who has lost three in a row while the Giants have dropped six of their last nine games. Sam Jones, the Giants' starter, gave up a run in the third on two-walks and a two-out fly by Richie Ashburn that fell in front of a stumbling Willie Mays for an RBI double. Freese singled with two out and scored the second run in the fourth inning, forced home by three walks.

Both Giant runs scored on homers, Willie Kirkland's 17th, in the fifth inning for their first hit, and Orlando Cepeda's 20th. The only other hits of Owens (7-8) were an infield single by Jim Davenport in the sixth and a single by Kirkland in the seventh.

Wally Moon drove in four runs for the Dodgers, hammering his eighth homer and two-run double and breaking a 4-all tie with a sacrifice fly of losing reliever Ron Blackburn (1-1) in the fifth inning. Stan Williams (4-3) was the winner with six innings of four-hit shutout relief. The Pirates, who have lost eight in a row, built a 4-1 lead in two frames against Larry Sherry, scoring two unearned runs in the first and two more on starter Bennie Daniels' first home run in the second.

Right-hander Glen Hobbie, 6-0 against Milwaukee in his two-year career, beat the Braves a third time this season with the one-hit relief help of Bill Henry after the Cubs had cracked a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning. Singles by Bobby Thomson and George Altman and Jim Marshall's double did it, the only hits allowed by loser Carl Willey (4-6) in his 3 2-3 innings of relief. Tony Taylor homered in a two-run first against Juan Pizarro for the Cubs, who have taken four straight from the Braves and eight of 13 for the season.

The Reds, shut out on four hits for six innings by Ernie Broglio, tied the Cards in a four-run seventh, then won it in the eighth on a single by Roy McMillan, who had been out six weeks with a broken hand. Marshall Bridges (4-2) was the loser with ex-Card Jim Brosnan (4-5) the winner in relief.

Jay Hook, 22-year-old Cincinnati rookie, fanned 105 in 140 innings for Seattle this season and was recalled by the Reds.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

No matter where you go, no matter how much you enjoy it as you do the things you planned and regardless of the comfortable beds in the motels and hotels and all the services you get and pay for, you still do not have the privacy of your own home or the convenience or comfortable rest you get in the old bed to which you are accustomed.

STRANGE places, strange faces and strange noises disturb you to a certain extent until you stay in one place long enough to get accustomed to them.

I always understood Iowa was where the tall corn grows. Well, I didn't get a chance to see any of Iowa, but if they grow more corn in Iowa than they are now growing in Illinois then there is no wonder the market is flooded and the government is building more storage bins to store added surpluses while the taxpayers foot the bill.

With all this grain, I thought there would be lots of pheasants in the section of Illinois I visited.

In conversation with one of the locaal farmers, he told me he had raised pheasants and released them for the past several years. He said the state also always stocks the vicinity where he lives. But he claimed he could not see where they had one more pheasant, so he gave up the effort.

For a moment I thought I was talking with one of the farmers back home, since I have heard this story so often.

I WAS very much amused at an article that appeared in The Milwaukee Sentinal on July 19, written by Dave Duffey. It goes on to say: "Ten years ago hunters were complaining about complicated game regulations which made any man without a law degree or a cartographers knowledge of map-reading a sitting duck for a game warden.

"During that period of time, many promises have been made and much said about 'simplifying the regulations.' But sportsmen who look over this year's rules will find them more complicated than ever.

"The changes have not come about because conservation wardens want to run up astronomical arrest records. It's as difficult to enforce complicated laws as it is to obey them. Complications in game law regulations have coincided with the ascendency of the technically-trained game managers who juggle the seasons from year to year on the basis of sampling, surveys, psuedo-scientific studies and reports, along with the political atmosphere of the areas involved."

The way they have the seasons set up and split in Wisconsin, of course, is no concern of Ohio hunters, but when I read about the trouble that seems to exist there it makes my problems seem so simple, even with the split season on squirrels, etc., that we have coming up next hunting season.

Cleveland Lightweight In TV Match Tonight

The fight will be televised nationally as a replacement for a bout between Archie Moore and Yvo, Durelle. Postponement of the Moore-Durelle bout until Aug. 12 gave Boysaw the chance for the TV bout he's hoped for for two years.

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Early Thursday morning some 180 golfers who include the top professional talent in the United States will start play in the first round of the 41st Professional Golfers Assn. championship. The trick will be to get all of them through 18 holes before darkness sets in.

The PGA field is the largest in any major golf tournament. The first threesome will start at 8:30 a.m. (EDT) and the last isn't scheduled to leave the first tee until 2:51 p.m.

"Maybe we'll be lucky and get everybody through," said Cary Middlecoff, the two-time National Open champion whose name has become synonymous with slow play.

The 6,850-yard, par 35-35 — 70 Minneapolis Golf Club course has some watered, heavy rough near the fairways that can cause trouble for spray hitters. Anyone who gets into it off the tee likely will have trouble reaching the green with his second shot.

Even so, the time problem remains a big one. With a minimum of $30,000 in prize money at stake, the pros won't hurry their shots.

Bob Rosburg is one of about a dozen players rated among the favorites in the four-day, 72-hole tournament, the second PGA to be decided by stroke play. Dow Finsterwald, who won the title last year, hasn't been playing too well since he lost to Art Wall in a playoff at Flint, Mich., three weeks ago.

Wall, Gene Littler, Open champion Bill Casper and Sammy Snead, a three-time PGA champion, were among the players drawing strong support.

Giants' Stock Shows Increase Since Moving

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Value of the Giants baseball club stock has more than quadrupled since the team switched from New York to San Francisco.

The investment firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith reports the stock units of the National Exhibition Co., corporate name of the National League Giants, "have soared to $840 from a paltry $175" in 1957 when the club moved west.

It's noted, however, that very few of the stock units can be found for sale since Club President Horace Stoneham and members of his family own about 80 per cent.

The investment firm says there are about 11,750 units outstanding, consisting of one preferred and one common share each. So their value would have soared from $2,057,000 in 1957 to $9,870,000 today.

On Jan. 8, the Giants paid a $20 dividend on each unit share when the bid prices was $330 on over-the-counter transactions.

Not all the profit goes into stock valuation. The Chamber of Commerce has credited the team with a 75 million dollar priming of the bay region's economy last year.

Even more can be expected this year as the front running drive of Manager Bill Rigney's club has boosted home attendance figures.

Philadelphia Becoming "Giant Killers" Of National Loop

Phillies Trim Frisco's Lead To Half Game

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Philadelphia's failing Phillies suddenly are the flailing Phils, hip deep in the cellar but chilling the contenders in the National League pennant race.

They've won seven of their last eight games and 11 of their last 14, rolling up a 5-2 edge over San Francisco and Los Angeles in that two-week spurt.

Tuesday night they trimmed the Giants' hold on first place to a half-game with a 3-2 victory at San Francisco on an eighth-inning home run by Gene Freese and the four-hit pitching of Jim Owens.

The Dodgers reclaimed second place, whipping Pittsburgh 9-4 while the Milwaukee Braves, who had won five straight, slipped to third with a 5-4 loss to the Chicago Cubs. The Braves trail by 1½.

St. Louis blew a 4-0 lead and lost 6-4 to Cincinnati in the other NL game.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox took a half-game lead by beating New York 4-3, dumping the Yankees to fifth. Boston's last place Red Sox, warned to get a move on by owner Tom Yawkey, skidded Cleveland to second place by winning the second game of a twi-night double-header 8-4 after losing the opener 5-2. Kansas City made it nine in a row—longest streak in the majors this season—and took fourth place by beating Washington 6-1. Detroit rapped Baltimore 8-3.

Freese's 14th home run broke a 2-2 tie for the Phillies, and beat reliever Stu Miller (4-6), who has lost three in a row while the Giants have dropped six of their last nine games. Sam Jones, the Giants' starter, gave up a run in the third on two-walks and a two-out fly by Richie Ashburn that fell in front of a stumbling Willie Mays for an RBI double. Freese singled with two out and scored the second run in the fourth inning, forced home by three walks.

Both Giant runs scored on homers, Willie Kirkland's 17th, in the fifth inning for their first hit, and Orlando Cepeda's 20th. The only other hits of Owens (7-8) were an infield single by Jim Davenport in the sixth and a single by Kirkland in the seventh.

Wally Moon drove in four runs for the Dodgers, hammering his eighth homer and two-run double and breaking a 4-all tie with a sacrifice fly of losing reliever Ron Blackburn (1-1) in the fifth inning. Stan Williams (4-3) was the winner with six innings of four-hit shutout relief. The Pirates, who have lost eight in a row, built a 4-1 lead in two frames against Larry Sherry, scoring two unearned runs in the first and two more on starter Bennie Daniels' first home run in the second.

Right-hander Glen Hobbie, 6-0 against Milwaukee in his two-year career, beat the Braves a third time this season with the one-hit relief help of Bill Henry after the Cubs had cracked a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning. Singles by Bobby Thomson and George Altman and Jim Marshall's double did it, the only hits allowed by loser Carl Willey (4-6) in his 3 2-3 innings of relief. Tony Taylor homered in a two-run first against Juan Pizarro for the Cubs, who have taken four straight from the Braves and eight of 13 for the season.

The Reds, shut out on four hits for six innings by Ernie Broglio, tied the Cards in a four-run seventh, then won it in the eighth on a single by Roy McMillan, who had been out six weeks with a broken hand. Marshall Bridges (4-2) was the loser with ex-Card Jim Brosnan (4-5) the winner in relief.

Jay Hook, 22-year-old Cincinnati rookie, fanned 105 in 140 innings for Seattle this season and was recalled by the Reds.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

I never realized how true are the words "there's no place like home" until I returned Monday from a brief vacation.

No matter where you go, no matter how much you enjoy it as you do the things you planned and regardless of the comfortable beds in the motels and hotels and all the services you get and pay for, you still do not have the privacy of your own home or the convenience or comfortable rest you get in the old bed to which you are accustomed.

STRANGE places, strange faces and strange noises disturb you to a certain extent until you stay in one place long enough to get accustomed to them.

I always understood Iowa was where the tall corn grows. Well, I didn't get a chance to see any of Iowa, but if they grow more corn in Iowa than they are now growing in Illinois then there is no wonder the market is flooded and the government is building more storage bins to store added surpluses while the taxpayers foot the bill.

With all this grain, I thought there would be lots of pheasants in the section of Illinois I visited.

In conversation with one of the locaal farmers, he told me he had raised pheasants and released them for the past several years. He said the state also always stocks the vicinity where he lives. But he claimed he could not see where they had one more pheasant, so he gave up the effort.

For a moment I thought I was talking with one of the farmers back home, since I have heard this story so often.

I WAS very much amused at an article that appeared in The Milwaukee Sentinal on July 19, written by Dave Duffey. It goes on to say: "Ten years ago hunters were complaining about complicated game regulations which made any man without a law degree or a cartographers knowledge of map-reading a sitting duck for a game warden.

"During that period of time, many promises have been made and much said about 'simplifying the regulations.' But sportsmen who look over this year's rules will find them more complicated than ever.

"The changes have not come about because conservation wardens want to run up astronomical arrest records. It's as difficult to enforce complicated laws as it is to obey them. Complications in game law regulations have coincided with the ascendency of the technically-trained game managers who juggle the seasons from year to year on the basis of sampling, surveys, psuedo-scientific studies and reports, along with the political atmosphere of the areas involved."

The way they have the seasons set up and split in Wisconsin, of course, is no concern of Ohio hunters, but when I read about the trouble that seems to exist there it makes my problems seem so simple, even with the split season on squirrels, etc., that we have coming up next hunting season.

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Early Thursday morning some 180 golfers who include the top professional talent in the United States will start play in the first round of the 41st Professional Golfers Assn. championship. The trick will be to get all of them through 18 holes before darkness sets in.

The PGA field is the largest in any major golf tournament. The first threesome will start at 8:30 a.m. (EDT) and the last isn't scheduled to leave the first tee until 2:51 p.m.

"Maybe we'll be lucky and get everybody through," said Cary Middlecoff, the two-time National Open champion whose name has become synonymous with slow play.

The 6,850-yard, par 35-35 — 70 Minneapolis Golf Club course has some watered, heavy rough near the fairways that can cause trouble for spray hitters. Anyone who gets into it off the tee likely will have trouble reaching the green with his second shot.

Even so, the time problem remains a big one. With a minimum of $30,000 in prize money at stake, the pros won't hurry their shots.

Bob Rosburg is one of about a dozen players rated among the favorites in the four-day, 72-hole tournament, the second PGA to be decided by stroke play. Dow Finsterwald, who won the title last year, hasn't been playing too well since he lost to Art Wall in a playoff at Flint, Mich., three weeks ago.

Cleveland Lightweight In TV Match Tonight

The fight will be televised nationally as a replacement for a bout between Archie Moore and Yvo, Durelle. Postponement of the Moore-Durelle bout until Aug. 12 gave Boysaw the chance for the TV bout he's hoped for for two years.

The 26-year-old Clevelander is expected to have a weight advantage of about five pounds over Elorde, No. 3 ranked featherweight contender.

'Eddie Arcaro Day' Set Thursday At Waterford

Waterford Park will celebrate "Eddie Arcaro Day" when the nation's leading jockey dons the silks for at least three or four races Thursday at the one-mile oval.

Arcaro will be honored at a dinner for members of the press and Waterford Park officials tonight at the Park Schenley Restaurant in Pittsburgh. He is flying to Pittsburgh from New York.

Admission to Waterford Park will be free Thursday, Horace Wade, director, announced.

Merecido equaled a track mark of 1:22 3-5 over seven furlongs on turf in the sixth race. The record was set July 17 by Osage Chief.

Cubs Are Flexing Their Muscles In Pennant Scramble

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Chicago Cubs are flexing their muscles in the National League pennant race. And the Milwaukee Braves are chief victims of the surprising kayo punch.

The Cubs laughed at Milwaukee's vaunted pitching talent again Tuesday night in defeating the Braves 5-4 for their eighth victory in 13 games against the defending NL champs.

"It isn't just the Braves, we've been playing pretty good ball," said Cubs Manager Bob Scheffing. "We're not far back and we can go all the way if we keep playing this way."

The Cubs are in fourth place, three games behind the Braves and 4½ behind San Francisco, the leaders.

Chicago came to town after splitting two games with Los Angeles and winning two of three from first place San Francisco. Milwaukee had a five-game winning streak, but it didn't impress the Cubs.

The West Side Tennis Club in Forest Hills, N. Y., scene of the national championships each year, was built in 1923.

Buffalo Continues Pace In International

By The Associated Press

Chris Short (10-4), with relief help from Max Surkont and a four-run seventh inning pushed Columbus down to a sixth place tie with Toronto.

'Eddie Arcaro Day' Set Thursday At Waterford

Waterford Park will celebrate "Eddie Arcaro Day" when the nation's leading jockey dons the silks for at least three or four races Thursday at the one-mile oval.

Arcaro will be honored at a dinner for members of the press and Waterford Park officials tonight at the Park Schenley Restaurant in Pittsburgh. He is flying to Pittsburgh from New York.

Admission to Waterford Park will be free Thursday, Horace Wade, director, announced.

Tuesday, Jockey Nick Fernicola returning from a 10-day suspension, booted home Vince Taloria in the first race and combined with Devastator paid a $25.60 daily double. The winning numbers were 7-7.

Vince Taloria paid $5.80, $3.60 and $3.20 while Devastator, ridden by Ray Belanger, returned $6.20, $3.80 and $3.

Merecido equaled a track mark of 1:22 3-5 over seven furlongs on turf in the sixth race. The record was set July 17 by Osage Chief.

Cubs Are Flexing Their Muscles In Pennant Scramble

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Chicago Cubs are flexing their muscles in the National League pennant race. And the Milwaukee Braves are chief victims of the surprising kayo punch.

The Cubs laughed at Milwaukee's vaunted pitching talent again Tuesday night in defeating the Braves 5-4 for their eighth victory in 13 games against the defending NL champs.

"It isn't just the Braves, we've been playing pretty good ball," said Cubs Manager Bob Scheffing. "We're not far back and we can go all the way if we keep playing this way."

The Cubs are in fourth place, three games behind the Braves and 4½ behind San Francisco, the leaders.

Chicago came to town after splitting two games with Los Angeles and winning two of three from first place San Francisco. Milwaukee had a five-game winning streak, but it didn't impress the Cubs.

Buffalo Continues Pace In International

By The Associated Press

That shooting excitement in Havana last weekend didn't change the course of the International League race, despite its commotion.

Havana lost to Montreal 12-4 while third-place Richmond knocked over Rochester 6-2. Toronto defeated Miami 15-8.

Chris Short (10-4), with relief help from Max Surkont and a four-run seventh inning pushed Columbus down to a sixth place tie with Toronto.

COLUMBIANA — Further plans for the rearrangement of Production operations of the F. C. Russell Co., including recent removal of some facilities to a Rusco plant near Lima, were to be outlined at a meeting of stockholders this afternoon.

The new operation change of the firm, which produces storm windows, doors and curtain walls, is to be completed by Saturday, according to Victor B. Casey, general manager.

Casey said the program will change the nature of the basic operation at the Columbiana plant from fabrication to processing.

Because of the high wage rate in effect in this area, Casey said, the only items which can be effectively utilized here or those of high material cost by little labor, although highly skilled labor.

Fabrication operations, using unskilled or semi-skilled workers, such as in assembling or glazing, will be more efficiently conducted in areas with lower wage scales, he said.

While some of the work force here has already been cut to some extent, certain employes will be brought back as new operations develop.

75 Attend Anniversary Of Masonic Lodge 180

About 75 attended a Wellsville Masonic Lodge 180 program Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple, marking the 110th anniversary of the lodge.

Charles J. Russell, oldest living past worshipful master, was in charge of a reminiscence program. The committee included Russell, Wayne Hamilton, George Wilson and Harold Miller.

Senate Okays Radio-TV Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, brimming with potential candidates, has moved to erase a threatened radio and television news blackout of next year's presidential campaign.

By voice vote Tuesday, senators passed a bill that would exempt most news shows from the law's requirement that they make equal time available to all candidates for public office.

Until this year the requirement had been applied only to campaign advertising and political speeches, whether paid or free. A ruling by the Federal Communications Commission extended it to other types of programs, although not to mere mention of a candidate's name in a broadcast.

The measure now goes to the House, where another bill on equal time is awaiting clearance from the Rules Committee.

Before passing the bill, the Senate accepted an amendment that kept panel discussions, like NBC's "Meet the Press" and CBS' "Face the Nation," under the equal time requirement.

Exempted were all newscasts, news interviews, documentaries and spot news coverage. But the bill would require that despite the exemption, stations and networks must attempt to present all sides of political contests fairly.

Health Levy Gets Council Backing

LISBON — The Columbiana County Health and Safety Council Tuesday night endorsed a proposed two-tenths mill levy for the County Health Department to be on the Nov. 3 election ballot.

About 20 attended the quarterly session of the council at which Mrs. Sybil Degnan of Leetonia R. D. 2 was elected secretary, replacing F. N. Bezdek of Lisbon R. D. 5, who resigned.

Mrs. Jane Jolly of East Liverpool reported on plans for a health exhibit at the County Fair. Her committee will meet Aug. 10 to complete plans for the exhibit.

Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers reported on health measures enacted by the General Assembly, and Dr. C. S. Palmer, health commissioner, reviewed operations and plans of the health department.

A special meeting is to be held in September at the County Home with the date to be selected later. The next regular meeting will be Oct. 27.

In Ohio Assembly Meeting Just Closed

It Was A Mixture Of Many Things That Made Session Long, Rough

What made the recent session of the 103rd Ohio General Assembly the long and arduous experience that it was? What were the elements that ignited controversy, the factors and the issues which at times even crossed party lines? In a series of three articles, of which this is the first, Duane E. Croft, The Review's legislative correspondent, puts the session in perspective and points up the underlying causes behind this abnormal political tug-of-war.

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The regular session of the 103rd Ohio General Assembly is all over but the formalities of closing up shop.

Like and legislative session, it often looked like little more than one long, raging controversy.

But there is one thing on which all the members of the 103rd would agree: It was just about the toughest and roughest session anyone could remember.

Concurring with the legislators in that opinion are the newsmen who cover the sessions, the secretaries and other employes who work "behind the scenes" to keep the Legislature running, and the lobbyists who swarm upon the Statehouse every two years to promote their special interests.

WHY HAS IT been a tough session?

Not alone because of its length. Others have dragged out much later in the summer, and one memorable meeting in the depression-torn 1930s lasted almost the entire two years of the legislators' terms.

Not alone because of controversy. No legislative session is worthy of that name without vehement disagreement on a variety of proposals.

Not alone because of the far-reaching importance of the matters it was called upon to decide. Every assembly faces its share of "the most pressing problems of the day," to quote a phrase well worn in floor debate.

Not alone because the Democrats were in charge, although that party traditionally suffers more from "family squabbles" than its Republican opposition.

THE REASON for the 103rd's reputation is rather a combination of all those things.

It was a long session not only in months, but also in hours. Many a legislative day started with committee meetings at 10 a.m. and closed with more committee meetings in the wee hours of the following morning.

It had its Democratic "family squabbles," notably in the Senate, where the underlying heat of the DiSalle - Miller, Toledo - Cleveland battle for party control most often erupted to the surface.

It had its share — and then some — of the controversial, important issues.

And at that point the name of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle inevitably must enter the discussion.

For Mike DiSalle is a man with an aggressive imagination and a reputation for administrative genius who has spent most of his life in public service on the local and national levels.

ELECTED to the governor's office in a sweep that gave his party control of the Legislature for the first time in a decade, he handed that Legislature a program of action so broad that it could have occupied the time and energies of perhaps three so-called "normal" sessions.

First there was the tax program, which was introduced totaling 443 million dollars and came out totaling about 317 millions.

It was the first major tax boost in Ohio for nearly 20 years and everyone, including the Republicans who ran the 102nd General Assembly in 1957, knew it was coming.

As long as he had to do it, Mike DiSalle figured he might as well make it good. He wanted to put the highway construction program on a pay-as-you-go basis while paying off 1953's 500-million-dollar bond issue.

He also wanted to provide a "cushion" in general funds above actual current needs to avoid having to ask for still more during his four-year term.

BUT SUCH fiscal and political logic didn't make it any easier to get the hike through the Legislature.

Republicans did not argue with the basic need for more revenue, but they charged repeatedly that the governor was asking too much.

Democrats, in the driver's seat for the first time in 10 years and anxious to stay there, were sensitive to the reaction back home, since all the representatives and many of the senators have to face the voters next year.

Under those circumstances, the tax program alone burned up a sizable portion of the 103rd's time and energy — and patience.

THIS INCLUDED setting up a new Department of Industrial and Economic Development, a new personnel department, an enlarged Pardon and Parole Commission, an enlarged Racing Commission, a new public utilities department to replace the present commission and sharply revising the division of powers between the Department and the Board of Liquor Control. These separate proposals were crowned with the general reorganization bill, which would have adopted the Hoover-inspired federal system of allowing the executive to draw up and submit to the legislative branch plans for administrative revision.

If they were not rejected by the legislators within a certain period of time they would go into effect automatically. It was a sort of veto-in-reverse plan.

Here again was a program of such sweeping significance that it could easily have been the major item of business for a "normal" session.

ALL THINGS considered, the governor did well with it. The general reorganization bill and the public utilities shift got lost in the shuffle and the liquor department revision was sharply watered down. The rest of the proposals made the grade.

Add to those two major programs such controversial requests as changes in the utility rate base formula, abolition of capital punishment, control of unethical practicies in labor-management relations, criminal conspiracy and conflict of interest laws and return of the poor relief program to local government and you have a giant-sized bit for any legislative body to chew.

And in that light, the wonder is not that the 103rd had a long, rough session, but that it got through as quickly and as easily as it did.

Sugar Due To Accept $150.000 Fight Offer

BOSTON (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson is expected to accept a $150,000 offer to fight Paul Pender here Sept. 25, promoter Sam Silverman said Tuesday night.

Silverman says that after talking to Robinson and his manager, George Gainford, in New York for two days, the match probably will be made by Monday.

Rosensohn Sees OK On Return Title Bout

The promoter held a news conference before he left by plane for Copenhagen on the first leg of his return voyage.

As for the heavyweight champ's future, if he beats Patterson again, Rosensohn said nothing has been settled.

In Ohio Assembly Meeting Just Closed

It Was A Mixture Of Many Things That Made Session Long, Rough

What made the recent session of the 103rd Ohio General Assembly the long and arduous experience that it was? What were the elements that ignited controversy, the factors and the issues which at times even crossed party lines? In a series of three articles, of which this is the first, Duane E. Croft, The Review's legislative correspondent, puts the session in perspective and points up the underlying causes behind this abnormal political tug-of-war.

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The regular session of the 103rd Ohio General Assembly is all over but the formalities of closing up shop.

Like and legislative session, it often looked like little more than one long, raging controversy.

But there is one thing on which all the members of the 103rd would agree: It was just about the toughest and roughest session anyone could remember.

Concurring with the legislators in that opinion are the newsmen who cover the sessions, the secretaries and other employes who work "behind the scenes" to keep the Legislature running, and the lobbyists who swarm upon the Statehouse every two years to promote their special interests.

WHY HAS IT been a tough session?

Not alone because of its length. Others have dragged out much later in the summer, and one memorable meeting in the depression-torn 1930s lasted almost the entire two years of the legislators' terms.

Not alone because of controversy. No legislative session is worthy of that name without vehement disagreement on a variety of proposals.

Not alone because of the far-reaching importance of the matters it was called upon to decide. Every assembly faces its share of "the most pressing problems of the day," to quote a phrase well worn in floor debate.

Not alone because the Democrats were in charge, although that party traditionally suffers more from "family squabbles" than its Republican opposition.

THE REASON for the 103rd's reputation is rather a combination of all those things.

It was a long session not only in months, but also in hours. Many a legislative day started with committee meetings at 10 a.m. and closed with more committee meetings in the wee hours of the following morning.

It had its Democratic "family squabbles," notably in the Senate, where the underlying heat of the DiSalle - Miller, Toledo - Cleveland battle for party control most often erupted to the surface.

It had its share — and then some — of the controversial, important issues.

And at that point the name of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle inevitably must enter the discussion.

For Mike DiSalle is a man with an aggressive imagination and a reputation for administrative genius who has spent most of his life in public service on the local and national levels.

ELECTED to the governor's office in a sweep that gave his party control of the Legislature for the first time in a decade, he handed that Legislature a program of action so broad that it could have occupied the time and energies of perhaps three so-called "normal" sessions.

First there was the tax program, which was introduced totaling 443 million dollars and came out totaling about 317 millions.

It was the first major tax boost in Ohio for nearly 20 years and everyone, including the Republicans who ran the 102nd General Assembly in 1957, knew it was coming.

As long as he had to do it, Mike DiSalle figured he might as well make it good. He wanted to put the highway construction program on a pay-as-you-go basis while paying off 1953's 500-million-dollar bond issue.

He also wanted to provide a "cushion" in general funds above actual current needs to avoid having to ask for still more during his four-year term.

BUT SUCH fiscal and political logic didn't make it any easier to get the hike through the Legislature.

Republicans did not argue with the basic need for more revenue, but they charged repeatedly that the governor was asking too much.

Democrats, in the driver's seat for the first time in 10 years and anxious to stay there, were sensitive to the reaction back home, since all the representatives and many of the senators have to face the voters next year.

Under those circumstances, the tax program alone burned up a sizable portion of the 103rd's time and energy — and patience.

But on top of that was the DiSalle program for administrative reorganization of state government.

THIS INCLUDED setting up a new Department of Industrial and Economic Development, a new personnel department, an enlarged Pardon and Parole Commission, an enlarged Racing Commission, a new public utilities department to replace the present commission and sharply revising the division of powers between the Department and the Board of Liquor Control. These separate proposals were crowned with the general reorganization bill, which would have adopted the Hoover-inspired federal system of allowing the executive to draw up and submit to the legislative branch plans for administrative revision.

If they were not rejected by the legislators within a certain period of time they would go into effect automatically. It was a sort of veto-in-reverse plan.

Here again was a program of such sweeping significance that it could easily have been the major item of business for a "normal" session.

ALL THINGS considered, the governor did well with it. The general reorganization bill and the public utilities shift got lost in the shuffle and the liquor department revision was sharply watered down. The rest of the proposals made the grade.

Add to those two major programs such controversial requests as changes in the utility rate base formula, abolition of capital punishment, control of unethical practicies in labor-management relations, criminal conspiracy and conflict of interest laws and return of the poor relief program to local government and you have a giant-sized bit for any legislative body to chew.

That is undoubtedly one of the reasons that last group of measures all failed.

And in that light, the wonder is not that the 103rd had a long, rough session, but that it got through as quickly and as easily as it did.

House Group Calls Raborn About Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rear Adm. William F. Raborn, chief of the Navy's Polaris missile program, was called by the House Space Committee today to explain recent test failures in the rocket.

"We know the Polaris still is in the embryonic state," Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La) told a reporter, "but there appear to have been some delays and we would like to learn why."

Navy officials deny suggestions that there has been any delay in development of the Polaris, a solid - fueled missile designed for launching from submarines whether surfaced or submerged.

Original plans, they say, called for having the Polaris ready for combat fleet duty by 1965. But, they add, at the request of the Defense Department that target date has been cut to late 1960 by sacrificing some of the missile's range.

Ex-Steubenville Judge Nominated For District Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former Steubenville common pleas court judge has been nominated by President Eisenhower to become a U.S. District Court judge for Southern Ohio.

Carl A. Weinman, 56, will fill a vacancy caused by the elevation of Judge Lester L. Cecil to the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Weinman's appointment Tuesday is subject to Senate confirmation. He is a Republican and served as judge of the Jefferson County Court of Common Pleas from 1936 to 1949. Since 1949 he has been in private practice.

Weinman is a former Ohio governor of Kiwanis International, a service club. He is a University of Michigan graduate. He and Mrs. Weinman have a son and daughter.

On several occasions, he was an unsuccessful candidate for the Seventh District Court of Appeals in Ohio.

Ralston Heads Probe Of Stark Gambling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Joseph Ralston, an assistant attorney general, will take charge of arrangements temporarily in a Stark County gambling probe, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy said Tuesday.

He also named Frank Szalay, of Cleveland, McElroy's chief investigator, to aid Ralston.

Ralston and Szalay will gather and review evidence and other material prior to asking for a special grand jury.

McElroy will direct the investigation of gambling and vice conditions that Stark County Prosecutor Norman J. Putman says are tied to a national syndicate. McElroy acted on the special request of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Coast Guard Finds No Clue To Fate Of 2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Coast Guard was towing the Seattle fishing boat Ample II here today with no clue to the fate of her owner and his one-man crew.

The 50 - foot craft was found circling aimlessly in rough seas Tuesday 140 miles west of Monterey, her nets set and her engine driving her at four knots. No one was aboard.

The Coast Guard said her master was A.G. Grasdahl and his crewman was Fren Andersen, both of Seattle.

House Group Calls Raborn About Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rear Adm. William F. Raborn, chief of the Navy's Polaris missile program, was called by the House Space Committee today to explain recent test failures in the rocket.

"We know the Polaris still is in the embryonic state," Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La) told a reporter, "but there appear to have been some delays and we would like to learn why."

Raborn is director of the Navy's Special Projects Office which oversees developments of the fleet ballistic missiles weapons system.

Navy officials deny suggestions that there has been any delay in development of the Polaris, a solid - fueled missile designed for launching from submarines whether surfaced or submerged.

Original plans, they say, called for having the Polaris ready for combat fleet duty by 1965. But, they add, at the request of the Defense Department that target date has been cut to late 1960 by sacrificing some of the missile's range.

Ex-Steubenville Judge Nominated For District Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former Steubenville common pleas court judge has been nominated by President Eisenhower to become a U.S. District Court judge for Southern Ohio.

Carl A. Weinman, 56, will fill a vacancy caused by the elevation of Judge Lester L. Cecil to the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Weinman's appointment Tuesday is subject to Senate confirmation. He is a Republican and served as judge of the Jefferson County Court of Common Pleas from 1936 to 1949. Since 1949 he has been in private practice.

Weinman is a former Ohio governor of Kiwanis International, a service club. He is a University of Michigan graduate. He and Mrs. Weinman have a son and daughter.

On several occasions, he was an unsuccessful candidate for the Seventh District Court of Appeals in Ohio.

Ralston Heads Probe Of Stark Gambling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Joseph Ralston, an assistant attorney general, will take charge of arrangements temporarily in a Stark County gambling probe, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy said Tuesday.

He also named Frank Szalay, of Cleveland, McElroy's chief investigator, to aid Ralston.

Ralston and Szalay will gather and review evidence and other material prior to asking for a special grand jury.

McElroy will direct the investigation of gambling and vice conditions that Stark County Prosecutor Norman J. Putman says are tied to a national syndicate. McElroy acted on the special request of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Coast Guard Finds No Clue To Fate Of 2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Coast Guard was towing the Seattle fishing boat Ample II here today with no clue to the fate of her owner and his one-man crew.

The 50 - foot craft was found circling aimlessly in rough seas Tuesday 140 miles west of Monterey, her nets set and her engine driving her at four knots. No one was aboard.

The Coast Guard said her master was A.G. Grasdahl and his crewman was Fren Andersen, both of Seattle.

The derelict was discovered shortly after noon by another fishing boat.

NIGHT AUCTION SALE

Friday, August 7, 1959

7:00 P. M. E. S. T.

100 Head Registered Canadian Holstein Dairy Cows and First Calf Heifers. There will also be a few outstanding grades. These cows and heifers are just fresh or very close springers.

These cattle have been personally selected by me from some of the very best herds of Canada. Many have records up to 18,000 pounds milk 660 pounds fat. There will be 40 of the right kind of vaccinated heifers.

You cannot afford to miss this sale if you need dairy cows. They are large type and heavy producers. We have some calves from these cows.

REMEMBER, every cow and calf is sold as represented with a money back guarantee. Why not buy where you know you will get a square deal. ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR.

Delivery will be made without cost to you. These cattle are young and healthy. They have been T. B., Bangs and Mastitis tested within 30 days of the sale. We invite you to come and look them over and watch them milk before sale time.

The sale will be held in a comfortable building with good lights, located 2½ miles south of Medina, Ohio on State Route 162, one mile west of Route 3, or 2 miles east of Lafayette and Route 42 on 162.

Lunch will be served by church ladies.

A practically new 4 room National home on South Surry Rd. in Fisher Park. This is one of the nicest 2 bedroom homes of its kind. The 4 large rooms make it ideal for a small family or an older couple. There is no sewer assessment to pay, plenty of city water, a nice level lot 50 x 120. Last winters heat bill was $13. The owner wants to move fast so lets look at it today for $9,900

On the edge of downtown we have a 3 bedroom, 2 story, remodeled home at a workingman's price of $7500. Speaking of working, the owners have done lots of it in this home. The interior is new from the top to the bottom, and we are sure it will please you.

44-A AUCTION SALE

E. T. BOWERS
NIGHT AUCTION SALE
Friday, August 7, 1959
7:00 P. M. E. S. T.

100 Head Registered Canadian Holstein Dairy Cows and First Calf Heifers. There will also be a few outstanding grades. These cows and heifers are just fresh or very close springers.

These cattle have been personally selected by me from some of the very best herds of Canada. Many have records up to 18,000 pounds milk 660 pounds fat. There will be 40 of the right kind of vaccinated heifers.

You cannot afford to miss this sale if you need dairy cows. They are large type and heavy producers. We have some calves from these cows.

REMEMBER, every cow and calf is sold as represented with a money back guarantee. Why not buy where you know you will get a square deal. ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR.

Delivery will be made without cost to you. These cattle are young and healthy. They have been T. B., Bangs and Mastitis tested within 30 days of the sale. We invite you to come and look them over and watch them milk before sale time.

The sale will be held in a comfortable building with good lights, located 2½ miles south of Medina, Ohio on State Route 162, one mile west of Route 3, or 2 miles east of Lafayette and Route 42 on 162.

Lunch will be served by church ladies.

Mrs. America Of 1959 Is Typical Homemaker

By Assoc. Press Newsfeature

Mrs. Clarke Priebe of Des Moines, Iowa, who recently won the Mrs. America crown at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., lives in a 12-year-old typical story and a half Middle West brick home.

It has three bedrooms and two baths but is a tight fit for Mr. and Mrs. Priebe and children Margie, 14, Gregory, 9, Doug, 7, and Karen Jane, 3½.

"We're near the park and swimming pool," Mrs. Priebe says, "within walking distance of elementary and junior high schools and there's even a lake nearby where the children can go fishing. The bus line is around the corner."

"Mahogany shows the slightest speck of dust," the blue - eyed black-haired homemaker explained.

Mrs. Priebe has no maid. The older children make their own beds and help with other housework. Big sister Margie is the family baby sitter and can cook a meal as well as her mother. Margie is good at sewing, too, a task her mother dislikes.

The three younger children must be in bed by 8:30 p. m. — regardless of television temptations.

Margie, a ninth grader, hasn't had a date yet. Her parents and those of her friends have agreed that supervised parties are to be the rule for the time being with no pairing off in couples.

The Priebes had been considering a kitchen remodeling project but now are glad they didn't undertake it. One of Mrs. America's prizes was a complete new kitchen.

4th Degree Kaycees Set Annual Picnic Aug. 23

The Eastern Ohio District of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus today set Aug. 23 for its annual picnic for members and families. Nearly 1,000 are expected to attend.
